POISON IS FOUND.

Arrests in Swope Case Expected.

Experts Finish Examination and Send Secret Word to Kansas City.

Mystery in Death of Millionaire and Nephew Believed Near Solution.

Plot to Exterminate Family by Typhoid Inoculation Is Suspected.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Clearly indicating that poison had been found in the stomachs of Col. Thomas H. Swope, multimillionaire philanthropist of Kansas City, and his nephew, Chrisman Swope, and foreshadowing arrests to be made within twenty-four hours, a cipher message was sent today to Attorney John G. Paxton at Kansas City by Dr. Ludwig Hektoen immediately upon the completion of the exhaustive analysis made by Dr. Hektoen, Dr. Walter Haines and Dr. Victor C. Vaughan.

Before returning to Kansas City last week, Mr. Paxton, executor of the Swope estate, agreed with Dr. Hektoen upon a code that was to be used in sending messages in the event evidence of murder was found in the stomachs of Col. Swope and his nephew.

The code word to be used in the event of the discovery of poison was "positive," and that was the word put on the wire today. The precaution was taken to prevent a "leak" and a warning to the suspect.

Aside from admitting completion of the work, Dr. Hektoen and Dr. Haines refused to say anything regarding the mysterious case. Neither would affirm or deny the finding of sufficient poison to substantiate the murder charge.

The experts completed their examination at noon. They spent no time in consultation after they had finished, but immediately dispatched the telegram to Mr. Paxton. Apparently there existed no uncertainty regarding the discoveries.

TO ASK FOR WARRANTS.

It is expected that Mr. Paxton will arrive in Chicago tomorrow, receive the official report of the experts and then telegraph Prosecutor Virgil Conkling at Kansas City to procure warrants for arrests.

In this connection further substantiation of the discovery of poison was received from Prosecutor Conkling at Kansas City. "After his assistants had consulted with Mr. Paxton, Mr. Conkling said that he expected to receive a copy of the official report of the physicians tomorrow. He would have little

KISS IN COURT INCURS FINE.

Judge Resents Youthful Delinquent's Adding Flippancy to Serious Offense.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An additional fine of $25, making a total of $125, was imposed on William Barry, 19 years old, No. 119 South Morgan street, by Municipal Judge Newcomer this afternoon, because he had kissed Carrie Voth, 15 years old, No. 1314 West Fourteenth Place, while they were before the judge's bench in the Desplaines-street court.

Barry, together with Frank Dorsey, 18 years old, was arraigned before the court on charges of contributing to the delinquency of children. When the court imposed the fines Barry leaned over and kissed the Voth girl in the presence of the judge and spectators.

"I cannot stand for this," said Judge Newcomer, hotly. "You are fined $25 more for such an act before this bench. Your fine altogether is $125."

Barry hung his head and made no reply.

MANY THRILLING RESCUES IN PARIS.

Desperate Efforts to Save Those Driven Out by Floods Are Rewarded. River Stationary Early This Morning and Tributaries Are Falling.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Saturday, Jan. 29.—It was officially stated at 1 o'clock this morning that the River Seine was stationary, and that its tributaries continued to fall. The situation greatly improved between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. This, in part, is attributed to the change in the weather, which suddenly cleared. The temperature also dropped, and the wind veered to the eastward. Officials are convinced that the end is in sight, and that the water will begin to recede today. Late last night a crowd attacked two stores in the Temple district, owners of which were demanding high prices for food.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—An agonizing cry goes up from the people of Paris tonight:

"Will the end never come?"

After a slow, but steady rise of the flood water all day, the fluvial departmentat midnight could only issue a statement in answer saying that it was probable the crest of the flood would be reached tomorrow.

The water has begun to fall in all of the tributaries of the Seine above Paris, but the passage through the city is clogged by bridges and an immense accumulation of drift.

WEIRD SPECTACLE.

Tonight the city presents a weird spectacle. Soldiers, sailors, firemen and police are hastily constructing temporary walls by the light of camp fires and torches, in another endeavor to keep out the invading floods, while pickets patrol those sections of the city that are plunged in darkness.

The situation in the Place de l'Opera tonight is serious. The entire territory has been roped off as being unsafe. It is stated also that the new Equitable Life Assurance building is in danger of collapse.

President Falliéres and Premier Briand today drove in automobiles to flooded suburbs, where distress is greatest, speaking words of comfort to the homeless, and encouraging soldiers and others engaged in salvage and rescue work.

CARE FOR REFUGEES.

Charitable organizations are cooperating with the authorities in throwing open their buildings and in succoring refugees. Several convents and a number of public buildings have been equipped with military cots and bedding, and transformed into hospitals. The Red Cross is performing splendid service in distributing food and clothing.

Nevertheless, numerous instances are cited of women and children who had refused to leave their homes in the submerged districts, shrieking from windows for bread.

The number of refugees arriving here is enormous, Charento alone sending in 28,000 who had got there from Calais and other afflicted points.

THRILLING RESCUES.

Many thrilling rescues are recorded. The family of M. Barthou, former Minister of Public Works, whose home in the Avenue d'Antun, is surrounded, was taken out on the backs of soldiers and in boats.

A large number of schools are closed because of lack of heat, and the municipality is considering the advisability of closing all.

Practically all flooded suburban towns about Paris tonight are without light and several are without water. Their inhabitants are hastily leaving.

The Chamber of Deputies held a sitting today in the water-beleaguered Palais Bourbon, believing a transfer of their activities to Versailles would only serve to increase the popular panic. Parliament today voted a bill extending business notes one month.

COMMUNICATION CUT OFF.

Communication with England, Holland, Denmark, Austria and many cities and towns in France is completely cut off. The telephone has been practically abandoned in Paris.

New districts are being flooded constantly, and the people are evacuating blocks of buildings. Several hospitals where sick refugees were taken are in a dreadful plight, the water having quenched fires in the furnaces.

Four hundred patients were hurriedly removed in ambulances from the Hospital de la Salpetriere to the Hospital Boucicault. Their rescue was dramatic, and timely. The hospital was isolated and a new rush of water threatened to level it. The tireless Prefect of Police, M. Lepine, summoned ambulances and boats and additional police and soldiers.

While some soldiers were laying pontoons, others took patients out. Two hundred were saved in boats, while another 200 were carried across the pontoons on the backs of soldiers.

INSURGENT POLITICS.

Rebels Back of Beef Prosecution.

J. Ogden Armour Is Target at Which Judge Landis Aims Shaft.

Grand Jury Will Hear Evidence Against Wealthy Packer First.

Former Indiana Congressman Makes Charges on Which Court Acts.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It is now apparent to every one following the prosecution of the alleged beef trust, that J. Ogden Armour is the bright and shining target, at which Judge Landis and the Federal attorneys are aiming their shafts.

Although the Federal grand jury tonight completed its first week of the beef investigation, and the course of procedure for next Monday and Tuesday is already mapped out, National Packing Company and Armour employés are the only ones to be used as witnesses by the jury. Subpoenas have been served on employés of other packing companies, but the Federal prosecutors have signified no desire to immediately hear anything about the other packing concerns.

Taken as particularly significant of the trend of the government investigation, especially when considered in relation with developments of Wednesday, when Henry J. Moyer, department manager, and Everett Wilson, superintendent of branch houses of Armour & Co., were called into the jury room on the heels of C. C. Snow, secretary and treasurer of the National Packing Company, it is the opinion that Judge Landis means to strike.

PLAYING POLITICS.

The story gained much credence today that the beef prosecution was almost altogether an "insurgent" affair, and was expected to have important political results. According to the current story, Judge Landis did not secure the information upon which he is acting from the complaint of four members of the grand jury of 1908 which investigated the alleged meat combine and was later followed up by months of work by the Department of Justice. The story runs that Judge Landis has been primed and loaded with facts collected by his brother, Charles Landis, former Congressman from Delphi, Ind. When he was in Congress Mr. Landis was chairman of a committee appointed by President Roosevelt's direction to investigate trusts in general, and some of the revelations made to his committee are said to be those on which Judge Landis based his call for the present inquiry.

When the attention of Judge Landis was called to this story today, he laughed heartily and said: "You newspaper fellows certainly can work up more stories in a given length of time than any one I ever saw. I fail utterly in trying to keep up with you," and with a wave of his hand he dismissed the matter without definitely committing himself.

OFFICIALS GRILLED.

Attorney Crews, counsel for the National Packing Company, and George B. Robbins, president of the Armour Car Line Company, were subjected to a grilling examination today in an effort to show that the alleged beef pool used the Armour car lines as a formidable weapon with which to beat down competition in the packing industry. Attorney Crews will again be placed on the stand Monday, at which time he will present books and documents belonging to his company. He will be followed by William E. Weber, general auditor of the National Packing Company, and Alonzo Benn, secretary to President Edward Tilden. Both these men were called into the office of Dist.Atty Sims today and questioned for some time.

In addition the following National Packing Company men were served with subpoenas today:

Lemuel B. Patterson, first vice-president; F. T. Fuller, second vice-president; Thomas H. Cross, cattle buyer, and Charles F. Gaepper, hog buyer.

Judge Landis and Assistant Dist.-Atty. Wilkerson held an extended conference today before the investigation was resumed, but neither would talk of the subject of their discussion.

The grand jury has disposed of all routine business and beginning Monday, will devote all its attention to probing the beef industry.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ELMIRA (N. Y.) Jan. 28.—The demurrer interposed by Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole, in the action for desecrating of the American flag, growing out of the display of the famous "North Pole" flag at the Hudson-Fulton celebration, was today sustained by Justice Lyon.

Roswell R. Moss, the attorney who brought the action, announces he will carry the case to the Supreme Court of the United States.

HAPPY HOMES.

THOUSANDS OF "PAPAS" FONDLE BOGUS BABIES.

Chicago Maternity Hospital Official Tells of Many Hoaxes in That City Similar to Los Angeles Quadruplet Case—Found in Society Circles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following the sensational story from Los Angeles that 300 babies had been provided for homes in that city without the supposed "fathers" knowing but what they were their own flesh and blood, came the statement of Treasurer Lyman W. Rogers of the National Maternity Hospital that there are in Chicago today fully 3000 husbands fondling infants that are not their own, but babies adopted by their wives, and the deluded fathers are none the wiser.

According to Mr. Rogers 250 infants are provided with homes every year and more than one-half, he declared, are believed by husbands to be their own.

While the majority of the babies are the offspring of working girls they enter homes in stations high above that which they would otherwise occupy.

"Many childless women are found in society," said Mr. Rogers.

"'Hubby' will never know. And so when the husband leaves town for a time the wife pays us a short visit and when the deluded man returns he finds himself the proud 'father' of a bouncing baby."

According to Mr. Rogers, one Chicago man who is worth millions has had two babies palmed off on him which are not his own. He travels in Europe a great deal and, of course, these additions to the family happened while he was abroad.

Such little ones are to be found in the homes of men whose names are known to newspaper readers as the leaders in certain circles, it was declared. Were the hospital authorities to give the names of some of their "clientele," according to Mr. Rogers, disclosures would follow which would disrupt entire families. "It is rarely that a husband wants a child that is not of his own blood," continued Mr. Rogers.

"A classy man will not stand for the adoption of an infant unless his wife is delicate. If some husbands who are bringing up children knew the truth about them I tremble to think what the consequences would be.

BABY ENDS TROUBLE.

"This sort of deception is, of course, practiced when the husband is out of town, to 'pull the wool over his eyes' while he is in the house would necessitate the doctor's and the nurse's being in the plot. I have heard of such cases and read of such, but they are rare. The safest way and the usual way is to wait until the man is called away.

"I recall the case of a woman of well-known family who adopted no fewer than five children at different times, covering a period of nine years. In this case it happened that the husband knew they were not his own. But a similar case was that of a woman who adopted three children at different times. The husband never knew. He was a traveling man and away much of the time. The deception was thus simplified immensely.

"Again, a husband left his wife after an altercation. The woman was in despair. She wanted him to come back. An idea struck her and she came to the hospital and adopted a little boy. Then she wired to her husband and told him a son had been born to them. He came right back on the next train.

"These cases are just samples of the many which come to our attention in a year. The ignorance shown by the husbands is amazing, although, of course, the women manage it all cleverly."

With regard to the actual mothers and fathers of the children thus disposed of, Mr. Rogers also had much to say. In ninety-nine cases out of one hundred, he maintained, the child's mother had never been married, but he mentioned as a peculiar circumstance that the hospital seldom had the same patient twice.

GOVERNMENT GOSSIP.

GLAVIS LIVENS UP COAL-LAND INQUIRY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Proceedings in the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry, which up to this time have consisted largely of reading into the record letters, telegrams, etc., heretofore made public by President Taft, took on a livelier aspect this afternoon, when Louis R. Glavis, continuing his testimony against Secretary Ballinger, told of various interviews he had had with the latter when he was in and out of the government service.

Mr. Glavis declared that in one of these interviews, in October, 1908, Mr. Ballinger told him he was having a hard time trying to collect campaign contributions and that two men interested in the Cunningham claims who had been liberal contributors in the past had declined to contribute because they were angry at not being granted patents for Alaska coal lands.

Representative James of Kentucky, Democratic member of the committee, pounced upon this testimony and cross-examined the witness at some length.

Glavis said Mr. Ballinger asked him to hold up on the Alaska cases until after election. He agreed to do this, because he had his hands full with another case.

One of the most interesting developments of the day was the distribution at both morning and afternoon sessions of a quantity of press matter which purported to interpret and point out the significance of the testimony thus far given at the inquiry.

The morning matter came in an envelope of the American Conservation

JUDGE BY RECORD.

Wade Ellis Scores Taft Critics.

Points Out President's Strict Adherence to His Party's Pledges.

"Man Higher Up" Is Not Being Shielded by This Administration.

No Attack on Wealth Simply Because It Is Wealth Is Expected.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Jan. 28.—Wade H. Ellis, assistant to the Attorney-General, and an old friend and neighbor of President Taft when the latter lived in Cincinnati, tonight arose at a banquet of the Tippecanoe Club to explain the viewpoint of an administration man on administration policies and present day events.

"Pay no heed to the so-called insurgents on the one hand, or to the so-called 'stand-patters' on the other," said Mr. Ellis. "Take no counsel from those who defend Cannonism or Aldrichism to the right of you, or to those who would emphasize the programme of La Follette or magnify the Pinchot incident to the left of you.

"Get into the middle of the road and stand shoulder to shoulder for the performance of the party's pledges to the people under the leadership of William H. Taft."

RALLY TO PRESIDENT.

After declaring that the majority leaders in Congress are rallying to the President, Mr. Ellis continued:

"What are the Roosevelt policies? Is Taft for them or against them? What were the promises of the last

"First and foremost of the Roosevelt policies is a vigorous and impartial enforcement of the law. Has the President faltered or flickered in that duty. The country did not expect a blind, indiscriminate drive at wealth simply because it is wealth."

RECORD OF FIDELITY.

Mr. Ellis cited the cases of John R. Walsh and Charles W. Morse to prove that "the man higher up" is not being shielded by this administration. He instanced the asylum bank law, economy in public service, protection of those engaged in hazardous callings, issuance of injunctions by Federal courts and publication of campaign expenses.

Mr. Ellis concluded: "With this record of fidelity and achievements, is there any Republican tonight who must apologize to his pride or to his conscience for the faith that is in him? When this record is known and debated, is there any danger that the American people will withhold their verdict of 'well done?'"

TIPS NET HIM FORTUNE.

Wife Suing Waldorf Waiter for Alimony Swears He Gets $100 Weekly in Gratuities.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That her husband, who is a waiter at the Waldorf-Astoria, makes $100 a week in tips at that fashionable and expensive hotel, is asserted by Mrs. Julia Wendling in her application for alimony, which was heard today by Justice Gerard in a special term of the Supreme Court.

The woman's counsel stated that this "knight of the napkin," William Wendling, had made $70 a week in tips and wages while employed at Rector's restaurant, and that his billet at the Waldorf is even more remunerative. The lawyer declared that many waiters at the Waldorf-Astoria averaged $20 a day in tips. Some days they received more than that amount.

The court was told that Wendling carefully put away his tips in the bank and let his wife have only $1 a day to run their household and clothe their children. She also accused him of cruel treatment.

Wendling replied that his income was overestimated. His regular pay at the Waldorf was only $25 a month, he said, and his tips—why, pshaw, they amounted to little. The court reserved decision.

GEN. DRAPER IS DEAD.

Former Ambassador to Italy and Gallant Soldier Succumbs After Long Illness.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Gen. William F. Draper, former American Ambassador to Italy, died tonight after a prolonged illness. He was 68 years old.

Brig.-Gen. Draper was born in Lowell, Mass., April 9, 1842. He served in the Union army from 1861 to 1864, holding commissions from second lieutenant to lieutenant-colonel, commanding, and also colonel and brigadier-general by brevet. He was twice wounded.

Gen. Draper was a Presidential elector in 1888 and served as a Republican in the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth Congresses, declining a third nomination. In 1897 he was appointed Ambassador to Italy, holding that post until 1900. He served as a commander of the Loyal Legion of Massachusetts.

BOY HIDDEN IN A CAMP.

Mother, Formerly of Los Angeles, Seeks Him.

Mrs. R. E. Burbank Has Son's Father Arrested.

She Suspects Plot to Keep the Child from Her.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That her six-year-old boy, John King Stack, has been hidden in a lumber camp near Escanaba, Mich., by the relatives of his father, is the belief of Mrs. R. E. Burbank, formerly of Los Angeles.

She has been living at the Vrooman Apartments, with her mother, Mrs. J. W. Allen, since the boy was taken away two weeks ago by his father, R. B. Stack, a wealthy lumberman, of Michigan and Canada.

Mr. Burbank lives in Los Angeles. Mrs. Burbank, though ill as a result of worry over the loss of her child, given her by the Washington State courts at the time of her divorce two years ago, is directing the investigation which is expected to lead to his recovery. Wednesday she learned that Stack had been located by her agents at Port Cobalt, Canada.

On receipt of a telegram from the St. Louis police department, the lumberman was arrested and is held pending a request for extradition papers. The message from the Canadian town stated that the boy was not there. Immediately Mrs. Burbank and her mother suspected that the Michigan relatives of the boy's father were assisting in the plan to keep him from his mother.

An interchange of telegrams with the Escanaba authorities revealed that the entire Stack family has disappeared from the town, leaving their fine residence in the charge of servants. A search is now being made in the several lumber camps, which are controlled by Stack interests within fifty miles of the Michigan town.

Belief that the boy is being held by relatives and did not go to Canada with his father is strengthened by the fact that on the night after he was taken from St. Louis, a sister of his father telephoned from the Auditorium Annex, Chicago, to Mrs. Allen, saying her brother had turned the boy over to her, and that she was sorry for the mother, and that she would put him on the 11 o'clock train for St. Louis.

All the St. Louis relatives of the lad met the train, but he did not appear. That he was taken from Chicago to the Escanaba home of the Stacks and from there spirited away to one of their numerous camps is the belief of Mrs. Allen and her daughter, Mrs. Burbank.

The mother of the much-sought lad was one of the leaders in the younger set of Nashville society at the time of her marriage to the Michigan millionaire, seven years ago. Her father, J. W. Allen, was Controller of the State of Tennessee for several terms and is still a leader in the politics of the State. The wedding took place at Meridian, Miss. Mrs. Stack was granted a divorce and, according to her mother, absolute custody of the child. A year later she was married to R. E. Burbank, a business man of Los Angeles.

On Friday, January 14, Stack was an all-day visitor at the Allen home, where he had gone to see the boy. In the evening a telegram was received from Mrs. Burbank, which asked that the boy be taken to the train to meet her on the following day. Mrs. Allen says that as soon as Stack heard the message read he grasped his son and did not let go of him until he had him safe aboard a train and speeding for Chicago.

Stack told the Allens he was going to London to float bonds for an electric line he is building through Port Cobalt and into the territory where he owns timber tracts.

ONCE MORE.

LOCATES COOK IN ASYLUM NOW.

SEVERAL SWEAR TO EXPLORER'S IDENTITY.

Said to Be in Inebriate Sanatorium Near Heidelberg, Germany—Guards Forcibly Eject Callers—Reporter Flashes Electric Torch on Suspect and Gets Blow from Stick.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

HEIDELBERG (Germany) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Frederick A. Cook, or his double, is in hiding in Dr. Furer's inebriate asylum in the Valley of the Neckar, twenty-five miles from here. All approaches are watched and callers are unceremoniously ejected. Nevertheless, the large bony nose with the deep lines from the nose to the mouth, the grayish eyes and the black moustache of the man thought to be Cook have been recognized by persons who can hardly be mistaken.

Following the custom of the asylum, the man was fetched to the station in a closed, curtained carriage and underwent weeks of the solitude cure, not mixing with other patients or leaving his apartments except after dark.

Last Wednesday a reporter watched the grounds after dark and met a solitary wanderer in the dense pine forest above the asylum. Shamming accident the reporter fell. The man came up and inquired in German with a foreign accent:

"What's the matter?"

The reporter flashed a pocket electric torch in the man's face and swears he recognized him as Cook. A moment later Cook, if it was he, smashed the light and injured the reporter's hand by a violent blow with a heavy stick and fled through the forest.

A correspondent today taxed Furer's assistant with having Cook in his house and the assistant did not deny, but said no one named Cook was there.

That a college degree in veterinary medicine is not necessary to allow one to legally fill a horse's teeth in Massachusetts, has been decided by the Superior Court on an appeal taken by James Bell of Pittsburgh. Bell was arrested recently and fined $50 in the Boston Municipal Court for practicing without a license. The judge of the higher court decided Bell was merely doing the work of a first-class hostler, and discharged him.

MILLIONAIRE VICTIM OF ALLEGED POISON PLOT.

Col. Thomas H. Swope,

Kansas City philanthropist, who died in October last. It is alleged he was poisoned, and it is also charged that his nephew and heir was murdered by means of typhoid fever germs and other poisons. Arrests are expected today.

SWOPE CASE.

use for this report in his capacity as public prosecutor unless the analysis disclosed poison in sufficient quantities to substantiate the murder theory.

In addition, Coroner B. H. Zwart at Kansas City tonight stated that he would impanel a jury on Monday to investigate the deaths.

The finding of poison was essential to the making of specific charges. This was demanded by the prosecuting attorney. The alleged inoculation of eight members of the Swope family with typhoid will be introduced at the trial as circumstantial or corroborative evidence to show the existence of a plot to exterminate the remaining heirs to the Swope millions. The arrest of the person under surveillance, a relative of the Swopes, is expected tomorrow.

REPORT KEPT SECRET.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 28.—Although findings of physicians who have been examining the stomach of the late Col. Thomas H. Swope in Chicago for traces of poison, were made known to attorneys in the case here today, the nature of the report is not positively known to others than those to whom it was returned.

Attorneys held a conference with Henry L. Jost, first assistant prosecuting attorney, but refused to give out any statement.

The report was made to John G. Paxton, one of the Swope attorneys. It was only a short message, saying that the physicians had completed their work, giving him a clew to their findings, and asking him to come to Chicago. It is expected Mr. Paxton will leave for Chicago tomorrow to receive the official report.

Prosecutor Virgil Conkling is ill and was unable to attend the conference today. After talking with Attorney Jost, he said:

"The official report of the physicians will be in my hands within forty-eight hours. Until that time I shall not state whether poison has been found in the stomach."

"JOHN'S ALL RIGHT."

Packer Magnate Cudahy Belittles Tales of Heir's High Life on Coast and Approves.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "My son will be home tomorrow," said John Cudahy, the packer, when asked today regarding dispatches from the Coast that John Cudahy, Jr., had been summoned home following a series of champagne dinners and automobile tours with Bessie Clifford, the "Yama Yama" girl in a theatrical company now touring in California.

"I don't know any more about the stories that John has been mixed up with an actress than anybody else in Chicago does," continued Mr. Cudahy." I know this, though, that I sent him to California to buy a ranch. Yes, I let a draft go to protest. The hotel man had his instructions from me about what to do, and he violated these instructions, so I just let the draft that was made on me to settle some of John's bills go to protest to teach the boy a lesson. Of course, young fellows will be young, and I guess John was just having a good time. Anyway, he is all right."

SOLAR PLEXUS RULES.

Pastor Declares It "the Seat of the Subconscious Mind;" Controls Length of Life.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NORWALK (Ct.) Jan. 28.—Rev. D. T. Van Doren, pastor of the Baptist Church here, says that he has made physiological researches which show that the solar plexus is the center of the subconscious mind.

"A man is no older than his solar plexus," said Dr. Van Doren in his account of his observations.

"How do I know that it is there? The same as I know that the brain is in the head. I can feel the power that runs from this spot to the spleen, which is a reservoir of this power. It is this subconscious mind on which the hypnotist acts."

With proper attention to the solar plexus, Dr. Van Doren believes the average life of the human being can be extended to 120 years.

MUCKRAKING IS POOR ARGUMENT.

PRESIDENT WARNS PUBLISHERS AGAINST HEAT.

Says at Banquet That Shouting "Thief" and "Grafter" Blunts Keen Edge of Criticism and Makes Those Attacked More Callous—Refers to Postal Rate Problems.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—President Taft told the periodical publishers of the United States tonight that if they overloaded their criticisms of men in the administration of authority with unparliamentary expressions and intimations as to lack of honorable motives, nobody is going to pay any attention to them.

Although he made no direct allusion to "muckraking" it was plainly evident at what he was directing his attack.

The President, addressing the Periodical Publishers' Association as their guest at dinner, did not give this advice to the editors assembled from all parts of the nation until he had prefaced his remarks with good-humored treatment of his relative position to the wielders of public opinion.

"This is a rather formidable gathering to address," said President Taft after he had been presented by F. Hopkinson Smith, toastmaster. "Gentlemen who act as fates as to what or what is not current literature, would, under any circumstances, be formidable to address, and under conditions prevailing in Washington and in legislative halls, it requires a brave man, standing in my position, to face them.

"As to controversies, let me say that all evidence—questions of fact—must be weighed broadly to reach an ultimate conclusion. It is the case with every trust, as much as we condemn them for their iniquities. The evidence must be weighed. It does no good to denounce a person on the witness stand if he testifies against you.

"You controllers of public opinion and controllers of the rulers of the country may hammer a man into indifference as to what you say, but at that he will come nearer to doing right than if he tried to fight.

"But, seriously speaking, I would like to say that when you criticise a poor devil exercising a difficult responsibility, first give him the same benefit enjoyed by every criminal—that of a reasonable doubt.

"Don't use unparliamentary expressions if you can help it, for if you do, and if you overload your criticism with superlatives and intimations as to his lack of honorable motives, in the end you will weaken all your criticism and nobody is going to pay any attention to it.

"In respect to this matter of postage, it is for judicial investigation, and a conclusion should be reached on a calm, business basis. I have no doubt that you will find in the committees of Congress that careful judgment is needed. I don't agree with some of the committees who started out by shouting 'grafter and robber,' but nobody should be led astray just because some gentleman's heat carried him away from the bounds of judgment."

Senator Dolliver, in addressing the publishers, went directly to the postage question and aroused an uproar of appreciation when he said:

"I venture to predict before the postage is raised on the literature which is being read by millions of Americans, there will be rather an elaborate examination into the expenses and administration of postal affairs."

Speaker Cannon, who also spoke, said the publishers today were getting their magazines delivered by the government cheaper than they could be sent in any other way, and that the publishers were shrewd enough business men to make use of any other better and cheaper method if they could find one. He urged them to cooperate with Congress so far as they could in getting legislation.

SATISFIED OF OUR GOOD WILL.

TOKIO, Jan. 28.—The Foreign Office has issued a statement, which is published in all Japanese newspapers today, setting forth that the government is fully satisfied with the good intentions of the American government in connection with the proposal for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways, and the officials of the department are now firmly convinced that the American suggestion was advanced in a most friendly spirit and with the desire to benefit Japan.

FREE TRADE VS. PROTECTION.

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM VICTORY IN BRITISH ELECTION NEAR END.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The position of the parties tonight is as follows:

Unionists, 264.
Laborites, 40.
Nationalists, 77.

Now that the electoral struggle is on the point of closing, the curious effect is seen of both conflicting parties claiming victory and both basing their claim, with plausible arguments, broadly speaking, on the question of free trade against protection.

It cannot be said that the elections have decided anything, and it is difficult to judge whether the country, as a whole, is tending one way or the other.

According to contentions of Liberals, industrial communities already have decided to adhere to free trade, and all that remains for them to do is to complete the conversion of the agricultural population. According to Conservatives, the education of the people is proceeding at a great pace, and it is only a question of time until the Chamberlain party will be triumphant.

The Spectator contends that had tariff reformers abandoned all idea of taxing food and confined their policy to the taxation of manufactured imports, the Liberals would have been overthrown.

As to the immediate course of business, it seems generally agreed that unless the Nationalists offer serious opposition Chancellor Lloyd George's budget, as it left the House of Commons, will again be sent up to the Lords, who this time will accept it. Any modifications of its provisions will be left for the next budget.

Premier Asquith furnished the politicans food for gossip when he started unexpectedly for France, where he is going for a period of quiet during which he may review the situation and develop his plan.

Sixteen representative Scottish peers who will sit in the new Parliament were elected at Holyrood Palace at Edinburgh.

ROBBERS RIDE IN TAXICAB.

Swell Bandits Hold Up Fashionable Hotel and Fatally Shoot an Employee.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 28.—Two fashionably-dressed highwaymen, both masked, held up the Twelve-Mile House, a resort a few miles from this city, tonight, and fatally shot Manley Thompson, an employé of the house. The robbers, who came to the place in a taxicab, secured about $100. Posses are pursuing them.

The taxicab was summoned by telephone to the end of the Mount Scott electric car line about 9 o'clock p.m. At that place, Frank Hadley, the chauffeur, picked up a lone man who instructed him to drive to the Twelve-Mile House. A mile farther on, a second man got in. When the resort was reached, both men left the cab, one taking a position at the door and the other going inside. The wife of the proprietor, former Councilman F. T. Merrill of Portland, was summoned and ordered to unlock the safe, which she did. From this, $100 in money was secured.

Thompson, appearing, grappled with one of the robbers. A scuffle ensued and Thompson was shot in the face and in the region of the heart.

The robbers then cut the telephone wires and took to their heels. Hadley drove his taxicab five miles to notify Sheriff R. L. Stevens.

Late tonight the Sheriff and a posse was working eastward toward the Twelve-Mile House, while Constable Wagner and a second posse was attempting to dragnet the country east of the resort.

A STEP FORWARD.

STATE WILL PROTECT BABES FROM CURSE OF BLINDNESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the opinion of the California State Board of Health, there are too many little babies born into the world with the curse of blindness upon them unnecessarily.

The task of compelling physicians to use simple preventive methods at birth has been undertaken by the board. In New York and Massachusetts commissions for the blind are at work in a campaign of education and other States have followed their lead.

Dr. Snow, secretary of the State Board of Health here, said today that efforts would be made to direct the attention of physicians, nurses and the public generally to the gravity of the situation and the responsibility of society to its helpless little ones.

For thirty years the cause and cure of blindness, which begins three or four days after the baby is born, have been understood and yet through inexcusable ignorance and neglect the hideous cases are still allowed to operate and innocent little ones are deprived of their birthright of sight. In addition to the injustice of the thing, society has the burden of maintaining institutions for blind children and training them and providing means of livelihood.

In Buffalo and New York, an attending physician in cases where blindness results in children or defects of vision easily identified occurs, is called before the city health officer and made to take oath that he employed the proper remedial agents. A great percentage of these cases are due to the ignorance of midwives, who are popular among foreign peoples. These women are not subjected to careful regulations here as in Europe and until they can establish their fitness for the work or have their activities curtailed, much of the field will be left uncovered.

plosion of a tank containing 300 barrels of oil, totally destroyed the machine shop, the carpenter shop and the blacksmith shop and lime house at the Consolidated mill, causing a loss of $25,000.

The violence of the explosion threw oil for hundreds of feet around and onto adjacent buildings. The flames quickly enveloped the edifices and nothing could have saved them. The machine shops were equipped with a splendid and costly plant and, much of the machinery will be a total loss. The big mill continued running throughout the excitement, not a single stamp failing to drop.

The Goldfield fire department went two miles out to the Consolidated mills and succeeded in saving them. They are valued at a million dollars.

Large stores of gasoline were within twenty-five feet of the flames.

SAYS HE ISN'T VANDERBILT.

Reno Divorce Colony Electrified by False Reports of Millionaire's Presence.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sensation was sprung here today when the report was quickly circulated that Alfred Vanderbilt, the young New York clubman and heir to the enormous Vanderbilt estates, said to be the affinity of Mrs. McKim, who is here for divorce, had arrived, and was seen on the streets with her. Former New York residents here declared it to be young Vanderbilt.

A newspaper man stopped him as he was entering the courtroom with Mrs. McKim to witness the Talbot murder trial and asked him to disclose his identity. He laughed at the suggestion, and said he was E. J. Cross, a lawyer of New York City.

"No, I am not Mr. Vanderbilt. My name is Cross. I have been acquainted with Mrs. McKim for a long time, and on my way to San Francisco I just stopped in Reno to see her. I am not here upon any business. I know Mr. Vanderbilt, but I do not resemble him."

Cross is said to be Mrs. McKim's New York attorney, and it is understood that it was through his counsel as a friend that she decided to appeal to the Nevada courts for a divorce. Today was the first that Mrs. McKim and her companion failed to be present at the murder trial as an interested spectator, and her absence on account of being with Cross about the city, created much comment. The couple finally appeared at the trial late in the afternoon.

FORGES BEGGING LETTER.

Consumptive Signs Doctor's Name and, by Mistake, Calls on Latter's Wife for Alms.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MODESTO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Selvog, a twenty-year-old youth, who is suffering from tuberculosis, this morning forged the name of Dr. J. C. Robertson of this city to a letter, stating that Selvog was sick and worthy of receiving alms.

Armed with this paper, Selvog started out around the town to beg. He noticed a fine large house and thought that here was a good place to begin with as not. He found to his astonishment a few moments later, however, that he had knocked at the doctor's own house. Mrs. Robertson suspected Selvog immediately, and telephoned Constable Davis, and Selvog was haled before the doctor.

Dr. Robertson later refused to prosecute the youth when he found that the sickness was no sham. Selvog, who is a stranger here, was allowed to go to Merced, where he stated that he had friends.

GENERAL MANAGER RESIGNS.

QUITS FRUIT EXCHANGE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fruit growers of Northern California were given somewhat of a surprise when it was announced today that W. C. Walker had resigned his position as general manager of the California Fruit Exchange. Walker was with the majority in a stormy session two weeks ago when many complaints were heard from members of the exchange on the affairs of the management, saying that the organization was drifting into the hands of a few and not serving the broad, co-operative interests for which it was created.

The board of directors of the exchange had no idea of the reason for calling them to a sudden session yesterday. When all got together, President J. L. Nagle was presented with Walker's resignation with the explanation that he was leaving the exchange to become assistant to Senator Charles Bills, president of the Pioneer Fruit Company.

The resignation will be accepted at tomorrow's meeting, when it is quite likely that Nagle will be appointed general manager.

PLAN IRRIGATION SCHEME.

UTAH CAPITAL WILL BUILD.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ALTURAS, Jan. 28.—Salt Lake capitalists who recently secured the necessary rights, have commenced construction of an irrigation system that will put water on the upper end of Surprise Valley, in the northeastern corner of Modoc county, and which may be enlarged to include the greater part of the valley. The water will be drawn from Cowhead Lake through a tunnel 2800 feet long, 7 feet high and 6 feet wide, entering the valley near Fort Bidwell. The project will cost $250,000.

LIVED DOUBLE LIFE.

EXPOSE COMES AFTER DEATH.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It has just developed that one of the most prominent and active real estate operators of this city in the past, who died some time ago, was living and doing business under a fictitious name, G. Ed. Traverse, when in fact his right name was G. E. Clutterbuck. A letter from a brother in England, received yesterday by the former partner of "Traverse," makes inquiry about the brother, who had a wife and three children here. The man "Traverse" figured in several hard-fought lawsuits over property deals in the local courts and was only known under the name he assumed.

WOMAN DOCTOR CAUGHT.

Mrs. Fer-Don, Well-Known in Los Angeles, Is Served With Subpoena After Long Delay.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Bandaging his hand and pretending to be a patient, Detective Fisher has succeeded in serving upon Mrs. James Fer-Don a subpoena which she has long evaded. Mrs. Fer-Don and her medical establishment will be remembered in Los Angeles. Lately she has been pursuing the nimble dollar with great success in this section of the State. At Oakland a short time ago she was robbed of silks and jewels to the value of several thousand dollars.

The robbery was believed to have been committed by a maid servant, assisted by a male confederate. The confederate was convicted of robbery a few days ago and sentenced to a term in Folsom prison. The maid, Anna Relegal, is to go on trial on February 9. At this trial Mrs. Fer-Don is expected to appear as a witness, and to compel her appearance the subpoena was sent here by the Oakland police.

But whenever the police called Mrs. Fer-Don was "out of town." When Detective Fisher caught her by pretending to be a patient, she admitted attempting to dodge the summons. She said that she was detained at the trial of the other robber some sixteen days, and that she lost a huge sum of money in consequence. Rather than undergo such a waste of time again, she would prefer to let the alleged jewelry and sealskin thief go to trial with some of the material evidence lacking.

ICE JAMS CARSON RIVER.

BIG DEVASTATION THREATENS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] According to reports from Gardnerville, that section is threatened with a flood of serious proportions. During the past cold weather the Carson River has frozen nearly solid, and with the thaw of the past few days the ice has cracked and immense ice jams have been formed along the river, completely blocking the water that is beginning to come down from the mountains. As a result the water is rising rapidly. Efforts will be made to break up the ice jams, and if this is not successful, it is believed much damage will be done throughout the valley. The Danberg home ranch has been cut off on three sides by the water, and the cattle and horses have been driven into the corrals near the house, and all is in readiness there, and on other ranches, to move them to higher ground should the condition become serious.

LOVE TRIUMPHS IN JAIL.

WILLING TO WED PRISONER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Enrico Ianni, a young Italian, who came here from San Francisco expecting to marry a daughter of Mrs. L. J. Antillio of No. 1006 Vickroy street, and who was arrested on a charge of larceny at the request of the San Francisco police, has signified his intention of returning to face the charge without waiting for requisition papers, provided he is allowed to marry the young woman of his choice first. Miss Antillio, who is a most beautiful young Italian woman, came to the Police Station this morning and announced to the police that this was to have been her wedding day, that she considered it bad luck, at least, to have a wedding date postponed, and that she was willing to marry her California lover in the cell, but the police refused.

Ianni is under arrest for having skipped from San Francisco with the proceeds from a saloon which a friend had entrusted to him. Ianni says he is innocent.

MOUNTS POLICE ON MOTORS.

NEW CHIEF AFTER GAMBLERS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When William Ahern, for many years special agent of the Southern Pacific police here, assumed office of Chief of Police of Sacramento today, he announced that in future police officers in residence districts will be mounted upon motor bicycles, not only for the purpose of covering more territory in better time, but to run down speeding automobile drivers. He rearranged the beats and placed all officers on eight-hour rounds. The new Chief declared that he will run a clean town, keeping gambling suppressed.

CHAIN GANG STRIKES.

GET BREAD AND WATER DIET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

OROVILLE, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Twelve prisoners belonging to the Oroville chain gang are occupying cells in the City Jail, and are on a bread-and-water diet. The prisoners struck while at work on a cement walk in the court yard yesterday, and refused to continue their labors. The authorities have put them on a bread-and-water diet, and they will have to beg for the privilege of working in order to get more substantial meals. The chain gang consisted of fifteen prisoners, three of whom were not connected with the strike.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Escapes After Terrific Struggle.

CALLAHAN, Jan. 28.—While crossing Scott River yesterday here, L. W. Wilson was swept down stream a mile. He was rescued after a terrific struggle by Frank Curtis. The horse and cart were carried farther down and lodged in a bush. The swollen condition of the river makes crossing dangerous.

Rancher Terribly Trampled.

SUISUN, Jan. 28.—S. C. Watson, a rancher of Solano, lies at his home in a critical condition as the result of being caught in a box stall between two horses and squeezed so that when released he fell, helpless to aid himself, to the floor under the feet of the animals, and was horribly trampled.

Project County Bridge.

SUISUN, Jan. 28.—The Supervisors of Solano and Contra Costa counties will meet at Martinez tomorrow to discuss the project of establishing a ferry service between Martinez and Benicia. The proposed company will be financed by its promoters, but they ask aid of the two counties until the proposed ferry is on a paying basis.

Oakland Considers Consolidation.

OAKLAND, Jan. 28.—Suggestions for the consolidation of Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda were considered by the Legislation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce last evening. County consolidation was advocated as an advantage in the levying of taxes. "Such a consolidation," declared a speaker, "would make this the largest commercial and industrial city in the West."

Butchers Quit Combine.

OAKLAND, Jan. 28.—With one exception all of the butchers of Alameda have retired from the Butchers' Exchange. The remaining firm will retire from the combine at the end of this month. It is claimed the exchange prevents proper competition.

CHRISTY'S WIFE POUTS AT COURT.

DECISION WILL NOT STOP FIGHT FOR CHILD.

Artist's Spouse Greets Loss of Her Daughter With Tears and Strong Talk—Will Move for Divorce at Once—Ought to Have Stabbed Him With Toothpick.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Howard Chandler Christy, wife of the artist, received the news of the Zanesville, O., court decision, giving her little daughter, Natalie, to her husband's sister, with tears in her eyes, and a curl of her lips tonight. She was at the home of her sister, Mrs. C. F. Call.

"It doesn't make any difference what that Zanesville judge decides," she said, struggling to keep back the tears, while she tossed her head disdainfully. "I am a southern woman and a fighter, and I shall have my little girl. Furthermore, I shall begin proceedings for an absolute divorce at once. I won't have such an insignificant creature as Howard Chandler Christy attached to me.

"I have refused to talk for publication all along, but now I am going to have my say. When I think of all I have suffered from that man, it makes me wonder why I never stuck a toothpick through him. He is one of those little, fragile men, with a little, fragile soul, and without any heart warmth at all. He never loved Natalie. His heart is ice.

"He married me when I was a little girl of 19. All that I know of the ways of the world he taught me, and now he turns and brings against me the very things he taught me, or tried to, forgetting the nights and days when I sat beside his bed and nursed him when he suffered as the result of liquor and other dissipation."

CHRISTY WINS DAUGHTER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ZANESVILLE (O.) Jan. 28.—Probate Judge Smith handed down his decision today in the famous Christy case, awarding to Howard Chandler Christy his daughter, Mrs. Christy had sought by habeas corpus proceedings to obtain possession of the girl.

Judge Smith stated that at no time must the child be removed from the Christy home at Duncan Falls permanently, nor must she be deprived permanently of the personal attention and care of Miss Rose Christy, sister of the artist, without the permission of the court.

Of Mrs. Christy the court said:

"She must at all reasonable times, conducting herself properly, be permitted to visit and talk with her child."

WASHINGTON.

PUTS MYRICK ON GRIDIRON.

Californian Resents Editor's Graft Utterances.

Smith Scores His Sentiments as Anarchistic.

Altercation Arises in Postal Rate Hearing.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28. — "The American republic cannot stand forever with this sort of thing ringing in the people's ears—these anarchistic statements," angrily declared Representative Smith of California, today, addressing Herbert Myrick, representative of the Agricultural Press League. Myrick was a witness before the House Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads at its hearing on the proposed increase of postal rates on second-class mail matter.

Representative Smith was referring to an editorial which Mr. Myrick admitted came from a publication which he represented.

"I protest that the farmers of this country are not anarchists and I protest that I am not a traitor," hotly retorted Mr. Myrick, who shortly before had been alluded to as being responsible for traitorious utterances.

Mr. Myrick was the principal witness before the committee. After Mr. Smith had made severe reflections upon Mr. Myrick's views, the latter said he was a farmer himself and owned a farm in Mr. Smith's district in California.

MANY AGREE WITH EDITOR.

Members of the committee are receiving great quantities of letters from various parts of the country reflecting the tone of the editorial, they say. Representative Fassett of New York, said he received 500 daily as a result of the editorial, and others of the same kind, which he declared were "the most pitiful imitations of argument" that he ever had heard of and the "most violent reading" he had ever seen.

Chairman Weeks of the committee, after Mr. Myrick had said that he intended no reflection upon the committee, and that the statements of "robbery" and "graft" in his editorials did not refer to government officials, demanded that Mr. Myrick's publications print a statement to that effect.

Representative Murdock of Kansas, another member of the committee, called attention to the fact that the government was paying $50,000 a year for carrying the mails across an old bridge at St. Louis, when it might be carried for a much smaller sum across a new bridge receiving only a part of the business.

"I think this is what you mean by your charges of graft, isn't it?" he said, addressing Mr. Myrick.

"That's it, exactly," said Mr. Myrick.

ONLY ONE GRAFT FOUND.

Chairman Weeks then said that a subcommittee engaged in drafting the Postoffice Appropriation Bill had discovered this evil and would correct it. It was the only one of the kind, he said, that had been found.

Editorials which caused the outbreak were entitled "A Fresh Attack Upon Liberty," "Still Another Tax" and "New Taxes and Fresh Robbery."

"Are these your conclusions? Do you think there is any robbery?" asked Mr. Smith of California.

"I saw that the Postmaster-General had reported that it cost 9 cents a pound to carry second-class matter, while the government received only 1 cent a pound. If the government intended to raise it to 9 cents, it would constitute robbery, in my opinion," replied Mr. Myrick.

Chairman Weeks replied by saying that there was no intention of raising the postal rates to 9 cents. One of the editorials referred to "scheming" and "grafting" in Congress in connection with the proposed increase, and Messrs. Weeks, Smith and Fassett, members of the committee, became angry over these characterizations.

The hearing probably will be continued.

REPORTS POSTAL BANK BILL.

GALLINGER AGAINST HASTE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The postal savings bank bill was favorably reported to the Senate today from the Senate Committee on Postoffices and Post Roads, virtually in the form submitted by the subcommittee. Senator Carter, who will have charge of the measure, will seek an early opportunity to obtain consideration of it by the Senate.

In reporting the measure, Senator Carter said that on next Monday he would ask to have it made the "unfinished business," and would press its consideration.

Senator Gallinger, apparently interpreting this statement as an indication that there would be an effort to railroad the measure through, gave notice that he must insist that it be considered in orderly and deliberate manner.

An acrimonious discussion between the two Senators followed.

Senator Bailey said that during the last session he had objected to the consideration of the bill, and added that he would object again when it came up. He said, however, that he would not enter into a filibuster against it.

WILL BREAK ALIEN RECORD.

HALF-YEAR'S ARRIVALS HEAVY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—If the ratio of immigration of the first six months of the fiscal year 1910 is kept up, the total for the year will exceed that for 1909, when 751,786 aliens arrived on American shores to make their homes. North Dakota, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

During the six months of the current year the arrivals were 422,952, of which 68,711 arrived in December. Of these 48,107 were men and the remainder women. Because of the probability of their becoming public charges and for other reasons, 1658 aliens were refused admission after reaching Ellis Island.

The total inward passenger movement during December was 91,614, which included American citizens returning from abroad and non-immigrant aliens. Italians predominated in the immigration for the six months, numbering 76,807.

UNIQUE ADULTERATION.

FATTEN OYSTERS ON SEWAGE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The government is going after those who transplant oysters from salt water to fresh water and frequently near the mouth of sewers, where they are allowed to fatten and enlarge beyond their normal proportions, thus making them much more marketable, but less desirable to the consumer. This was developed today in the testimony of Dr. Wiley, government chief chemist, before the House subcommittee engaged in investigating the high prices of foodstuffs. Dr. Wiley characterized it as a flagrant form of adulteration. The more sewage the oyster receives, he said, the more corpulent and white it becomes, giving it a very edible appearance.

Minnesota Congressmen Appeal to Constituents to Express Themselves on House Rules Reform—Stegerson Will Support Any Good Republican Who Will Favor Change.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The fight against the rules of the House has been carried into the Congressional campaign in a number of States, and several Representatives have found it necessary to issue addresses to "the people at home to explain their attitude regarding the Speakership and the House rules.

Representatives Steenerson and Davis, both of Minnesota and both insurgents, have issued statements. Steenerson is chairman of the Committee on Militia. Both have been attacked in their home districts.

Steenerson and Davis have indicated their wish to have their constituencies express themselves as to what lengths they should go in their opposition, and Steenerson, in his statement, points out that while he has been an insurgent and has voted and worked for reform so as to reduce the Speaker's power and has gone "to the very limit" he has refused to desert the party, explaining that to have done so would have defeated the very purpose of the insurgents. He says he will support any good Republican for Speaker if he is favorable to rules reform, and that with such reformed rules "even Mr. Cannon would eat out of hand and be as tame as a dove."

At least one member has suggested to his district that there are rules in their State Legislature conferring greater patronage and power on their speakers than the House rules bestow on Cannon. Mr. Steenerson, for instance, says two Speakers of the Minnesota Legislature have exercised greater authority than Speaker Cannon ever has done.

MONDELL BILL REPORTED.

ALLOWS ENTRY OF COAL LANDS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The House Committee on Public Lands voted today to report favorably the Mondell bill admitting to entry the surface of coal lands in the United States. The measure affects about 30,000,000 acres of land in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Washington and Idaho.

The bill makes it possible for actual settlers to make entry on the surface of coal lands under the homestead act or the desert-land entry law and also makes possible withdrawals under the reclamation act. The United States would issue a patent to such lands, but would reserve all rights to coal on the lands, as well as the privilege of prospecting, mining and removing the coal.

REUNITED THROUGH SHAVE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—"I won't charge you for that shave, pal, because you're my long-lost brother." Thereupon Thomas Rich, barber of No. 1204 West Taylor street, wiped the remaining flecks of lather from a patron's face, stood him up and said: "How are you, Ernest?" "I'm pretty good, Tom; how are you?" Then they shook hands and went home to supper. "As soon as I had him shaved, I found a scar on his face. I put it there myself when we were playing Indians twenty years ago," said Rich. "We were separated when boys and had lost each other for twenty years."

Burns of Orient, S. D., for $500. This gobbler has taken first prize and sweepstakes at New York, Baltimore and Hagerstown, and other cities where national poultry shows have been held. His weight is fifty-two pounds and he is said to be the largest turkey in the United States.

CHICAGO-ST. LOUIS BOAT LINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

JOLIET (Ill.) Jan. 28.—With a view to ascertaining the improvements and changes necessary to enable the Mississippi Valley Transportation Company to carry out its project of establishing a boat line between Chicago and St. Louis, representatives of the sanitary district, the Illinois and Michigan Canal and the Chicago Motor Boat Association, met in Joliet today and inspected the waterway. The purpose of the meeting was to discover some plan on which officials of the two canals could agree and in furtherance of which Gov. Deneen could recommend passage of a bill by the Legislature. It was found the four steps necessary for extension of navigation are: Removal of the railroad bridge near the sanitary district power-house; operation of the locks located near the power-house; elevation of the tow path bridge above Roby street, and removal of 500 feet of the crib north of Roby street.

yesterday, after the visit of Mr. Reid to Washington, but was then neither affirmed nor denied at the State Department or White House. When it was reported today, however, that John L. Cadwallader was mentioned as a successor to Mr. Reid, the State Department announced that no change was contemplated, and that for that reason neither Mr. Cadwallader nor any one else had been considered.

WANTS WASHINGTON "DRY."

WOULD BAR LIQUOR ENTIRELY

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Aiken of South Carolina wants the capital of the United States to be "dry." The Southern statesman desires that not a drop of liquor be sold or given away within the confines of the District of Columbia, not even in a club. His ideas on this subject are incorporated in a bill introduced by him in the House yesterday, providing that Washington be swamped under the prohibition wave.

WOMEN CUT OUT GOSSIP.

Ladies of "Athens of America" Form Sewing Circle That Inflicts Fines on Tattlers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A sewing circle with no wagging tongues, a society of women bound by their constitution and by-laws not to comment on their neighbors' dress, complexion or behavior, is the anomaly presented by the Harmony and Embroidery Club, which has just been organized by fourteen society ladies of this city, known as the "Athens of Missouri," because of its many schools and universities.

The schedule of fines for gossiping is $1 for the first offense, $5 for the second, and expulsion for the third. So far no one has offended.

"Did you ever see such a——" starts Mrs. Jones.

"Be careful," interrupts Mrs. Smith. "Remember the rules of the club."

And Mrs. Jones subsides with a blush into a line of innocent conversation that contains no criticism.

The club is inexpensive for those with perfect vocal control. Each member is assessed for refreshments at each meeting. At the end of the year a prize is to be given to the hostess who concocted the best lunch with the funds at her disposal.

The officers are: President, Mrs. Walter Eallinger; vice-president, Mrs. Jack Helseler; treasurer, Mrs. B. C. Clark, and secretary, Mrs. J. C. Lory.

WATER CURE FOR INSANITY.

State Asylum Will Try Treatment on Extensive Scale—Eastern Experts in Charge.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STOCKTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time in the history of the West, the hydrotherapic, or water cure, will be administered to patients in an asylum, at the local institution. Much time and thought has been taken up in making this department one of the most complete in the country. Superintendent Fred P. Clark made a trip East and visited several of these institutions with a view of securing the best data obtainable. The last Legislature appropriated about $60,000 for the building, which was constructed by experts.

It was necessary to secure experts from the East to give the water treatment to patients, and a force of twenty-five skilled nurses and masseurs will arrive here today to complete all of the details connected with the institution. They are all graduates of the hydrotherapic system. It is claimed that the treatment will cure a large percentage of acute insanity and nervous diseases. The patients principally live in a bathtub or on tables where the massages are given for days at a time.

RAILROAD RECORD.

DISSOLUTION TO BE PRESSED.

President Is Against Dropping Espee Suits.

Attorney-General's Opinion Is Basis for Decision.

Salt Lake Proceedings Will Be Pushed.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The President has determined to press to a conclusion the pending suit against the Union and Southern Pacific Railroad companies, looking to a dissolution of the merger, and today concluded to deny the application of Mr Lovett, Mr. Harriman's successor, for a dismissal of the suit.

Soon after Judge Lovett and a number of influential railroad people appealed to the President to quash proceedings before Judge Vandeventer's court in Salt Lake, Mr. Taft, following the course that had been adopted in the famous New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad case, when a similar appeal was made, referred the matter to the Attorney-General for examination.

In the New England case it was found that, because of the action taken by the State of Massachusetts and the insignificance of the government's interests, it would be best to abandon the prosecution of the railroad, and this was done.

But Atty.-Gen. Wickersham reached a different conclusion in the Pacific railroad merger case, and today he handed to President Taft a voluminous report, the conclusion of which justified the President in the announcement that there was a good case against the railroads, following the decision in the Northern Securities litigation.

Therefore the proceedings at Salt Lake City will be pressed.

The status of the case at present is this: The government has put in its testimony. The defense must begin in April, and the usual evidence in rebutial must be submitted thereafter. Then the case will go to that novel tribunal, of four judges provided by the anti-trust act, known as the expediting court, and doubtless in the end it will come before the Supreme Court.

SCORES REBATE EVILS.

Interstate Commission Arraigns Armours and Railway for Agreement on Ice Shipments.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—An application by the Armour car line to the Interstate Commerce Commission for reparation against the Southern Pacific Company on shipments of ice from Los Angeles, Cal., to Yuma, Ariz., was rejected today, the commission holding that the granting of the request would "open the door to the grossest form of favoritism and rebating."

The testimony showed that the Armour car lines contracted to furnish ice to the Southern Pacific Company at various points on that road to be used in the refrigeration of perishable fruit in transit.

It was agreed that a rate of $1.90 a ton should be established for shipments of ice from Los Angeles to Yuma. The published rate between these points was $3 a ton. The rate of $1.90 was not published until several months after the contract was made, and not until seventy-one carloads of ice had been shipped under the contract.

The complainant lines demanded reparation of the difference between the $1.90 rate and the $3 rate.

The commission declared such a transaction would be repugnant to the law, that there was no basis for reparation and dismissed the action.

PLEADS IN DEITY'S NAME.

FIGHTS TRAIN-MANNING BILL.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—"For God's sake, in the interests of safety, don't enact this bill," begged Vice-President and General Manager Smith of the New York Central lines, in opposing before the House Committee on Interstate Commerce the proposed legislation for additional manning of trains. He explained that trains sometimes carried more and sometimes less than the number required by the pending measures, but that arbitrary fixing of the number would ruin discipline. It was estimated by the railroad counsel that the requirements of the proposed bills, which they believe to be backed by the trainmen's organization, would cost 292 railroads in this country more than $20,000,000 annually.

FIXES COLONISTS' RATES.

NO CHANGE FROM LAST YEAR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The railroads, members of the trans-continental passenger association, have decided that one-way colonist fares to California for 1910 will be maintained on the same basis as in previous years—$33 from Chicago. Some of the roads running east of the Mississippi River, desiring to obtain increased revenue from their share of transcontinental tourist rates, have been advocating an advance from $72.50 to $75 to California. The Union and Southern Pacific, Rock Island and Chicago and Alton have opposed this, and announced that their rates will remain as in 1909.

FINISHED IN THIRTY DAYS.

ESPEE CUTOFF NEARLY DONE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—The Redwood City cutoff of the Southern Pacific will be completed within thirty days, according to E. E. Calvin, vice-president and general manager of the company.

The completion of this important piece of construction work will give the Southern Pacific a direct rail entrance into San Francisco, via Sacramento and Stockton, doing away with the company's freight ferry service between this city and Oakland. The railroad will transport no more freight to San Francisco in boats except that to be unloaded for the Belt Line and for firms having spur tracks along that company's tracks.

The cutoff extends from the Stockton-Port Costa main line of the Southern Pacific at Martinez, through the San Ramon Valley, in Contra Costa county, to Livermore, thence through Niles Canon to Newark and Dumbarton, thence on a bridge and trestle across the upper arm of San Francisco Bay to Redwood City and then north to the new freight yards of the company at Visitation Valley and finally to the yards at Fourth and Townsend streets. It is to be used exclusively for freight.

Once the cutoff is opened, the Southern Pacific can fully utilize its new freight yards and shops in the Visitation Valley, where twenty-five miles of sidetrack have already been laid.

Man Drunk and Forced the Fight.

gedy Is Outcome of Long-Standing Quarrel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

KENWOOD (Miss.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Two brothers, each of years standing, had guns leveled each other in a field near this late last evening, when a son of the combatants halted the final fight by shooting his uncle.

The brothers were J. B. Romine and J. Romine, and the latter was the hero of the three-cornered duel that took in a tragedy when Will W. Lee, the son and nephew, rushed forward, at the cost of his uncle' life, saved his father.

J. Romine came here today and surrendered to the Sheriff.

The tragedy is the culmination of a feeling that has existed between the Romine brothers for several years. Today J. B. Romine, his son, Will, and a number of kinsmen were in the fields of the Romine plantation. In the midst of the work J. Romine drove into the field. He had been drinking, and, jumping from his carriage, he called out to his brother, "Hello, John. I've come up here to settle our quarrel. Let's fight it out and have things settled once for all." Witnesses say Ed Romine continued the unpleasant talk until his brother was forced into a quarrel.

In the midst of the heated dispute, it is claimed that Ed had drawn his gun and leveled it on John Romine, and Will Romine fired the shot that killed him.

Man Accused of Husband's Murder Declares He Dazed Her With Brutal Blow.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CLAY (Nev.) Jan. 28.—Mrs. Mae Romine, charged with the murder of her husband, took the stand today in her own defense.

According to Mrs. Talbot her husband had treated her in a brutal manner, even threatening to kill her and beating her horribly at times. On the night before the shooting, Mrs. Talbot said that her husband gave her a severe beating, kicking her and striking her from her bed by the hair. The condition was such as to necessitate the services of a physician. The next day she met her husband at the attorney's office for the purpose of settling property rights previous to bringing an action for divorce. During the discussion an altercation arose and Talbot struck her. She then stated that this caused her to remember the meeting-set-to and the pistol which she had in her muff fell to the floor. She then fled and did not know that her husband had been shot until found by the Sheriff a few hours later.

Indiana Company Operated in Kentucky Without License; no More Arrests.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Jan. 28.—Insurance Commissioner C. W. Bell today began conference with four presidents of insurance companies that have been in the alleged swindling practiced in Louisville by insurance solicitors.

As a result, the State of Kentucky will take legal action against two insurance companies for operating in Kentucky without licenses. They are the National Life Insurance Company of Indianapolis and the Commonwealth Life Insurance Company of Louisville.

Officials of these companies, who have come to Louisville to confer with Commissioner Bell, say their business is legal because they wrote all their Kentucky business in New Albany, across the river from Louisville.

S. New, legal representative of the Equitable of Indiana, is here investigating the insurance scandal, to which it is believed, whether the Indiana companies have been operating legally.

Although no more arrests were made today, attorneys for the insurance companies say they are finding numerous irregularities in which the three Louisville directors under arrest, Keane, Bell and Needham, wrote "gravestone."

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Your Honor, I love John with all my heart, but when he told me I could not have $5 corsets I simply broke me all up and I became so nervous and so broken-hearted that I decided to bring him before you and, to make matters worse, he broke up all the pretty furniture in our little flat."

This was the tearful plea made to Magistrate Higginbotham in the Myrtle-avenue court by demure and pretty Mrs. John Voorhees, 28 years old, who had her husband, John, summoned to court on the charge of "insufficient support."

Mrs. Voorhees told Magistrate Higginbotham she was a daughter of former Mayor Arthur C. Harper of Los Angeles, Cal., and that Voorhees was her second husband. (Mrs. F. J. Harper, sister-in-law of ex-Mayor Harper, says that the ex-Mayor has no married daughter.)

Said Mrs. Voorhees: "My first husband was a man of considerable wealth, and all my life I have been accustomed to all the luxuries of life and I have always worn $5 corsets, for I could not bear those awful cheap things that are sold in some department stores. So when I asked my husband Saturday for $5 to buy new corsets and he told me $1 corsets were good enough for me"—and here the pretty young woman wept.

"Your Honor, I have always loved Mary," declared Voorhees, "but I earn only $18 a week as a machinist and I thought $5 was too much to pay for one pair of corsets. I am awfully sorry that I have made Mary so unhappy."

"Well, I guess you two young people can live happily," declared the court. "Now go home and try to live happily."

Mr. and Mrs. John Voorhees left the court arm in arm.

Absence of American Ambassador's Wife Causes Big Mix-up at Austrian Court Ball.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA (Austria) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The absence of Mrs. Francis, wife of the American Ambassador and doyenne of the diplomatic corps, from the court ball January 18, indirectly led to an incident which may result in the retirement of the German Ambassador, Herr Tschirschky und Bogendorff, from Vienna, and possibly even in the downfall of Baron von Aehrenthal, the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Shortly before the diplomats, who were assembled outside the ballroom, formed in procession behind the imperial family, the Baron requested the Papal Nuncio to act as escort of Mme. Tschirschky, as being next in seniority to Mrs. Francis. He then walked over to Ambassador Tschirschky, who was talking to the British Ambassadress, Lady Cartwright, whom the German diplomat intended to take in. Baron Aehrenthal calmly took Her Ladyship from him and led her into the ballroom himself.

As doyenne Mme. Tschirschky was entitled to the escort of Baron von Aehrenthal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ARDEN (N. Y.) Jan. 28.—A large force of carpenters and artisans has been put to work on the Harriman estate here and the adoption of a new wing to the big mansion planned by the late magnate has been begun.

Rumors were current for some time that Mrs. Harriman would abandon, or at least curtail, the work begun by her husband. It is now announced, however, that she contemplates even more extensive building than had been outlined by Mr. Harriman.

BAY TRIP IS LOVE FEAST.

San Franciscans Give Angelenos Fine Time.

Visitors Impressed by Busy Maritime Mart.

Exchange Speeches of Good Will at Luncheon.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The visiting members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce were taken on a trip around the bay today by the Reception Committee of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and were shown the great commercial enterprises that line the shore on both sides. The visitors expressed their admiration and surprise at what they saw, coming so soon on the heels of the conflagration of 1906. The start was made from the Washington-street wharf on board the river steamer Isleton at 10:30 a.m. The vessel was gaily decorated with flags, and the excursionists stood on the upper deck, where they viewed the water front to their best advantage.

A string orchestra furnished music during the trip and a luncheon was served below decks, comprising salads, ice cream, cakes and sandwiches, washed down with wine, punch and coffee.

The Isleton proceeded south along the water front to Hunter's Point dry dock and hugged the wharves closely on her return, for the purpose of giving the excursionists a closer view. The Risdon Iron Works, Spreckels sugar refinery, the coal bunkers and the new concrete piers and warehouses elicited admiring comments from the Angelenos.

"That's what we must have at San Pedro some of these days," they said.

A raft of logs floating near China Basin, containing 6,000,000 feet of lumber, was an object lesson as to the commercial activities of the port. Northward the steamer proceeded leisurely past the United States fortifications, the military prison on Alcatraz Island, the quarantine station on Angel Island and as far as Point San Pablo and the Brother's lighthouse. From this point the shore was hugged on the eastern side of the bay, and the visitors had a view of the fine haven, the pier of the Standard Oil Company and Point Richmond.

After passing Point Richmond, the passengers assembled in the cabin, where Lee C. Gates of the Los Angeles delegation, thanked the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce for the hospitable reception that had been given them. He congratulated his hearers on the fact that the glad hand had been extended and accepted by Los Angeles and San Francisco, and pledged his people that hereafter they would work in harmony with San Francisco for the good of the State.

Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, made a speech of similar tenor.

James McNab, former president of the local Chamber of Commerce, congratulated the party on the coming together of the representatives of the two great metropolises of the Pacific Coast.

W. R. Griscom of Los Angeles and Edgar Peixotto also made addresses of congratulation.

The Isleton steamed up Oakland Creek to the ferry landing at the foot of Broadway, where representatives of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce were waiting with automobiles to receive the visitors. The San Francisco delegation returned on the Isleton and were heartily cheered by the Angelenos as the steamer drew out of the wharf.

COURT DECLINES TO QUASH.

Rules Against Heinze and Associates and Sets Hearing to Hear Demurrer Arguments.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Judge Hough denied today the motion to quash the indictments against Sanford Robinson, Arthur P. Heinze, Carlos Warfield, Calvin O. Geer and F. Augustus Heinze. He ordered that the arguments of the five demurrers pending be set for February 7.

The indictments charge conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice in the spiriting away of books and papers of the United Copper Company while under subpoena.

ASK PRESIDENT'S AID.

Republican "Regulars" Call on Executive to Help Stem Tide of House Insurgents.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Representative Dwight of New York, Republican whip; Representatives Boutell of Illinois and Dalzell of Pennsylvania called at the White House to see what aid the President would lend to stem the tide of insurgency, which is said to threaten the existence of the Committee on Rules.

The last cause for alarm on the part of the "regulars" was the Fowler resolution, deposing the Speaker as a member of the Committee on Rules and trebling its membership.

The regulars want the President's help, but Mr. Taft is reluctant to become involved in the factional strife He made it clear that his main purpose is to obtain the enactment of certain legislation to which the Republican party is pledged, and, of course, that he is willing to do what he can to harmonize the elements in the party when the point of action is reached upon any of these measures.

Later today the President had a long talk with Representative Hayes of California, commonly rated as an insurgent, and also with Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania. The purpose of the talk with the Senator was to get an estimate of the chances of success for certain administration measures.

Apparently the prospects were reported favorable for the postal savings bank, the Alaskan bill, the bill validating withdrawal of public lands for conservation purposes, and the bill to enlarge functions of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BREECHES BUOY SAVES.

Fifty-three People Taken Safely Off Wrecked British Torpedo Boat Destroyer.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DOVER (Eng.) Jan. 28.—Fifty-three officers and men were saved from the British torpedo-boat destroyer Eden today by means of the breeches buoy.

The Eden broke from her moorings during a gale in the Channel last night, and was driven ashore off this place. When the tide receded the destroyer was left high and dry and badly damaged.

Her guns, heavy gear and coal were removed in the hope that she could be floated at the next high tide. Unless this is possible the vessel will be pounded to pieces.

One of the small boats of the battleship Albemarle, engaged in salvaging, was overturned, but the fourteen occupants were rescued.

MINISTRY MEETS REBUFF.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 28.—An early rebuff was met by the recently formed Hedervary Cabinet, when the chamber today, with a large majority, voted a want of confidence in the ministry.

The Premier told the deputies he was unable to decide immediately whether to resign or to dissolve Parliament. He then drew from his pocket an imperial rescript adjourning the house to March 4.

You can break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable with a mixture of two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure whiskey. BOXING.

MEMSIC WINS OVER PICATO.

George Outboxes Frank in Good Exhibition.

Al Rogers Is Too Heavy for Charlie Dalton.

Only One Knockout in Card of Five Bouts.

George Memsic beat Frank Picato last night in ten rounds in the main event of the weekly show of the Pacific Athletic Club by not only outboxing Picato, but by beating him at every other angle of the game. About all that Picato had was aggressiveness and, while he made the blood come from Memsic's nose, George made him also look gory by left jabs.

The fact that Memsic outboxed Picato was what might be called the feature of the fight, for boxing is where Picato is supposed to shine. He did not fight as well as he did with Wolgast, or else Memsic was better, for George was always there ready to exchange blows. He started out in the first round by knocking down Picato with a left to the jaw, and several times before the ten rounds were ended he had Frank in trouble. Memsic took a punching, too, for Picato was busy all the way.

There was much clinching in every round, but it was a hard battle all the way. Picato was practically the aggressor in the majority of the rounds, but, strange to say, this did him little good, for Memsic beat him to the left jab continually, Picato's nose bleeding all the time.

There was little exciting about the contest, for one round was much like another in the wrestling and the constant exchange of blows. Memsic played for Picato's stomach and varied this by jabs to the nose which kept Frank guessing every minute. It was a continuous performance of jab and swing to the stomach, and both boys missed many good swings to the head. Picato tried to rough things in the latter part of the fight, but Memsic was just as strong and held his own in the shoving.

Picato's best round was the fourth, and this was the most exciting, both men being groggy before the round was over, with Picato having the shade at the end. Some of the rounds were slow, but, on the whole, it was a very busy fight and a tough one without startling features aside from the first and fourth rounds. A large-sized crowd of sports saw the show and every bug was satisfied, although the programme was drawn out too long by tiresome waits and introductions of pugs that no one cared about.

ROGERS BEAT DALTON.

Al Rogers and Kid Dalton put up one of the best bouts seen here for some time in their ten-round semi-final, and there was fierceness behind every blow, for at weighing-in time Dalton had claimed Rogers's 25 forfeit, as Rogers was overweight.

Every round was a slasher, for they never stopped slugging, leading, and hammering each other. At the end Rogers had lead enough to entitle him to the decision.

Dalton never backed up in any round and from the tap of the first gong to the end of the last one, there was something doing. He fought as best he knew how, and was always willing to mix things, but Rogers was too quick for him. Both came together with a bang in the first round, charging at each other with wild swings, but both missed, and while the round was a fierce one, it was about an even one, and no damage was done. The second was another fierce mixing proposition, both boys landing rights and lefts to the head. This was what might be called an even thing.

Dalton had a very slight shade in the third, and there were some fierce exchanges of rights and lefts, Dalton's best blow being a right to the stomach, and Rogers coming back with a right to the neck.

Rogers had the better of things in the fourth, which was a hummer. He also had the advantage in the fifth, landing the greater number of blows and having the better defense. The sixth was even, and the seventh was Rogers's. The eighth was Dalton's, and every second they slugged each other, each landing at least a dozen good blows. The ninth was another Rogers round, as was the tenth, which was a fast one, full of wild swings and rushes.

ROMAN BEATS RIVERS.

Paul Roman and Andy Rivers furnished a slashing six-round bout in the second number on the card, and in this Roman had the better of it, and should be given the decision. He was the aggressor in almost every round, and carried the fight to Rivers. The latter seemed fat, and after Roman had knocked him down in the first round with a right-hand uppercut as Andy charged in, Rivers was a trifle scared, and really did not open up until the last round.

He has a good left hand, which he jabbed into Roman's face, but the latter did not seem to mind this much, for he replied with equal effectiveness with rights. Roman knocked Rivers down the second time in the second round with a glancing blow on the side of his head.

In the third Rivers came back strong, and slashed into Roman with rights and lefts in fine style, and held his own. In the fourth he had a shade on Roman with lefts to the face.

The fifth was about an even thing, and Rivers had a shade on Roman in the sixth and last.

ONE KNOCKOUT.

Henry Caresse made Chris Johnson quit in the middle of the second round in their scheduled six-round bout, which was the curtain-raiser of the show. This was a bloody, slugging match from the beginning, and Caresse had all the better of the first round, but the noses of both men dripped blood at the end of the opening round. Each was willing and there was no backing up.

Shortly after the second round opened Caresse knocked Johnson down for the count of nine, and when he got up he dropped again from a light glancing blow on the head. He arose the second time to be hit again, and this was enough, for he was glad the thing was over. He was counted out.

As an extra attraction, Bubbles Robinson and Dan Cullen were put on for four rounds, and the former won.

JEFF ON DECK.

WILL FIGHT ANYWHERE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 28.—"Wherever it is necessary to be to get the money, I will be there. It doesn't make any difference what statements are given out or by whom, or whether the place is Salt Lake or San Francisco, or some other place, I will be on hand."

This was the statement made by James J. Jeffries today, regarding his coming fight with Jack Johnson.

Jeffries went on to say that he has no explanation for the various interviews given out by Jack Gleason or "Tex" Rickard, the promoters. He says there is no serious difference between the two promoters.

Asked where he thought the fight would be held, the champion replied: "Gov. Spry of Utah has declared that he will not permit the fight to occur within that State under any circumstances. It ought to be fairly apparent that it will not be held in Salt Lake."

In only one of three talks Jeffries has made since arriving in this vicinity has he intimated that there may be no fight, and in that he says that it will occur unless "Johnson backs down."

At Boise, Idaho, Jeffries declared in a curtain speech that he intended to give Johnson the worst beating a man ever got. He said that he intended to "tear into Johnson from the first tap of the gong and never let up on him until he hits the canvas for the count."

He also said that he believed Johnson was afraid of him, and made some rather uncomplimentary references to the present holder of the championship.

At La Grande, Or., Jeffries's attention was called to recent newspaper reports that there is considerable doubt as to whether the fight ever will occur, and that his intention to return East after visiting Seattle is taken to mean nothing else. In reply, Jeffries said:

"The report of my calling off the fight now or later is the invention of some unscrupulous reporter. I will return East after leaving Seattle, but only to meet my wife, who is ill in a Chicago hospital. I will be in Los Angeles not later than February 15 to begin training for the fight. That gives me plenty of time. All I need is rounding into condition."

Jeffries added that it is uncertain where the fight will be held, but in view of the opposition of Gov. Spry of Utah, he thought San Francisco would be the scene.

Continuing, he said: "All this newspaper talk about Gleason and Rickard is without foundation. They are and always have been the best of friends.

"I am going to see this thing through to a finish," said Jeffries in conclusion, "unless Johnson backs down, July 4, I will again demonstrate the superiority of the white race."

Pendleton was the next place where the big pugilist stopped. Here he was decidedly uncommunicative. About all that could be drawn from him was the statement that he knew nothing of any reported estrangement between Rickard and Gleason, and he declared the story originated in New York City. He also said he had no knowledge of any meeting with Gleason in Portland today. He repeated that he would be in Los Angeles about February 15, adding that he will remain there about forty-five days, and then come up to his training quarter.

When asked where these quarters would be, Jeffries declined to answer.

RICKARD IS FIRM.

PULLS FOR SALT LAKE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ELY (Nev.) Jan. 28.—When asked what assurances he had that the Jeffries-Johnson prize fight would be permitted to be held in Salt Lake City, despite the statement of Gov. Spry to the contrary, "Tex" Rickard said today:

"I have the positive assurance of business men, many of whom are close to the Governor, that a 45-round boxing contest can be held in Salt Lake City, and they have urged me to go on with my arrangements. The Utah law allows boxing contests, and it will be noted that the Governor has declared only that he will not permit a prize fight.

"I am determined to keep the fight away from San Francisco," continued Rickard, "because of the action of Johnny Herget, who, as chairman of the Police Commission of the Board of Supervisors, tried to pull one over on me when he thought I had been shut out of Utah. From Herget's alleged statement that no Nevada man can come into California perhaps we are to understand that Nevadans cannot even go to California to buy supplies.

"In view of the attitude of the chairman of the Police Commission I am determined to keep the fight out of California if it is in my power to do so. You can say positively that Salt Lake City can handle the fight and that it will go there."

BROCK GETS DRAW.

HYLAND FINISHES STRONG.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Although Phil Brock, the Cleveland lightweight, set all the pace in the early rounds of his fight with Fighting Dick Hyland of San Francisco tonight, at Tommy Ryan's Athletic Club, the boy from the Coast came back strong in the last four rounds, forcing most of the fighting and hammering the Ohioan into retreat, which must have caused Referee Ryan to declare the eight-round contest a draw.

A crowd that almost filled the building witnessed the bout, which was vicious from the outset, when, in an opening rally Brock partly closed Hyland's right eye with frequent left-handed jabs. He continued to use lefts on Hyland's nose and in the third round blood flowed freely from Hyland.

Both boys finished strong and full of fight, with Hyland showing his fondness for a longer route.

Brock seemed in the pink of condition; Hyland was slow and seemed weak in the opening rounds from apparent lack of condition.

GLEASON IS CONFIDENT.

WILL TAKE OVER CONTRACT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—"I have secured an arena in Alameda county and the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be held there."

This is the statement made late today by Jack Gleason. He said further:

"I am not responsible for the attitude of Supervisor Herget and my sole object in applying to him for a permit was a desire on my part to hold the big fight in my native town. I have been offered any number of places within easy reach of this city as locations for my fight arena, and the refusal of the Police Commission of the Board of Supervisors to grant a permit will not interfere with my plans to hold the fight near San Francisco.

"I propose to live up to my agreement and Rickard is perfectly welcome to join me here. But if he continues to maintain his present attitude I will take over the contract and hold the fight without his assistance.

"I am going to Portland, Or., Sunday, to meet Jeffries, and after interviewing him will at once get into touch with Johnson with the object of definitely settling the question."

VALE, LANDMARK.

MATINEE GIVES TRACK FINALE.

Last Driving Club Card Before Reconstruction.

Out West Club to Furnish Cowboy Features.

Famous Stands to Entertain Farewell Crowds.

The combined Driving Club matinée and wild west show to be given at Agricultural Park at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon will mark the closing card of the historic race track, which has been the scene of typical county fairs, racing meets and bookmakers' scandals.

This afternoon blooded horses will show their paces for the last time before the reconstruction is begun; the weather-beaten grand stand, which has felt the tramp of thousands of delirious race followers, will shelter its last concourse of lovers of horseflesh, and for the last time the judges and starters will control the wrangling drivers from the old official box.

Within a short time the old grand stand will be removed, the paddocks and stables will be leveled to the ground, graceful amusement stands will rise and usher in the birth of a great playground for the public, and a new speedway will be built. Hence today's programme marks another milestone in the history of the old site, and all the old-timers who witnessed the stirring races of the old regime are expected to be present.

The harness events of the matinée portion of the card should furnish classy races. Secretary Delorey of the Driving Club has secured the best obtainable talent for the closing events, and he asserts the programme will be fully up to the standard of the previous matinée cards. Chief of the events is the 2:25 trot, which gives promise of a close struggle between Maseppa, Leonora M. and Armes.

Other events will be a 2:20 trot, a 2:25 pace and a 2:30 trot. Sandwiched between the driving heats are to be given exhibition stunts of a "Wild West" order by members of the Out West Club. The mixed card should be of unusual interest, and furnish sufficient variety for the most particular.

Among the features to be given by the Out West riders are bronco "busting" by Mrs. Del Blancett, cowboy sports, including roping, rope spinning and picking up, fancy shooting, quadrille on horseback, pony express race and reproduction of the Greely stage coach hold-up.

The most interesting event of the show is expected to be the exhibition of wild horse riding by Mrs. Blancett. This fearless horsewoman is connected with the famous "101" rancho of Oklahoma, and is billed as the champion woman "buster" of the world. She asserts she will ride any horse brought to the track, and several man-throwing nags have been secured for her special benefit.

PROGRAMME OF EVENTS.

The entries for the matinée events are:

The 2:30 trot: Sea Girl, Orena, Jack Connor, Bennie Ted, Julia Clay, Carucre.

AUTOISTS THREATEN TO SELL GARAGES AND SHOPS.

San Diego Officials Arraigned Because of Many Arrests for Speeding—Motorists Pay for Entertaining Washington Boosters in the Southern City.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 28.—Alleging that the war declared by Superintendent of Police Schon on automobilists who allege they exceed the speed limit is resulting in serious injury to the automobile business in this city, and keeping outside autoists away, a committee representing all automobile dealers of the city today issued a statement to the effect that unless the "persecution" ceased they would make arrangements to dispose of their garages and agencies.

They claim they are prosecuted on the sole evidence of the policemen who "clock" them, and have no redress; that often they are arrested when not exceeding the speed limit and fined because they have no witnesses in the auto with them to testify as to how fast they were going.

The declaration of the automobile dealers today comes as a result of the wholesale arrests made following the entertainment here with automobile rides of the Washington State "boosters" Wednesday, when a large number of warrants were issued for the arrest of automobile drivers for speeding.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

Four Fives of Y.M.C.A. to Play Final Games of Association Series for Championships.

The deciding games in the interassociation championship series of the Y.M.C.A. basketball games are to be contested tonight, starting at 8 o'clock. The Spartans are to play the Spiders, and the Wasps will tackle the Thistles. The teams of the first match have each won two games, while the last two teams have each lost two contests.

Both games promise plenty of excitement for the spectators. The Spartans have been playing together for three years, and boast one of the strongest fives in Southern California. The Spiders, while really classed in the lightweight division, are confident of defeating the veterans. They have been practicing faithfully and play well together.

The Wasps and Thistles, while the losers in the games of the series, are well matched and should put up a whirlwind contest. Next week Physical Director Reynolds is to issue a call for candidates for the association team, and games are to be scheduled with teams representing Southern California athletic clubs and associations.

For the last four years the representative teams of the south have been playing in the Southern California Basketball League. This year the league will not be formed and the teams will arrange individual schedules.

ident Lynch Asks Time for Committee.

Murphy Talks for Himself, Not League.

Interests Are Not Given Consideration.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—President [illegible] J. Lynch of the National [illegible], today issued a statement asking club owners to refrain from criticising the Schedule Committee until [illegible] shall be laid before them at [illegible] annual meeting.

Incidentally, President Lynch regrets that President Charles W. Murphy of the Chicago club, has seen fit, if correctly quoted, to criticise the new [illegible] now in process of adoption by the Joint Rules Committee.

President Lynch said: "If Mr. Murphy has been correctly quoted, I wish to state that he is expressing only the views of Charles W. Murphy, president of one club of our league. He does not speak for the National League. No criticism of the work of the Rules Committee is in order until changes are officially promulgated by that committee, and, if I understand correctly the provisions of the national agreement, the power of such committee is absolute, and its acts are not subject to revision or approval by any major league. This is as it should be, for the making of rules must be left to the whims or caprices of individual club owners. The private interests of no league club were considered at the Pittsburgh meeting. The deliberations of the committee and the men of the league who were present were most thorough and painstaking, and had only the best interests of the game at heart in view. I do not expect the committee's report to meet with unanimous approval, but I do expect the usual courtesy of the club owners when they have something officially placed before them.

"The same views go for the Schedule Committee. After four days' work the National League representatives adopted both a 168 and a 154-game schedule.

"The American delegates, even though committed to a 154-game schedule, were fair enough to give up two games to assist us in framing our 168-game schedule. Both long and short schedules will be ready for consideration by the National League at its January meeting. Neither one of the schedules is common property, therefore, criticism of the committee at this time is out of order until the National League meets as a body to adopt a schedule it considers most equitable."

REFORM.

INTS TO CUT COLLEGE DATES

L CONFINE ALL ATHLETICS TO OWN STUDENTS.

Grand Avenue Institution to Exclude All Relations With Other Schools and Athletic Organizations. Aim Is to Better Serve Interests of Good Scholarship.

St. Vincent's College is henceforth to confine its athletics to its own students, and exclude any and all relations with other colleges and athletic organizations. Father Glass announced the intentions of the college athletic authorities to this effect last night, and hereafter the Catholics will play all their games and hold their contests within the confines of their own athletic field.

In taking this drastic action Father Glass asserted he believed the authorities were best subserving the interests of good scholarship among the students. Moreover, by fostering athletics within the school, the majority of the student body will derive the benefits heretofore obtained by the select few who represent the college in contests with outsiders.

The ruling of St. Vincent's athletic policies is directly in line with the athletic reforms instituted by Principal Francis of Polytechnic High School, who has restricted athletics to the members of Poly High students only. This action raised a storm of protest among the students of the big high school.

What the effect of the unexpected action of St. Vincent's College will be is a matter of wide conjecture. For many years athletic relations between St. Vincent's and the other Southern California colleges have been unsatisfactory and involved considerable bad feeling, particularly on the part of the conference colleges, which have never been healed.

St. Vincent's College has been refused admission to the conference because of alleged professionalism in the ranks of the Catholic athletic body. How much truth there was to these accusations has never been known, but the three or four other conference colleges, acting together, have always prevented the chance of athletic relations with the Saints.

Should one or more of the conference colleges would arrange games with the Saints outside the conference circuit, but such contests generally added more fuel to the fire of intercollegiate wrangling.

Walter Rheinschild, as coach during the last year in football, laid down one plank of clean athletics in his coaching platform. He made good, and with a handful of athletes developed one of the strongest elevens the Saints have ever produced. "Rheine" recently signed a contract for another year's coaching. Whether the coach will be retained next year under the new policy has not been decided, as the action will involve a complete reorganization of student athletics.

SOCIETY TURNS OUT.

Portland Elite Sees Automobile Show and Thousands of Machines Are Parked.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Society night at the automobile show in the armory proved to be the real big night of the exhibit. The decorations and the exhibits, a spectacle in themselves, with the brilliant assemblage, made a beautiful picture.

Drawn up along the curb on both sides of the street for two blocks south and a block each way from the Tenth-street entrance was the most complete turnout of self-propelled vehicles possibly ever seen in Portland. Electric broughams and victorias, handsome limousines and landaulets, three-passenger runabouts, and touring cars of every size made up the exhibit on the street.

Handsomely gowned women wearing costly jewels, escorted by correspondingly well dressed men, thronged the halls and exhibit rooms of the armory. The attendance was the largest of the show, estimated at 40,000. It included many of the upper social set of the city.

All the exhibitors had added special decorations to their exhibits and nearly all gave away souvenirs, some of them costly.

PAULHAN MUST ANSWER.

Court Will Wait no Longer Than February First to Listen to His Explanation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Consideration of the request of Wilbur and Orville Wright for a temporary injunction to keep Louis Paulhan, the French aviator, from giving exhibitions in Farman and Blériot machines because of alleged infringement of patents, was put over until February 1 by Judge Hand today in the United States Circuit Court.

Clarence J. Shearn, counsel for Paulhan, said he would be unable to argue his case until he had seen his client, who is expected in New York on February 6.

Pliny W. Williamson, for the Wrights, said Paulhan had had ample time to return to New York from Los Angeles, where his engagement expired January 20, but that he had put in the time looking for other engagements. He said that he would not agree to further delay unless Mr. Shearn would consent to a stay or would give bond for the profits of exhibitions given by Paulhan.

Mr. Shearn said he could not do that.

MARATHON RACE SUNDAY.

Mayor McCarthy will act as starter, and the officials are five judges, several Supervisors, sporting writers of the press, and merchants. Betting is brisk at even money.

The manager of Henri St. Yves announces that the Frenchman is still here, and will be at the race next Sunday to challenge the winner, though he is scheduled to race in Los Angeles on February 6.

LOST OUT.

DISGRUNTLED DILLON WHIPS NEW POLICE COMMISSIONER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Local politicians and sports are laughing over the defeat of Tom Dillon, the hatter, who tried to use his political influence to become manager of a prize fight club.

Dillon worked hard to secure the election of McCarthy as Mayor, and openly said he would surely be rewarded as a Police Commissioner. Several weeks ago Dillon became interested in the Mission Athletic Club, and went to see Mayor McCarthy relative to getting a permit for the Nelson-Gans fight for February 22. The Mayor told him it would be all right, but a fine check for training expenses was sent Nelson by Sid Hester, manager of the club.

But when Dillon actually applied for a permit he was referred to Lawyer Dorn, the Mayor's legal adviser, and found that to get the permit he must guarantee $12,000, which were McCarthy's unpaid campaign bills. Dillon declined.

Then the Metropolitan Athletic Club was formed, with Louis Blot as manager and Dorn as the real head, and this club secured the fight permit for February. Dillon's experience furnishes a good illustration of the politics done by the Union Labor Mayor.

This afternoon Dillon and Flannery, the new chairman of the Police Commission, quarreled in front of Flannery's saloon, and Dillon whipped Flannery.

GLAVIS WITNESS.

Association, of which Gifford Pinchot recently was chosen president. This afternoon's matter began:

"The important developments of the morning session today were," and then went on to recite that the proceedings had placed Secretary Ballinger in an adverse light. It was said that this service would continue throughout the investigation.

Thomas R. Shipp, former secretary to Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who resigned that position to become press agent of the Bureau of Forestry under Mr. Pinchot, and who became an officer of the Conservation Commission when it was formed, is a constant attendant at the hearing.

The morning session was devoted to an endeavor by the "prosecution" to show the haste in which Mr. Ballinger, as Commissioner of the Land Office, had urged the Cunningham Alaska claims to "clear listing" for patent. Aside from documentary evidence read, the afternoon session was taken up almost wholly with Glavis's story of his interviews with Mr. Ballinger concerning the Cunningham land cases.

THOROUGH PROBE ORDERED.

Glavis declared that, although he was directed by Mr. Ballinger, as Commissioner of the Land Office, December 13, 1907, to make a thorough examination of all the Alaskan coal lands cases, sparing no one, the Cunningham claims were ordered "clear listed" for patent in less than a month thereafter. On his protest by wire and mail, Glavis said the clear listing was revoked.

All the members of the committee were present at the opening of the session. Mr. Pinchot and his dismissed assistant of the Forest Service were early on hand, but Secretary Ballinger again was absent.

Attorney Brandeis, representing Glavis, presented to the committee a long list of witnesses to be summoned.

Glavis took up his story where he left it Wednesday afternoon, giving his testimony in response to questions from his attorney.

Glavis said that United States Attorney Hoyt had suggested to him in 1907 that he should take up the matter of the Alaska coal lands direct with Secretary of the Interior Garfield.

"But I did not think it would look well to go over the heads of my immediate superiors," Glavis added.

Glavis said he did write to P. H. Schwartz, then a chief of the field division, saying he was worried about the Alaskan situation, and would like to confine in him.

"It will pain you as much as it has pained me," the letter ran, "but I am sure you will want to learn the true situation."

"What Alaska claims did you refer to in that letter?" asked Representative Olmstead.

"All of them," replied the witness.

"Some 900 in all?"

"Yes."

At that time Secretary Ballinger was Commissioner of the Land Office.

SHOWS GLAVIS'S ACTIVITY.

Attorney Brandeis next took up the printed document in the case, which consists of 807 pages, and spent some time in calling the attention of the committee to various letters, telegrams, etc., tending to show Glavis's activity in Alaska cases. The attorney said he also wanted to call attention to certain letters which showed the part Mr. Ballinger played as commissioner in directing the inquiry. The purpose in this, he said, was to indicate that President Taft and Atty.-Gen. Wickersham were mistaken when they reached the stated conclusion that Mr. Ballinger's participation in the matter had been merely formal.

Among the letters read was one from Special Agent H. T. Jones, calling attention to the allegation of the fraudulent character of the Alaskan claims.

"That letter was written before Glavis came into the matter in any way?" questioned Senator Nelson.

"Yes," replied Mr. Brandeis.

"Then you don't claim Glavis originally called attention to these claims?"

"No. In addition to Jones's report there had been one from Special Agent Love."

"Didn't Love recommend the Cunningham claim for clear listing?" asked Representative Madison.

"It didn't amount to a recommendation exactly," replied counsel.

At this point Senato Sutherland said:

"It seems to me we are getting a great deal more testimony out of counsel than out of the witness."

Thereupon, the examination of Glavis was resumed.

Glavis told of a visit to Washington in December, 1907, when he took up with officials of the Land Office the matter of the Alaska claims. He told Mr. Schwartz that people in Seattle were saying there would be no further investigation of the claims in Alaska, and the patents would be granted.

"I said there was great danger of another big scandal equal to that in Wyoming and Colorado, where the investigation of the coal land cases had been suppressed," declared Glavis.

"Who suppressed those investigations?" demanded Senator Paynter.

"It was testified at Salt Lake that former Commissioner Richards did—Mr. Ballinger had no connection with it in any way."

SURE OF PATENTS.

"Why were people in Seattle saying they would get their patents?" asked Mr. James.

"I don't know," replied Glavis; "I know of no reasons they may have had."

"Who made these statements?" inquired Mr. Olmstead.

"They were made by a number of claimants in the Hunt group. I can't recall the names."

After his interview with Mr. Schwartz, Glavis was conducted to Mr. Ballinger's office. As a result of his visit to Washington and the story he told, Glavis immediately was placed in charge of all the Alaska cases.

"What did you say to Mr. Ballinger?"

"I told him I thought we could cancel all the Alaskan claims; that a lot of prominent people had formed a pool, and that the evidence would prove it."

"What did Mr. Ballinger say to you?"

"He said a number of the claimants were friends and former business associates of his, and that there had been a lot of talk that they would get their patents.

"'Now Glavis,' he said, 'when you get back to Seattle, I want you to let it be publicly known that you have started this investigation and I want it to be thorough, no matter whom it hurts. You are to go right after them, whether they are friends of mine or not.'"

"Did he mention names of his friends?"

"Yes, he spoke of H. C. Henry and C. J. Smith, both of whom were in the Cunningham group.

Glavis said he went back to work happy and satisfied that there was to be a thorough investigation and that he had worried unnecessarily about a possible scandal.

Glavis declared it was December 13, 1907, he had his interview with Commissioner Ballinger. January 7, 1908, less than a month after he had been directed to make the investigation, a letter was addressed to him by Mr. Ballinger stating that the Cunningham claims had been "clear listed" from the investigating division for patent.

January 22, 1908, Glavis sent a telegram and letter protesting against the clear listing of the claims and they were withdrawn and sent back to the investigating division.

READS FROM RECORD.

Mr. Brandeis read further from the printed record to show that the first order to clear list the Cunningham claims was issued by the mineral division December 26, 1907, thirteen days after the Glavis interview with Commissioner Ballinger. The order, however, was held up by direction of Schwartz.

One order for clear listing, so far as the mineral division was concerned, had been issued December 6, 1907, prior to Glavis's visit to Washington, but this, too, was held up by Mr. Schwartz.

In calling attention to certain evidence he wished to introduce, Mr. Brandeis commented rather freely on it.

"Let me suggest that you avoid argument of the effect of evidence," said Senator Nelson, sharply. "Just state the evidence you desire to submit without argument. Your argument is not objectionable but it delays the proceedings."

At the opening of the afternoon session Attorney Brandeis offered in evidence the journal of Clarence Cunningham of Wallace, Idaho, agent in all the Cunningham claims, which contained the entry:

"Have agreed with Mr. W. B. Heyburn, in consideration for his services as attorney, to carry him for one claim of 160 acres in the coal, free of cost to him, and he agrees to do all our legal work in procuring titles, etc."

In an affidavit made subsequent to the loss of his journal, Cunningham made public a letter from Senator Heyburn of Idaho in which the Senator said:

"I do not desire to participate in or be interested in any manner, directly or indirectly, in acquiring public lands. Whatever services I may perform properly within my duty as a public official for yourself or any other constituent I shall cheerfully perform, but not for any consideration, directly or indirectly. I do not desire any interest to be carried for me or my account with a view to any present or future profit to myself."

CUNNINGHAM STATEMENT.

Cunningham preceded this letter with the statement:

"As soon as I became aware that coal lands could not be taken in Alaska under the mineral laws, Mr. Heyburn informed me in person that he could not act under said agreement."

The journal contained, under date of 1903, an agreement among the Cunningham claimants to form a company, each claimant to give Cunningham one-eighth of his stock in return for services rendered.

Glavis told further of his investigation into the alleged fraud of the Cunningham group and said that when he first approached Cunningham the claimant declared he had heard complaint had been made that he represented the Guggenheims. He denied this, and to carry out the denial submitted the journal to Glavis, who held it as evidence against Cunningham.

About this time, Glavis said, he met ex-Gov. Moore, one of the Cunningham claimants. Moore told him he had seen all the papers in the Land Office; that there was nothing to prevent the issuance of patents and that if it had not been for Glavis's protest the land would already have gone to patent.

The witness said it had always been understood that reports to the Land Office by the special agents were confidential and he believed there was a rule to this effect.

There was then offered in evidence a letter from Clarence Cunningham, dated at Seattle, January 15, 1908, addressed to the Register of the Land Office, Juneau, Alaska, in which were these statements:

"I am glad to know you sent your office copies on to Washington, for I am advised by Gov. Moore he is assured by the department chiefs that patents will be issued you on arrival of plats unless some reason for withholding same is advanced by Special Field Agent Glavis, which is not expected.

"The commissioner has furnished us with copies of all the correspondence and telegrams relating to our entries between the various special agents and also with your office. Up to date, everything seems to be approved by each special agent and department chief. So now our only delay will be occasioned through failure to receive plats, according to Judge Ballinger's advice."

INTERVIEWS WITH CHIEF.

Glavis testified to an interview he had with Mr. Ballinger in Seattle in the middle of March, 1908, two weeks or so after Mr. Ballinger had resigned as commissioner. A letter was introduced, showing that, prior to April 1, 1908, Mr. Ballinger had requested information regarding some of the land claims from Fred Dennett, his successor.

Glavis said he knew Judge Ballinger would be bothered by a lot of people in Seattle as soon as he returned there after leaving the government service, and he wanted to lay his side of the case before him first.

"But he was not a government official then?" suggested Glavis's counsel.

"But I regarded him as such," replied Glavis.

"Mr. Ballinger told me," the witness continued, "there had been a lot of muckraking, and that I ought to be careful before making specific charges against any one. At a subsequent interview with Mr. Ballinger, I told him Cunningham was accusing me of having stolen his journal. He told me not to worry; that Cunningham evidently was spreading this story to square himself with his principals for doing such a silly thing as to give the journal to me."

As to the Guggenheims' interest in the Cunningham claims, Attorney Brandeis read a letter from Field Chief Schwartz, dated September 23, 1908, which said, among other things:

"While Cunningham is strenuous in his affidavits that they are not a part of, or bonded to the Guggenheims, it is a little peculiar that their memorandum book of expenses incurred should proceed along from day to day with great detail from the inception of the claim in 1902 until December, 1907, and then close with:

"The above sum was received from Daniel Guggenheim in full for expense incurred on account of the examination of coal lands on his account—check received $1359.60."

"IN A BAD FIX."

Glavis told of another interview with Ballinger, in Portland, Or., in October, 1908, during the course of which, the witness said Mr. Ballinger remarked that the Cunningham claimants were in a bad fix and asked if he (Glavis) knew of any way they could get title to the land.

"I told him," the witness continued, "that if the claimants would relinquish their claims, their wives and friends might file on the land, provided they did so without agreement and could go to patent without trouble.

"Mr. Ballinger said he thought this arrangement would leave the cases in the same fix."

Representative Denby interrupted:

"Wasn't your suggestion rather looking to an evasion of the law than a compliance with it?"

"Well," said Glavis, "the Cunningham claims were always considered the strongest."

"What do you mean by strongest?"

"That the claimants were the most influential and more apt to have their claims approved, and I thought if we could get them to relinquish their claims all the other 900 or 900 in Alaska might follow suit. That was my object."

Mr. McCall: Wouldn't it have impossible for the wives and friends of these claimants to have filed upon relinquished claims without previous agreement?"

"That was Mr. Ballinger's objection to the plan."

Glavis said Mr. Ballinger spoke of the difficulty he was having in securing campaign contributions.

"He said," declared the witness, "that H. C. Henry and C. J. Smith, two of the Cunningham claimants, had usually been liberal contributors, but they were mad because they had not received patents to their lands, and would not give anything. I told Mr. Ballinger I was under orders to investigate the claims held by these men. He said he wished I would not act on them until after the election. I told him I wouldn't act, and I did not. I was in the midst of a big conspiracy case in Oregon, and could not have given any attention to the other matter if I had wanted to. And then, it was a favor to Mr. Ballinger as well."

OVERLOOKED TECHNICALITY.

Glavis said he next saw Mr. Ballinger in Seattle in February, 1909, after it had been announced that Mr. Ballinger had been selected as Secretary of the Interior in President Taft's Cabinet. They discussed the coal cases, and Mr. Ballinger said he thought that where there had been only a technical violation of the law, the patents ought to be issued. Glavis said he agreed with him.

Glavis said he was ordered, May 2, 1908, to discontinue the Alaskan inquiry and take up the Oregon case, where he had recommended that, if something were not done at once, the statute of limitations soon would prove a bar.

"But I also said the Alaska investigations should not be dropped at that time," added Glavis.

Reading from Atty.-Gen. Wickersham's report to the President on the Glavis charges, Attorney Brandeis quoted this sentence:

"He (Glavis) might have added he has never taken any action whatever to bring those criminal prosecutions which he advised the Land Office must be brought before October, 1908, to escape the bar of the statute of limitations."

"Is that true?" demanded Mr. Brandeis.

"It is not," answered Glavis. "In May or April, I took the Alaska cases up with United States Attorney Todd, at Seattle. He afterward wrote to me saying he had laid the matter before the Department of Justice, as there was some doubt in his mind as to whether he should lay the cases before the Seattle grand jury, where the claimants lived, or in Alaska, where the claims were located.

"In June, 1908, I prepared a report on this subject to Commissioner Dennett; but, learning he was to be in Oregon soon, I did not send it. When he came to Oregon we discussed the entire situation. Dennett said he did not think there should be any criminal prosecution; that he thought it was sufficient if the claims were cancelled."

OFFENSE DEFINED.

Representative James: "What criminal offense had the claimants committed?"

"Conspiracy to defraud the United States."

Representative James: "And that involved perjury?"

"Yes."

Representative James: "But Dennett took the view that if they were kept out of the land that was sufficient?"

"Yes."

Glavis said he was ordered back on the Alaska cases in November, 1908, but did not actually take them up until March, 1909. He was busy on other matters. He could have assigned agents to the case, but he preferred to give it his personal attention, as it involved millions of dollars.

If he had not been taken off the work in May, 1908, Glavis declared, he would have had final reports in the Land Office in the fall of that year.

At 5:12 o'clock adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock a.m. Saturday.

The following witnesses were subpoenaed today at the request of the "prosecution:" Horace T. Jones, special agent, Land Office, Portland, Or.; Arthur R. Bowman, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Andrew Kenney, Seattle; Henry M. Hoyt, Attorney-General of Porto Rico; P. C. Richardson, Seattle.

EVENTS IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

FIFTY-FIVE bachelors were hosts last evening at their annual ball, which was given at the California Club. It was the final stand of two score and fifteen good-looking members, whose ranks have been so sadly depleted of late by the series of marriages in which prominent members of the club have figured.

Decked with masses of greenery and choice blossoms, the rooms were tastefully arranged for the function. The walls were banked with huckleberry branches and bamboo, together with hundreds of red and white cherry blossoms. A wealth of asparagus ferns and garlands of smilax formed a canopy overhead, and at the entrance to the ballroom huge clusters of cherry blossoms were arranged, and on either side a stately bay tree stood guard. The club monogram in gold hung over the archways, at the side of which were graceful bows of red satin ribbon. The mantels were concealed with Japanese plants and Kentia palms.

A sunset effect, obtained by different-colored lights secluded in banks of bamboo, further enhanced the brilliant scene. Later the lights cast a soft glow as of moonlight, and the last dance was stepped by the light of the moon. The decorations were arranged by J. Will Wolters and Arthur Dodworth, two of the bachelors.

Above stairs, where a banquet was served, the rooms were lighted with 250 glass lanterns imported from Germany for the occasion. A mound of ferns rested in the center of each table, and at each place a corsage of violets and daffodils was arranged.

There is scarcely a possibility that the same fifty-five will ever meet again in a like function. If the affair had been a confessional last evening instead of a ball, almost every man present would have been obliged to admit that he is in danger of soon becoming a benedick. The programmes, which were in two shades of gray, embossed in gold, with the monogram in gold and black, bore the quaint inscription from Shakespeare, "When I said I would die a bachelor, I did not think I would live till I were married."

This possibility, however, did not interfere with the enjoyment of the evening. Fun was on tap from the start, and before the inviting supper was served every guest present was certain that the Bachelors had never given anything half so successful. The members who deserted this season are Benton Van Nuys, Robert Flint, Harold Cook, Russell Taylor, George Keating, Walter Clark, Roy Burbank, Charles Hopper, L. W. Jutten, C. Wesley Roberts and Rufus Spaulding.

The patronesses last evening were Mrs. Hancock Banning, Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mrs. William M. Garland, Mrs. Walter Scott Newhall, Mrs. I. N. Van Nuys, Mrs. Hugh Livingston Macneil, Mrs. Granville MacGowan, Mrs. Walter Leeds and Mrs. Earnest A. Bryant.

The Bachelors are Morgan Adams, William H. Averill, Capt. William Banning, William Barnard, Dr. Winthrop Blackstone, Arthur W. Bucmiller, Charles H. Burnett, Charleton Burke, Bert Campbell, Power Conway, W. Kay Crawford, Henry F. Daly, Richard J. Dillon, Arthur A. Dodworth, George Ennis, M. L. Graff, Charles H. Hastings, Charles A. Henderson, Barbee S. Hook, Volney E. Howard, Carl C. Klokke, Philo L. Lindley, John Llewellyn, Reese Llewellyn, Cloyd Lott, LeRoy Macomber, John MacFarland, Maynard McFie, W. R. Millar, Ygnacio Mott, Dr. Bertrand Smith, Dr. A. J. Murrietta, Gurney E. Newlin, James Page, Gregory Perkins, Jr., William P. Reid, E. B. Robinson, F. S. Van Pelt, Louis F. Vetter, Olin Wellborn, Jr., Alfred H. Wilcox, Dr. Ralph Williams, J. W. Wilkinson and John William Wolters.

Several fashionable dinner parties preceded the ball. Among the hostesses was Mrs. E. Avery McCarthy, who entertained at the Alexandria in compliment to Miss Elizabeth Averill of New York. A mound of orchids and ferns formed the centerpiece, and concealed in the greenery were imported butterflies with jeweled wings. The guests were Mrs. Walter Scott Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Hancock Banning, William Averill, Miss Katherine Mellus, Volney Howard, Henry Van Dyke and Mr. McCarthy.

Will Wolters also presided at a dinner.

WIFE FEARS TRAGEDY.

Butcher Has Been Absent Three Days. Spouse Is Afraid He's Been Murdered.

Lee Romain of No. 505 East Twenty-third street, a butcher, left his home three days ago and has not been seen since.

Made uneasy by the long absence of her husband, Mrs. Romain called at the Police Station last night and asked the detectives to help her find her husband. She said she feared he had been robbed and murdered, as Romain carried $50 with him when he left his home.

When last seen, Romain, who is 49 years of age, wore a soft brown hat and a gray coat. He is five feet eight inches in height, and about 185 pounds in weight.

VIOLATION OF PAROLE.

E. W. McCollum, on probation with a sentence of 180 days hanging over him for petty embezzlement, was arrested last night by Detectives Jones and Boyd and locked up in the City Jail on a charge of violating his parole. The officers say that McCollum, who had been drinking rather hard, was making the rounds of the saloons with a $100 check on a Bakersfield bank. He found no one to cash the check and still had it with him when he was locked up.

THE WINNING TALKERS.

Pasadena, Covina, Anaheim and Santa Barbara Teams Come Out Ahead in the Debates.

The debate between Pasadena and Huntington Beach High School, in the Southern California Debating League, held last night at the Crown City, was won by the former by 26 1-2 points to 15 1-2. The question was: "Resolved, that a constitutional amendment for the direct election of United States Senators would be for the best interests of the people." Huntington Beach was represented by Irwin Farrar and Miss Vade Reynolds, while the winning team was composed of Harold Prince and Donald Fox. The judges were Prof. W. F. Stevenson of Occidental College, Prof. F. B. Brackett of Pomona and Dist.-Atty. F. M. Davis of Santa Ana.

Occidental Academy and Covina High School debated at the latter place last night on the question, "Resolved, that the suffrage should be extended to women." Covina won with 20 2½ points against 18 1-2. The affirmative was taken by Occidental, which was represented by Pritchard and Miss Lois Caskey. The debaters for Covina were Miss Albine Power and Leslie Shipway.

At Long Beach the High School team there was defeated in the interscholastic debate by Santa Barbara by 192 to 178.

At Anaheim, the High School team of that place won from the Polytechnic High School of Los Angeles by 200 2-3 points to 180 1-3.

TWO WOMEN QUARREL.

One Is Stabbed With a Picket Knife. Wound Is Dressed at the Receiving Hospital.

Alice Hall was stabbed over the right ear last night in a quarrel with Bee Collier at the Palace Hotel, at the corner of Stevenson avenue and Hewitt street. The Collier woman used a pocket knife and made a wound one inch long and about two inches deep.

Some outsider, apparently, sent in the call for the patrol wagon, for when the vehicle arrived with Detectives Hosick and Zeigler, they were met with flat denials that there had been any trouble or that any one was in need of assistance.

"I think that somebody is sick over across the street," said the clerk, a very black negress, and she stuck to her story that there had been not the least disturbance about the place.

"If this woman wants a doctor or an officer, she'll send for one, and you quit worrying her," spouted "Red" Taylor, the negro umpire, addressing Detective Zeigler.

But the officers were not to be denied so easily. They made no show of temper, but finally found the injured woman in a room on the second floor and the Collier woman on the floor above.

MAN OF MANY HATS.

Detectives Introduce Him to a Place Where It Is Stylish to Go Bareheaded.

J. Campos met Detectives Dixon and McNamara in East First street last night and took his hats off to them as politely as if they were a whole barbers' convention. Incidentally, Campos is where he will not need a hat for a little while, at least, as the fashion in the City Jail is to go bareheaded.

Sixty-seven hats was the complement carried by Campos when the detectives ran across him, and they were all rather good hats, too. But he only wore one of the hats. The others were in two big boxes which he carried with him. Compos had apparently tired of most of the hats, for he was trying to sell them to some of the close-bargaining little Yiddish merchants down East First street.

Campos could not satisfactorily explain to the detectives how he came by so many "hats," and the suspicious sleuths began insinuating all sorts of uncharitable things. One of the most disconcerting insinuations was that the hats must have come from the burglary of some big store, either here or elsewhere.

A corporation which devotes its energies exclusively to raising skunks is being organized at Bridgeport, by Connecticut men, with B. M. Mills of New Boston, at its head. The promoters say they can guarantee big dividends, as there is a heavy demand for their product in three directions—the pelts, meat and oil—all commanding good prices.

S.S.S. THE REMEDY FOR SORES AND ULCERS

There is but one way to cure an old sore or chronic ulcer, and that is to remove the cause that produces and keeps it open. No matter where located, any sore that remains until it becomes chronic does so because of impure blood; the circulation constantly discharges its polluted matter into the place and it is impossible for nature to heal the sore. S.S.S. heals sores and ulcers by purifying the blood. It removes every trace of taint or impurity from the circulation, and thus completely does away with the cause. No local application reaches below the infected flesh at the spot, and for this reason can have no curative effect on a sore or ulcer; while such treatment is being used alone, the germs and impurities are constantly increasing in the blood and the sore is bound to grow worse. When S.S.S. has cleansed the blood and enriched and purified the circulation the place begins to take on a more healthy appearance, the different symptoms show improvement, the flesh around the ulcer gets firm, new skin and tissues are formed, and aided by pure, rich blood, nature provides a perfect and lasting cure. Under the tonic and blood-purifying effects of S.S.S., the system is built up, and those whose health has been impaired by the drain and worry of an old sore will be greatly benefited by its use. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free to all who write.

FOR SALE—
MOTOR-CAR SERVICE TO ORANGE COVE.
That Orange Cove is suburban property today is evidenced by the recent action of the Southern Pacific in installing a motor-car service to that point. This gives Orange Cove residents quick, easy transportation to and from Los Angeles. It makes the purchase of this splendid acreage a remarkable investment opportunity. You can buy this fine orange land, with water, for only $250 per acre on terms of $5 per acre cash and $5 per acre monthly. It's buying suburban property, only 10 miles out, at the price of ordinary country acreage. Within a few years this land will be in demand for building lots, every lot worth more than present-buyers pay per acre.
The frost did not touch Orange Cove. It's at an elevation above the frost, close to the foothills, true orange soil with water, a share of water stock with every acre purchased. Conditions are perfect, also, for strawberries and other small fruits and for vegetables. Buy now. Cultivate your land. You can make a good living and a nice income from your investment. Within a few years sell if you like and take your profit. It will be a handsome one. Free illustrated folder at my office.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business was very good yesterday morning on the local markets. The demand was diversified and helped to carry off all the supplies of green character on hand. The high meat prices are having some effect on the vegetable market, the demand having increased very noticeably during the past few days. The fine weather has also increased the supply, with the result that declines in a number of vegetables have been made. Cabbage was obtainable at 1.00 a sack. Cauliflower brought at the very most 75 cents a crate and a large amount was sold far below that figure. Cuban tomatoes were dropped to 2.00 and 2.25 per crate. Mexican stock was obtainable as low as 2.50 and 2.75 per crate. Lettuce held firm at 60 to 1.00 per crate. Cucumbers were also very firm. One of the features of the morning market was the arrival of 100 pounds of local mushrooms which sold at 22 cents a pound, as compared with 0.60 for four-pound baskets on northern stock. Artichokes were up a few points, selling at 1.30 on best stock.

The only change in eggs was made in case-count, which declined to 27 cents flat. Extra selects and candled held at the figures established the day previous. Storage stock is moving sluggishly. Receipts were 28 cases.

Arrivals of butter totaled 12,656 pounds. The market was steady. Ladle stock was in special demand and sold at 25 cents a pound in a jobbing way.

Some nicer cheese from the Compton factory is again arriving. The factory, which had been closed for several months, reopened about two weeks ago. The output is in good demand, selling under northern and Oregon cheese. Receipts of all cheese were 277 pounds yesterday.

Potato receipts were 2987 sacks. The heavy arrivals were well taken up in ordinary trade channels and prices were very steady for the day.

Onion receipts were very light, after the arrivals of the day previous, among the largest of the entire year. The brokers were all busy attempting to dispose of the stock on hand, and some of the onions sold well under the market in order to avoid the payment of demurrage to the railroads.

A car of beans was received from the Ventura district. There were no features in the bean market. Receipts of sweet potatoes totaled 250 sacks. Prices on sweets were steady.

Cranberries are holding up well this late in the season, good stock was obtainable as low as 8.50 to 9.00 per barrel. Eastern popcorn, which has been lying in the stores through the season, is obtainable under 2.00 per hundred.

Fish were plentiful and the demand was one of the best of the week. Yellowtail, barracuda, halibut and rock cod were the big varieties on hand. Kingfish, a few sardines and smelt made up the supply of small stock. Jack rabbits were all too plentiful and sold down to 2.00 per dozen. Cottontails brought 50 cents more. Fresh geese were also reported in from the San Joaquin Valley.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Measured by such tests as bank clearings and railroad earnings, there is no visible diminution in the volume of industrial and mercantile transactions; and yet, with such happenings as the English elections, the Paris flood, the agitation over high prices, and the rather violent break in the New York stock market, it would be strange, indeed, if the various trades did not, in some degree feel the effect of these disturbances. Then, weather conditions have been, in places, unfavorable to distribution.

Therefore the situation presents an irregular appearance, due to an uneven trade development. This irregularity was dismayed to some extent in the iron and steel trade, although an event of the week was the declaration of an extra dividend by the principal producer. The decline in security prices, the recent fall in cotton and the tendency to lower values for some foodstuffs are likely to make the situation more wholesome, however disturbing temporarily.

Dry goods jobbing reports an improvement in house trade.

Business booked on men's wear staples and semi-staples by the largest producer for fall goods has been large, and advances of 2½ cents per yard in some numbers were announced.

Dress goods trade is moderate, although the large corporations have booked good fall orders.

Wholesale dealers in shoes are placing initial fall contracts for later delivery with New England producers; also some fair-sized supplementary spring contracts. Many manufacturers now have a satisfactory volume of reserve orders booked and prospects for the immediate future are promising. All varieties of domestic hides continue weak.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Cross currents in demand render general characterization difficult. Wholesale and jobbing trade in spring goods to expand, travelers on the road are sending in better orders, and the outlook for the future in those lines is optimistic.

Retail trade following the activity engendered by January clearance sales is quieter, pending the further advance of the winter season. Filling in orders from retailers to jobbers are moderate. Manufacturing industry is very busily employed, with large orders ahead.

There are some evidences that a spirit of conservatism is being engendered by the breaks in securities and cotton, the talk of government prosecutions of alleged unlawful combinations, and the widespread revolt against high food prices. Evidences of this are found in the hesitation reached in some branches of the iron trade, and reflection of the last mentioned development is had in a very general reduction of prices of live stock, meats, eggs, butter and kindred products. Business failures in the United States for the week ending with January 27, were 295 against 275 last week, 211 in the like week of 1909, 259 in 1908, 211 in 1907 and 228 in 1906.

Business failures in Canada number 43, which compares with 40 for last week and 42 for the corresponding week last year.

Wheat, including flour, exports from the United States and Canada for the week ending January 27, aggregate, 2,118,173 bushels against 2,004,746 last week and 2,044,695 this week last year.

For the thirty weeks ending January 27, exports are 98,742,343 bushels against 127,042,429 in the corresponding period last year.

Corn exports for the week are 1,273,634 bushels against 653,844 last week and 1,365,299 in 1909. For the thirty weeks ending January 27, corn exports are 34,929,012 bushels, against 15,614,885 last year.

TUCSON, ARIZ.

CRANK ON HIS WAY TO LOS ANGELES.

"LAST-DAY" PROPHET COMING FROM EL PASO.

Young Texan, Obsessed by Comet's Appearance, Dreams World's End Is Near and So Preaches—Would Die an Angeleno—Relief Expedition Hunting Titled Englishman.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 26.—A Latter Day prophet is on his way toward Los Angeles, preaching the near approach of the end of the world, headed by divine command toward the Angel City to prepare its wicked inhabitants for the impending dissolution of all earthly things. His name is Edward Trevis and his home is in El Paso, where, in a dream he received a celestial "hunch" to journey westward and to wait the dread day on the shore of the western ocean. As his train left the depot, he dramatically intoned, "Woe, woe, woe, unto the inhabitants of the world when that day cometh." His travel is under difficulties, for his funds will hardly last till his journey's end. As might have been guessed, his obsession started with the appearance of the new comet, which he declared will soon strike the earth, which will thereupon burst and be consumed in flames.

D. T. MacDougal, director of the Carnegie Desert Laboratory at Tucson, believes there need be little anxiety concerning the safety of Lord Osborne Beauclerk and Warburton Pike, for whose relief an expedition has been fitted out at Yuma. Dr. MacDougal has a letter from the titled Englishman, dated November 15, in which is stated that he intends to take about three months to the trip down the Colorado, going by way of Volcano Lake and Hardy's River, through which he understood the main channel of the stream had changed. He said that he intended going down the Lower California coast, as far as Santa Rosalia, hunting birds and sheep and doing a bit of prospecting as well. Mr. Pike, a resident of Victoria, B. C., is a writer of some note. The relief expedition has gone well equipped for a three months' stay. It is headed by Albert Gandolfo, a Yuma resident who is well acquainted with the lower river. He has taken a large power launch, with a smaller gasoline boat on deck, and proposes to search all the waterways of the river and to coast down the gulf on its western side, crossing over to Guaymas and thence returning on the eastern shore, by way of Tiburon Island. Gandolfo believes that the Englishmen were rather foolhardy in their expedition, as they took only a twenty-foot boat with sails and oars, a craft that might readily be wrecked. A land party is to be sent out also, to skirt the gulf shore for the men believed to be lost.

GIRL LEAVES QUEER LETTER.

A 15-year-old girl, Ortencia Jusiano, committed suicide on a ranch near Solomonville last week, shooting herself through the head with a .22 caliber rifle. She left a remarkable sort of letter, in which she wrote, "I am now tired of living in this world and I felt like killing me and killed myself. And also because Doña Reyes don't let me do washing and it didn't look good to me to see her do washing. But that was her wish and now she sends word to my mother that I died, but she didn't tell her taat I killed myself, and do not go into expense on my account. Bury me as I am and without any coffin and without anything. Bury me at night because I didn't deserve being buried in a coffin. You will do me the favor to pardon me for my meanness toward you. I know I done wrong, but the craziness got into me and I trust God will pardon my sins. Plead for me and I only ask of you to sing for me 'I Trust in Jesus.' Home of my remembrances. Oh, what a good friend Christ is." The girl had lived with friends, attending a near-by public school, where she was known as a bright and happy pupil.

Not to be behind Phoenix in modern sport, Tucson is preparing quietly for a little aviation meet of her own. The matter is in the hands of Manuel Drachman and John Heidel, who have been corresponding with the managers of the Los Angeles aviators, with the idea of bringing the flyers here for two days in the middle of February, at the close of the Phoenix exhibition.

TO OPEN YUMA RESERVATION.

At last formal notice has been given of the opening of the Yuma Indian reservation for settlement. At 9 a.m., March 1, 1910, at the Land Office at Los Angeles, will be offered for settlement 173 farms of about forty acres each, under the Yuma reclamation project, lying on the California side of the Colorado River. The bare land is to cost $10 an acre, to which must be added, in annual installments of a tenth for ten years, a reclamation charge of about $55 an acre. The entryman must also be prepared with a dollar an acre additional for his first year's water supply assessment. The first charge will be not less than $7.50 an acre. The area opened is generally the highest type of alluvial bottom land, much of it flooded in the annual summer rises of the river, until protected by a government system of levees. It is almost frostless and will grow almost anything in the vegetable kingdom. Irrigation will be by two large canals from the Laguna dam. Transportation facilities are of the best, furnished by a branch line of the Southern Pacific from near Yuma, through the reservation to the damsite.

It is believed that the syphon under the river at Yuma will be completed this fall and that shortly thereafter the Yuma Valley will be irrigated with water diverted from the Colorado at the Laguna dam. Three shifts of men a day are now working on the syphon shafts and are making rapid progress.

A general reduction in fire insurance rates has just been given Tucson by the Coast underwriters, varying from 10 to 50 cents saving on each $100 of insurance taken.

TENTS FOR CONSUMPTIVES.

The Arizona Health League of Tucson has purchased a plot of desert land near this city and has provided tents for consumptives who are in needy circumstances. This charity has been made possible by the liberality of a number of business men, who have been interested in the charitable work of the league. The new colony is under the direction of Mrs. H. M. Powell, who has been the active agent of the league.

Dr. A. B. Schnabel, city bacteriologist, now certifies that the milk supply of Tucson is pure. All unsanitary dairies have been condemned and in most of the dairies the milk now is filtered during the time of milking through sterlized gauze.

A large number of horses have been killed of late in the San Pedro Valley by eating a strange plant declared to be no form of the common loco weed. The effect of the poison is similar to that of the loco weed, the horses becoming crazed for a time before death.

"George Crosby's Paper," published at Thatcher, Graham county, has been changed into the "Gila Valley Record," controlled by a syndicate of Graham county Democrats.

The Arizona Golf Association has been incorporated in Tucson with membership comprising the Phoenix Country Club of Phoenix, the Warren District Country Club of Bisbee, the El Paso Country Club of El Paso, Tex., and the Douglas Country Club of Douglas.

Samuel Brown of Tempe, Ariz., has been reelected president of the Alianza Hispano-Americano, which held its annual supreme lodge session last week in El Paso. E. Carrillo of Tucson was elected secretary. The order is a charitable and beneficiary one.

The Catholic Federation will meet in Lincoln Hall on Monday evening, when Bishop Conaty will deliver the principal address, in advocacy of a closer union of the Los Angeles churches. Eastern Real Estate Man.

A. Kinsey, a large real estate operator of Chicago, with his family, is at the Alexandria. He will visit San Diego for a few days and then will return to this city for a more extended stay. At the present time, Mr. Kinsey is operating in Chicago, Milwaukee and Des Moines, Iowa. He may decide to make some investments in Los Angeles and vicinity before returning East. Mr. Kinsey makes a specialty of subdivisions.

Eighty Talesmen Called.

A venire of eighty talesmen has been called for next Tuesday in the United States District Court. There are a number of criminal cases to be tried during the next few weeks. The land fraud case consumed so much time that the calendar of the Federal Court is filled with many matters that have been hanging fire for months. Until there is need, no Federal grand jury will be impaneled.

Speed Limit May Go High.

The Snowden speeding case, which involves the validity of the city ordinance imposing a jail sentence for violators of the thirty-mile clause, will probably be taken to the Supreme Court upon a petition for a writ of review. Both sides are anxious to have the question settled once for all. Until the highest tribunal sets its stamp of approval upon the ordinance, every chauffeur arrested for violating the speeding clause can delay his case for months by appeal to the higher courts.

Aviation Banquet Tonight.

The following programme has been arranged by the Citizens' Committee for the banquet and theater party in honor of the Aviation Committee this evening: From 6 to 8, banquet at Hotel Alexandria, with concert in hotel lobby; 8 o'clock, banqueters will form in line, headed by a platoon of police, military band, uniform rank of Elks, commanded by Capt. Atkinson, followed by the Committee of Arrangements and guests, and will proceed to the Orpheum by the following route: From the Alexandria, west on Fifth to Broadway, Broadway to Second, Second to Spring, and south to the Orpheum, where a special bill has been arranged. During the intermission Rev. Baker P. Lee will present fitting souvenirs as a reward for the patriotic effort of the Aviation Committee for the people of Southern California.

Attach Aviation Funds.

Rickets and Thompson, who had a restaurant concession at Aviation Field, attached the aviation funds of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, yesterday, because of their professed dissatisfaction with their returns during the week. It is stated the two men want to recover about $1200, the amount paid for their concession. "The suit is not really against the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, but against the citizens of Los Angeles who backed Aviation Week," was the comment of Secretary Zeehandelaar, when asked about the attachment against the association. Every person who bought a concession signed a contract, but some have sought to recover what they paid the Aviation Committee, on the ground that they did not make as much as they expected.

FOR LUCK.

IS THREATENED THREE TIMES.

ANOTHER CHARGE MAY CAUSE DOLPH GREEN TROUBLE.

Victims of Alleged Partnership Swindling Syndicate Make More Complaints to Deputy District Attorney and Warrant of Arrest May Issue Today.

Dolph M. Green, alleged head of a partnership-swindling syndicate, will probably be arrested for the third time today, if the evidence given Deputy Dist.-Atty. Veitch yesterday can be corroborated in minor details. From the nature of the charge, which the attorney contemplates placing against him, it is likely that he will have to furnish high bail.

Men who declare they were victims of Green and his accused co-conspirators, continue to call on the attorney and unburden to him the manner in which they were duped. How one man escaped being roped in was amusing, as he related it yesterday.

William Price, who purchased an interest in the "business" at No. 821 South Grand avenue, intends to swear to the complaint, which the attorneys plan to file today.

He had been mulcted of all he had and compelled to retire as a member of the "partnership" before George Clark, who will be sentenced today, sold the same interest to F. D. Kane.

F. L. Titus, who is employed in the train department of the Santa Fé, twice was thrown into the clutches of the alleged swindlers, but did not fall for the game, because the deal they attempted to work was too raw.

About ten months ago Titus saw an advertisement stating that a man located at No. 821 South Grand avenue desired a partner in a flourishing business. He had a little capital and thought he should not overlook an opportunity to increase it. He called at the "realty" office.

He was received with great cordiality by a man, whom the police may arrest in a short time. It was explained to him that the business was so flourishing that one man could not handle it. As the man warmed up to the subject, a very busy person hastened in.

"Excuse me a moment," the "dealer," said to Titus. "I've sold that house for you," he told the stranger. "I got a $30 deposit."

"That's all right," was the answer. "That's your commission; just keep it."

The house owner, who was really a "come on," went away, apparently delighted with having made a deal.

The next day Titus answered a similar advertisement, which took him to Green's office, at No. 702 South Main street. Green explained that he did not want a partner, but that a man named Malley, who had quarters at No. 748 South Main street, did. He recommended Malley in flattering terms.

Again Titus was getting interested, when the same "come-on" man entered.

"You know that house I spoke to you about, yesterday," he said to Green.

"Yes, yes," responded the latter. "I have it listed right here."

"Well, I want it. Will $25 down be enough?"

Green declared he should have a larger deposit. After some quibbling, the $25 was paid over.

"You see, the real estate business is good," Green remarked, to the railroad man. "You better get in it right away."

Titus asked him if he knew the Grand-avenue man and he said he had merely heard of him. Titus had become suspicious of the large business of the "come-on" and left, promising to call on Malley.

The next day Titus chanced to be at Seventh and Main streets and saw a trio which made him laugh. It was composed of Green, the Grand-avenue man and the "come-on." They were slapping each other on the backs and apparently in good humor as they entered a saloon.

That Green was not particular in his selection of victims was made clear yesterday by the complaint of J. M. Ragan, a porter at the Natick House. He alleged that he bought one of the partnerships for $250. Later he became fearful that it was not a good proposition and sought to back out. He says he succeeded in getting back $250.

Harry G. Conner, one of the alleged swindlers, was taken before Justice Williams on a charge of criminal conspiracy yesterday. He pleaded not guilty and was released under $1000 bonds for appearance for trial next Wednesday.

SO EASY.

DIRTY HANDS PASS CHECKS.

Strange Disguise Helps to Fool Merchants.

"Phony Kiter" Poses as an Honest Workman.

Gets the Cash, But Detective Also Gets Him.

After having defied the police force for more than two years, and having floated more than 100 worthless checks, aggregating nearly $5000, so he says, John Schaeur, alias J. J. Huster, was taken into custody by Detective Carroll yesterday morning.

Probably no crook who has worked in the city has led the police on more wild chases or caused them greater discomfort than has Schaeur.

He exhibited the greatest activity about a year ago. Nearly every day reports were made to the detective bureau that some merchant was swindled by the "shover of the phony," as the police termed him.

Many traps were laid for him, but he was cunning enough to escape them. A general warning was sent out to store-keepers and business men to take care in cashing checks, but he continued to impose on them.

Schaeur's disguise was the sesame which opened up the purses of his victims. Over a neat suit he wore overalls, and had a worn coat. His soft hands were so carefully stained with dirt and grease that he was immediately taken for a laboring man.

Most of his checks were drawn for $55 or $60, which he represented was a month's pay. He invariably made small purchases, and seldom found a dealer who was unwilling to give him the change in good cash.

Detective Carroll came on him by chance, while working on another case. He did not know he was arresting a much-wanted man, but his sharp eyes detected the falsity of the signs of labor on the man's hands.

The detective was in the Germania Hall saloon, No. 142 North Main street, when Schaeur entered. Schaeur presented a check drawn on the First National Bank, calling for $55, payable to J. J. Huster, and signed with the name of J. H. Hunter.

He said he was an employé of Hunter, and wanted to get the check cashed. The proprietor gave him $15 and told him he could have the remainder as soon as he got information from the bank about the validity of the instrument. This was satisfactory.

Several loafers, who saw him get who passed more than a hundred worthless checks, and evaded the police over two years.

the money, attempted to beg the price of a drink or get him to treat.

"Why don't you get out and do something?" Schaeur asked them, apparently disgusted. "I have to work for my money."

It was a good stall, and served to allay any fears the saloon-keeper might have had about the worth of the check. Schaeur remained to imbibe.

Carroll asked the saloonist to let him see the check. On his advice, the bank was called by telephone. The reply was that Hunter had an account, but that several checks with his name forged to them had been passed. On the detective's suggestion, Schaeur was taken to the bank, where the signature on the check was pronounced fictitious. The prisoner then began to abuse the officer, declaring he would have him before the Board of Police Commissioners for making a false arrest. Carroll was not bluffed, and took him to police headquarters.

Schaeur was "sweated," and is said to have made a full confession. He is alleged to have admitted that he served a term in San Quentin for forgery, being released in 1904.

"I haven't worked any since I got out," he is reported to have told the officers. "I got a living too easily passing checks. The merchants were willing to fall for it in order to make small sales. I haven't kept track of how many I passed, but I guess more than 100."

Schaeur will probably be taken before Justice Williams today.

KILLED BY WORK TRAIN.

Juan Rodarte, a track worker, was almost instantly killed by a work train at Washington and Crenshaw streets yesterday. He failed to see the approaching train and stepped in front of it. The body was taken to Pierce Bros.' morgue. Rodarte resided with brothers and sisters on San Fernando street.

AFFIRMS THE JUDGMENT.

The Supreme Court has affirmed the judgment of the lower court in favor of the plaintiff in the suit of Kern Valley Bank against Charles A. Koehn. The defendant appealed from an order refusing to dissolve an attachment.

GALLOWAY?

NEW CHIEF OF POLICE POSSIBILITY TODAY.

Alexander Galloway, who may be appointed Chief of Police this afternoon.

A MEETING of the Police Commission this afternoon may determine who will succeed E. F. Dishman, dismissed Tuesday night as Chief, because he would not "make good" in doing Goo-Goo politics. That a meeting has been arranged is not confirmed by members of the commission, but applicants have been told there will be one.

Alexander Galloway, a former railroad man, who has held executive positions here and in other parts of the West, is understood to be the most seriously considered of any of the aspirants. Galloway is a man of mature age and some military training, and brings abundant recommendations from prominent men as to his executive and business qualifications. He lives at No. 1726 West Twenty-fifth street, but inquiry there met the response that no information could be given.

The Mayor said yesterday that Galloway brought many strong indorsements to the commission, and that he is under serious consideration.

"But I cannot say who will be Chief," added the Mayor.

Others who are receiving serious consideration are D. S. Barmore and James Hanley. Barmore is vice-president of the Los Angeles Transfer Company, and Hanley was formerly a Supervisor and Superintendent of Streets. Besides those named it seems about a score of others have been presented.

John Topham eliminated himself for possibility of appointment yesterday. "I am neither a possibility nor a probability," said he. "When there seemed to be some serious consideration of my name I became serious, too, and have reached the conclusion that I would not accept the place if offered to me."

OFFERED HIM, SAYS DIXON.

Capt. Dixon, acting Chief of Police, has first call as permanent head of the department, according to a statement he made in an interview yesterday. The Goo-Goo Board of Commissioners offered him the job, but he bid them tempt him no more, so he says.

"The commissioners unofficially offered me the place," he said. "I told them I would not accept it. I did not want to take it even temporarily. One of the commissioners came to me last Monday, on the day Chief Dishman's resignation was demanded, and said he wanted me to take it at least temporarily. I asked him to not insist. He said that the commissioners were unanimous in appointing me until another man could be selected. I answered that I could not refuse under such circumstances.

"I have requested them to put me back on the other side just as soon as possible. I consider a captain's position under civil service is better than that of Chief."

Rumor has been persistent that Dixon will be made captain of detectives to succeed Flammer, as soon as a new Chief is selected. Dixon declares he knows nothing of such plans. He says he has not even been approached in regard to such a change.

"Would you take it, captain, if it were offered to you?" he was asked.

He begged the question. He is not sure that the added power and extra $50 per month would not tempt him.

"I will willingly go wherever I am assigned," he said.

"If they assign me as captain of detectives, I cannot refuse. If they detail me to the University or East Side station, or even create a new division at San Pedro, it will be satisfactory to me. Anything but Chief."

WHAT'S DOIN'?

A general air of uncertainty has pervaded the department. Even the officers who have openly avowed allegiance to the Goo-Goos are not real certain that they have "made good."

"What's doin'?" is the whispered watchword passed among the officers of all ranks.

Discipline has been relaxed by the invasion of the political bug. The number of arrests has materially decreased in the last few days.

The arrests "on suspicion" are nil. Since the appointment of an investigating committee by the Council the officers have become afraid to make an arrest unless they have first procured a warrant.

"I am satisfied that I know where there is a burglar," said a detective last night. "I have followed him for several days, and he has all the earmarks of a good crook."

"Why don't you arrest him?" he was asked.

"I have a wife and two babies at home depending on me for support," he replied. "I am trying to hold my job. If I threw this man in and couldn't make a case, he would have me fired, sure. I'm taking no chances. I'll not arrest him unless I catch him red-handed. That will probably never happen."

COLLISION.

ELECTRIC CAR HITS FREIGHT.

Several Injured and Traffic Is Blocked.

Passenger Coach Climbs on Top of Box Car.

City Cars Also in Collision; Many Are Bruised.

A serious collision occurred at 11:20 last night at Sierra Vista Junction, on the Oak Knoll branch of the Pasadena Short Line of the Pacific Electric, which blocked all late traffic and injured a number of persons, who were rushed away in automobiles as fast as possible.

At an early hour this morning A. J. Carr of No. 732 North Soto street, Los Angeles, was being treated at the Emergency Hospital in the Police Station, Pasadena, for a smashed foot.

A. B. Dean of No. 255 North Hill street, this city, was taken to the Pasadena Hospital, suffering with injuries about the head and face.

Mrs. Cora Hall, No. 1240 Long Beach avenue, slightly bruised.

Others injured are reported at the Pacific Electric's Emergency Hospital, but all information was refused by officials in charge at that end of the line.

The feature of the collision, which was a rear-end one, is that the body of the Oak Knoll car, which crashed into a stationary Pacific Electric freight, was projected over and on top of the rear freight car, after leaving the trucks.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPES.

Those who saw the wreck a few minutes after the collision say it was a wonder that the crews of the cars were not killed, or at least more seriously injured.

The freight cars, drawn by a heavy motor, had stopped at the junction to remedy some accident to the train, said to be a hot box.

While standing on the track, an Oak Knoll car came speeding around the curve and crashed into the rear end of the freight without warning.

The impact was so great that the heavy Oak Knoll car was thrown from its trucks and climbed over the freight, smashing the car to splinters and itself being more or less crushed, the front end especially being badly damaged.

A scene of confusion followed, intensified by the cries of the injured and the rending of splintered timbers and steel. At the first crash the lights went out and only the light of the moon helped the rescuers to save those entangled in the debris.

SAMARITANICAL AUTOS.

A number of automobiles bound from Los Angeles to Pasadena reached the scene of the accident soon after the crash and as soon as those injured were removed they were placed in different autos and taken to Pasadena.

One was taken to the Pasadena Hospital, one to the City Emergency Hospital and two are reported at the Pacific Electric Hospital.

It was asserted at an early hour that none of those hurt are fatally injured and that all will recover unless complications ensue.

An investigation into the cause of the accident and to fix the blame was started by inspectors of the line immediately.

The brakeman on the electric freight reported that when his train was forced to stop he placed the usual signals up the track, but that they were not seen by the crew of the Oak Knoll car.

No statement could be gotten from the crew of the Oak Knoll car last night.

CITY CARS CRASH.

Failure of the air brakes to work on Southern Pacific depot car No. 137 of the Pacific Electric Company, resulted in a head-on collision with Washington-street car No. 462 of the Los Angeles Railway, a few minutes before 7 o'clock last evening at Seventh and Figueroa streets.

The front ends of both cars were smashed and the street was covered with broken glass. The few passengers were badly shaken up, but no one complained of any injuries and hurried away, glad to escape with whole skins.

BACK DISLOCATED, MAY LIVE.

Victim of River Accident, Though Terribly Injured, Will Recover, Say Police Surgeons.

Although thrown twenty-five feet to the bed of the Los Angeles River by a loose arm of a derrick at the Buena Vista-street bridge and his backbone dislocated, yesterday afternoon, R. D. Tait will live, according to police surgeons who gave him first treatment.

The twelfth dorsal vertebra was pushed out of alignment with the other component parts of the backbone when he fell, but the dislocation was not sufficient to cause injury to the spinal column.

Tait was in terrible pain when carried to the Receiving Hospital. This is considered a good indication, because if he had not suffered from the injury it would have been a sign that serious damage had been done to his back.

Tait was one of a crew employed in making way for the great new bridge. Some one made a mistake in not properly anchoring the derrick when an arm was swung around. It swept wildly toward a group of workmen and would have brushed them all off if they had not been alert and jumped. Tait was the only one who was thrown.

J. C. Mansfield, No. 206 South Main street, was struck above the right eye and a two-inch laceration inflicted. Jack Wells, No. 520 South Los Angeles street, suffered a bruise on the left leg.

After being given emergency treatment, Tait was taken to the California Hospital. He is married and resides at No. 736 South Grand avenue.

PINS HIS MOUTH SHUT.

Man Adopts Strange Measure to Avoid Making Remarks—Taken to Hospital, Insanity Charged.

Fearing that he might make some remark for which he would later be sorry, Vernon E. Bennett, a retired book-keeper, residing at No. 421 South Avenue 21, closed his mouth with safety pins yesterday afternoon.

He had pushed three pins through his lips and snapped them when he was found putting in another by his wife. She sought to remove the fasteners, but he would not permit her to do so.

Probation Officer Marden, who is a friend of the family, was called. He decided that it was a case for the Receiving Hospital and took Bennett there. It was with some difficulty that the pins were taken out.

Bennett would not give any explanation other than that he thought this was a good method to keep from talking. A certificate charging him with insanity was filed.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Work Will Begin at Once on Principal Section of Mammoth Produce Market.

Charles E. Shattuck, architect for the mammoth produce market which the Los Angeles Market Syndicate is erecting at Sixth and Alameda streets, yesterday awarded to the Eureka Mill Company the contract at $80,000 for one section of the large construction project. This part of the group of buildings will stand on Mill street, and will be 610 feet long and 70 feet deep. It will be two stories and basement, and of brick and steel construction. Work will begin at once.

The second structure, 530x70 feet, will be erected by the Barber-Bradley Construction Company, at a cost not yet determined. The two buildings, it was stated yesterday, will cost between $140,000 and $150,000.

The architect's perspective of the completed plant was published exclusively in The Times of January 1. In all nearly eighteen acres will be covered by the buildings now standing and planned, and it is asserted that the market will be the largest in the world, the second in size being the municipal market in Paris, France, covering sixteen acres. The entire outlay by the promoting syndicate will reach close to $2,000,000.

UNFORTUNATE.

TANGLED CASH AND ACCOUNTS.

EXTENSIVE INTERESTS ARE TOO MUCH MIXED UP.

Prominent Business Man Leaves the City Without Warning and Friends Are Reported Trying to Straighten Out Financial Affairs—Fails to Notify Wife of Proposed Departure.

Leaving town suddenly without even notifying his wife, Bert E. Payne, a real estate dealer and loan agent, with offices in the Lissner building, and a residence at No. 2227 Budlong avenue, is missing and his finances are asserted to be involved.

Payne was formerly a member of the notorious Jones and Rider Real Estate Company, which went to smash not long ago, when Lynn Jones fled from the city, when more than a dozen warrants were issued for his arrest. At the time of the dissolution of the Jones and Rider Company, an insurance company forced the failing real estate men to turn over a fire insurance business which they managed and its affairs were left in the sole charge of Payne.

The latter became prominent in many well-known financial concerns and has apparently prospered, until the last few weeks. Close personal friends say that he "guessed wrong" and was forced to juggle funds intrusted to his charge. His accounts are reported to have become involved to such an extent that he at last lost hope of untangling his affairs.

He was the controlling factor in the Payne Cement and Tile Company, Jewell Manufacturing Company, and the Bert E. Payne Loan Agency, No. 225 Lissner building. He was also a member of Payne, Peloubet & Co., No. 224 Mercantile Place.

When seen yesterday afternoon at the handsome family home on Budlong avenue, Mrs. Payne was unable to say whether her husband would return to the city again.

"I cannot say anything about my husband's absence, and I refuse to answer any questions. I don't know anything about whether he will return or not." Here she appeared overcome by her emotions and closed the door as she suggested that information could be obtained from Attorney Ruben Schmidt, or Schmidt & Riggens, No. 504 O. T. Johnson building.

Attorney Schmidt simply stated that his client had left town without telling him of his intentions. "He left here about Saturday, according to Mrs. Payne," said the lawyer, "I am not at liberty to divulge the affairs of a client or to discuss the stories borne to my ears by rumor. Mrs. Payne was surprised and I am handling her interests in financial matters."

Many real estate men said that they had heard of the sudden disappearance of Payne and a man, whose name is withheld for motives of policy, was found who knew the real cause of the sudden departure.

Mistakes in judgment are said to have caused a shifting of money from one client to the interests of another. Then many shifts were necessitated and finally everything became tangled. Investments failed and ruin stared Payne in the face. He fled and may make an effort to straighten out his affairs through lawyers who will act while he is away.

NEW COMMITTEES NAMED.

Speaker Stanton of the Assembly Selects Statesmen to Act on Proposed Laws.

Speaker P. A. Stanton yesterday announced the selection of two Assembly committees to act with two Senate committees that are to consider matters to come before the next session of the Legislature.

Costar of Chico and Griffith of Napa for the affirmative and Wheelan of San Francisco for the negative, comprise the Assembly committee to formulate a statement for and against the adoption of Assembly constitutional amendment No. 14, relating to the right of persons to cross private lands to fish in streams running through public land. This is a proposed bill emanating from the mountain sections of Northern California where fishermen sometimes find it necessary to cross private land to reach public streams.

Hans of Alameda and Holmquist of San Diego will be the Assembly committee on Senate concurrent resolution No. 11, relating to the selection of a site for the proposed Abraham Lincoln monument. This committee will join with a Senate committee to confer with the monument trustees, a report to be submitted to the next Legislature.

A HEARING GRANTED.

The Supreme Court has granted a hearing in the case of J. W. Robinson against Joseph W. Fawkes, which was recently decided in favor of the defendant in the Appellate Court.

PUBLIC SERVICE---In the Courts and Offices.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

All municipal departments are to join in the war begun by C. O. Hawley to break the hold of loan sharks on city employés.

Harry A. Lockwood, believed to be the much-wanted "daylight burglar," told Judge Willis a wonderful story of his wanderings yesterday, after pleading guilty to one of the many charges that might be brought against him.

Attorney H. H. Appel, in the Spurlin divorce case yesterday, asked Judge Houser to commit H. H. Jadwin, one of the co-respondents in the action, to jail for perjury, but the court refused to make the order.

H. A. Unruh, administrator of the estate of "Lucky" Baldwin, stated yesterday, that nothing would come of the suit brought to quiet title to 510 acres of land in Rancho Potrero Grande Felipe Lugo.

Martha Monro of Belfast, Ireland, through her solicitors, informed Public Administrator Frank Bryson, yesterday, that she was the only living next of kin to Matilda Walden, who died in Los Angeles, August, 1908, leaving an estate of $100,000, and no known heirs.

A two days' trial of eight Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation officials, on charges of rebating and raising the price of gas without the permission of the City Council, resulted yesterday in a fiasco.

AT THE CITY HALL.

WAR BEGUN ON LOAN SHARKS.

ALL DEPARTMENTS TO AID IN BREAKING THEIR HOLD.

Judge Silent Offers to Act for the Park Department and the Mayor Says Employees Should Make Confidantes of Their Superiors Without Fear of Punishment.

Hon. Charles Silent, member of the Park Board, told the Mayor yesterday that he will so far as the park department is concerned, give all aid possible in breaking the hold of loan sharks on the employés of that department. Members of other departments are to follow his example.

"I think Mr. Hawley knows what he is doing," said the Mayor, "and I hope all the other heads of departments will cooperate with us. I know the Police Commission and Board of Health will help, and if we act together with Hawley and Judge Silent we may accomplish much.

"There will be no effort to aid employés in evading their just debt. Rather the reverse. But those who are caught in the meshes of the loan sharks' nets will be helped. They need not fear to make confidants of the heads of departments or fear Arnold or any one else if they cash their warrants elsewhere than through Arnold.

"No loan agent of any kind will have the slightest influence with this administration in protecting his hold on city employés. I was an employé of the street department fifteen years ago and it was the same story. It has grown with all these years and it does seem that the time has come to devise some method of making the city employés independent."

It is probable a meeting of the heads of departments will be arranged, where Hawley will explain his method of interrupting the traffic that has humiliated the city more than once. But the effort to create independence will not cease, it is promised, until the loan harpies have been driven off.

FIRST PROTEST.

SIXTEENTH STREET OPENING.

The Finance Committee heard the petition of property owners on West Sixteenth street, between Pacific and Western avenues, yesterday afternoon, to have the city loan the opening and widening fund $5000 which the Los Angeles-Pacific Railway Company and the Los Angeles Inter-Urban Company dispute as their assessment. If the loan is made the opening may be completed and the improvement of the street prosecuted. Unless it is the injunction suits of the companies may take years for adjudication.

S. M. Hasking, representing the Inter-Urban, said this was the first protest H. E. Huntington had ever made against a street improvement assessment and he did it in this case because he believed the principle in assessing a company because of benefit to its pole lines and right of way in the street was wrong.

The committee referred the subject to the City Attorney and the attorneys for the companies with the suggestion that the companies arrange to pay the money into the treasury under protest and then recover it if the litigation proves the assessment invalid.

GRIFFITH PARK.

PICNIC GROUNDS URGED.

A petition signed by George Rheinschild, John W. Mitchell, Elbert S. Todd, T. W. Brotherton and others has been filed with the Park Commission asking that the south side of Griffith Park be improved so that the rapidly growing sections of the northwest will have ample opportunity for excursions and picnics.

The petition points out the many advantages of the south side of the hills—sunshine, ocean breezes and the Mt. Hollywood trail and the numerous saucer-shaped cañons—and urges that an incentive to the extension of street railway facilities to the big park, or at least that portion of it on the south side, would be well planned improvements for picnic parties and mountain climbers.

STREET CAR DELIVERY.

Early Newspaper and Passenger Service.

To facilitate an earlier delivery of The Times in the southeastern and southwestern parts of the city, arrangements have been made with the street railway companies by which yellow car starts from The Times Office, corner First and Broadway, at 4 a.m. daily. It runs via Broadway to 12th, to San Pedro, to South Park avenue and Stanford avenue.

An Interurban car, running via Hill street to 16th, to Burlington, to Vermont and to Santa Barbara, leaves The Times Office at 3:30 a.m., taking papers to the southwestern section.

Both cars carry passengers and will undoubtedly prove a convenience for many late night and early morning workers.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

MEMORY LAPSE BAFFLES HIM.

ATTORNEY CHARGES A WITNESS WITH PERJURY.

Suggests to Judge That Alleged Co-respondent in Divorce Case Be Committed to Jail—Accused Testifies He Reported to Husband His Visits to the Wife.

"If Your Honor please, for the first time in my life I am compelled to acknowledge that I have been beaten by a witness. This man hides behind his statements that 'I do not know,' 'I do not remember,' for the purpose of committing most pernicious perjury. I suggest that he be committed to jail for palpable perjury."

The speaker was Attorney H. H. Appel, who, in his time, has had a varied experience with witnesses of one kind and another. His remarks were directed to H. H. Jadwin, the co-respondent in the Spurlin divorce case that has been on in Judge Houser's court, at intervals for more than a week.

Jadwin was probably the most unsatisfactory witness ever heard in the local courts. The young man was in a peculiar position. His signature had been secured to two affidavits, both diametrically opposed, in one of which he admitted being unduly intimate with Maud Spurlin; and in the other he denied it. To add to his perturbation and unrest, Jadwin was married last October, and the memory of his shady transactions in the Spurlin matter, returned to plague him.

The witness was so completely unnerved that he could hardly answer the questions of counsel, and when cross-examination followed he almost collapsed. In order to hear his answers at all, it was necessary for the court to order the attorneys to change their places so as to be nearer the witness. Upon several occasions Judge Houser remarked that Jadwin was a most reluctant witness.

The lapse of memory from which Jadwin seemed to suffer was something tremendous. It was only by the most persistent questioning that he could be made to admit that he visited Mrs. Spurlin. But he did finally testify that the allegations of the wife in relation to the conspiracy of the husband to secure the ruin of the wife were substantially true, although he denied the allegation that the candy, of which Mrs. Spurlin partook was "doped."

But he could not recall what Spurlin had told him when it was arranged that he should call on the former's wife, neither could he recollect what Spurlin or himself said after he had made several trips to the house, and reported progress to Spurlin. The card that Spurlin had given him as a note of introduction to the wife was placed in evidence. The witness said that on several occasions when he called on Spurlin to inform him of his reception at the house, Camille Astor, one of the co-respondents in the case, was present, once in her kimono.

The examination in chief was bad enough, but when it came to cross-examination, Attorney Appel had to confess himself beaten. He could get nothing out of Jadwin, but "I don't recollect," "I do not remember," in answer to queries. Then it was that the attorney suggested that Jadwin be committed to jail for perjury, but the court said in that case it would be necessary for him to remain there until next Thursday, for the adjournment of court, so far as the Spurlin case was concerned, would be until that date.

"Let him stay there until Thursday," shouted Attorney Appel. "Perhaps by that time he may recover from the paralysis of his memory."

Miss Camille Astor was in the courtroom an interested listened to the testimony. It is understood she will be an early witness Thursday, and clear herself of the charges that have been made against her by Mrs. Spurlin.

NEED OF TREATMENT.

LOOK OUT FOR HOOKWORM.

"In regard to your case," said Judge Willis, yesterday, in passing upon the complaint against Walter Estes, who had pleaded guilty to non-support of his wife, "I think that after you got married you got tired. If you ever come back here on a similar charge I will try and see to it that you are given treatment for the hookworm, that scientists declare are the cause of that tired feeling, and for which my old friend, John D. Rockefeller, has set aside a million of his hard-earned dollars."

When arraigned Estes said that he would plead guilty of the court would allow him to go on probation, but the court could not agree to this, and the accused pleaded guilty, anyhow. Sentence in his case was suspended for two years, on condition that he care for his family.

Henry Philip Lutes, charged with mistreating Ruth Smith, was given a delay until Tuesday next, when he will be arraigned. Ruth Smith is the sister of Stella Smith, both being from Hamilton, Can. W. L. McDivitt is now in jail awaiting sentence for contributing to the dependency of Stella Smith.

Both girls were brought to Los Angeles by their uncle, John Schryver, who afterward abandoned them and allowed them to shift for themselves. They fell into the hands of Lutes and McDivitt, and the charges now in court followed as the result of the quartette living together on South Hill street.

Burt Cohen will be arraigned this morning on the charge of mistreating Opal Penn, a girl under age.

DAYLIGHT BURGLAR.

TELLS COURT HIS TROUBLES.

Harry A. Lockwood, who is believed to be the "daylight burglar" who has been entering Los Angeles homes by the wholesale of late and stealing all sorts of property, pleaded guilty in Judge Willis's court yesterday to burglarizing the home of George L. Dawley, January 6, where he secured a lot of valuable loot. There are about a dozen other burglaries laid at the door of Lockwood, and he is not inclined to dispute the correctness of the indictment.

An application was made in behalf of the boy for probation, and the matter was taken under advisement, but the chances are against the extension of mercy in his case on account of the number of crimes of which he is believed guilty.

But Lockwood did tell the court a wonderful story of his wanderings from the date when, at the age of 12, he was a newsboy in New York, up to the hour of his arrest. He is now about of age. His narrative had all the ring of sincerity, and the court was impressed. Judge Willis tried to catch the boy in relation to cities with which the court was familiar, where Lockwood said he had been, but he did not trip him up a single time.

Lockwood was born in New Jersey, and after an apprenticeship as a newsboy in Gotham, he started West, beating his way to Indiana, where he worked for some time on a farm. Then he hiked out for the lumber camps of Wisconsin, and there he put in several winters. This experience was followed with employment at different times with the Ringling Bros., Barnum & Bailey and the Walter Main circuses.

Tiring of the sawdust arena, he went to British Columbia, and last year landed in San Francisco with $140 in his pocket to show for his work and wanderings.

The boy said he loaned $100 of that money to an old friend with whom he had traveled with a circus, who desired to bring his family from Los Angeles, and he got only $60 of it back again. He came to Southern California to pick fruit, but the season was not ready, and he found himself broke in Redlands. He sent to his friend for the $40 still due him, and received a letter that the money had been sent to him, but he never got the cash.

Disappointed, and without a cent to get anything to eat, he committed his first offense by entering a house in Redlands, where he secured $10. Then he went to Pasadena, where he entered four places, and was successful in securing money and property. His career as a crook now seemed to be fully developed. It was so much easier to steal than to work, and when he reached Los Angeles he began to burglarize homes right and left. He declared that he had never been arrested before in his life, and gave as references as to his character a score of men and firms for whom he had worked before he became a "Raffles."

"That boy tells the straightest story I ever heard," said Judge Willis, "and I have heard many good ones during my career on the bench and in the office of the District Attorney."

EGGS AND DIVORCE.

CRUELTY WITH OMELETTE.

If eggs were as altitudinous in price in Los Angeles in June, 1906, as at the present time, William Joseph McCandless, defendant in a divorce action in Judge Moss's court yesterday, was as prodigal of his money as "Coal Oil Johnny" or "Scotty, of Death Valley."

His wife, Lillian Louise McCandless, testified that on that occasion, at the Hotel Rawlings, he threw an omelette of nine eggs at her and otherwise mistreated her. She said that in April, 1906, while they were living at No. 923 East Fortieth street, when she refused to remove his slippers he became angry and kicked her in the chest.

When one of the children was born, she testified that McCandless deserted her for ten days, and it was necessary for her to secure the assistance of her sister during her confinement; that the little girl could not cook, and all she had to eat was sardines.

At another time he left her and went to Nevada, to punish her, as he put it, because she was unwilling to live with his mother. The couple were married at Santa Ana, November 19, 1905, and they have two children, William Joseph and Stanley Eugene McCandless.

The defendant denied the charges of extreme cruelty and told how on one occasion his wife and a lady friend had torn a shirt off his back. He admitted that he had been drinking during that day and said he might have drank a half-dozen glasses of beer. McCandless is a liquor salesman. Judge Moss allowed the interlocutory decree of divorce on the complaint of the wife.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

HEIRS WIN TRUST DEED.

The case of James, Charles and Miles Riley, heirs of William Riley, against H. J. Pinney, one of the administrators of the estate, for an accounting, was called in Judge Conrey's department yesterday, but a settlement was reached.

Pinney was the confidential adviser and agent of William Riley, and from November, 1907, to February, 1909, he received money from Riley for the purposes of investment in Kings county lands. The complaint alleged the amount to be $20,500, while Pinney in his answer admitted that he received $14,000. It was also a part of the petition that Pinney bought 960 acres of land under that agreement, but proceeded to take the deeds in his own name and had refused to give an accounting of the funds spent in behalf of Riley in the lifetime of the decedent, or to his heirs since his death.

It was agreed that Pinney should execute a trust agreement and have the document regorded in Kings county, indicating that the property involved was for the joint benefit of both parties to the original contract.

Under this arrangement the only profit coming to Pinney will be one-half of the profit in disposing of the property, if any is made. All of the money advanced must be accounted for to the heirs.

DENIES CHARGES.

DR. PRICE EXPLAINS.

Dr. W. R. Price, at one time head of the Long Beach Psychological Society, was on the stand in Judge Monroe's court yesterday, defending himself against the charge of Dr. Mary J. Helm that he had buncoed her in the sale of stock in the National Gold Dredging Company.

The witness denied that he had made any misrepresentations as to the value of the stock to Miss Helm, but said that at one of the soirees of the Long Beach savants of which he was prime minister, after the business of the evening was concluded, he had told some of the members of the good thing he had on the American River. His statements, he alleged, were made on reports brought to him by a gentleman who had just returned from the scene of operations, and the remark that "gold was lying about like wheat in the bin," was fully justified.

Dr. Price declared that bright and early the next morning Dr. Helm had come to his office and asked that she be let in on the "ground floor." He told her that there was no limit to the sales of stock except the sky, and that if she had the money she could invest, which she proceeded to do. She needed no coaxing, he asserted.

In summing up the case at the conclusion of the testimony, Judge Monroe declared that in his opinion false representations had been made to Miss Helm, when she made her first investment, but asked that briefs be submitted on the question of the alluring promises of Dr. Price, when the plaintiff paid additional money for stock in the National Gold Dredging Company.

ANOTHER FROM IRELAND.

CLAIMANT OF WALDEN ESTATE.

A communication was received by Public Administrator Bryson yesterday from a firm of solicitors in Belfast Ireland, in the interest of Martha Monro, No. 2 Magdala street, Belfast, who asserts that she is the only next of kin alive of Matilda Walden, who died in this city August 21, 1908, leaving an unclaimed estate, composed almost entirely of real property valued at $100,000 or more.

In the communication it is stated that the decedent, who is claimed as an aunt of Martha Monro, was the daughter of William and Martha Wilson, formerly of Ballyconnell, County Cavan, Ireland. The aunt was born in Ballyconnell in 1835 and it is stated that her baptismal name was Martha Wilson, being a family name, that of her mother, although the claimant's grandmother and aunt were also known as Matilda.

In addition to Martha or Matilda Wilson, who afterward became Walden, there were other issue—John, William, James (the claimant's father,) George and Mary. The grandfather and uncles were all blacksmiths. John Wilson emigrated to Los Angeles, and soon after his sister, Martha or Matilda Wilson, joined him here. James Wilson, the father of Martha Monro, was a soldier in the English army, and when returning from service in India, aboard the ship Eastern Monarch, the vessel was burned at sea, off Spithead, but all of the family were rescued, the mother having died at sea some time before and been buried from the vessel.

Under the order heretofore issued by Judge Rives there must be a showing of hands on the part of the various heirs of Matilda Walden the latter part of April, and the trial of the real issues will follow later. Some time ago claims aggregating about $50,000 were filed against the estate by persons who alleged they had performed valuable service for Matilda Walden, and these cases are yet pending in the courts.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

PLEADED GUILTY. In Judge Davis's court yesterday George Taylor, charged on two counts of uttering fictitious checks, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty. He will be sentenced February 2. The amount involved in the two checks is $20, the name of W. P. Chase & Co., which has no existence, being signed to them.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by Calimax Plantation Company; capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, Charles Pease, E. E. Kiggins, Harold E. Stevens, L. S. Stevens and Walter R. Leeds; subscribed, $500. Alpeter, Hall and Alpeter Company; capital stock, $75,000; incorporators, J. Philip Alpeter, Nina M. Alpeter, George H. Alpeter, Thomas N. Hall and D. F. Johnson; subscribed, $25,000. Liebfried Brass Manufacturing Company; capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, Jacob Liebfried, Herbert L. Engel and Seymour Swarts; subscribed, $5000. Ramona Park Building Company; capital stock, $10,000; incorporators, F. W. Marshall, F. N. Marshall and M. A. Marshall; subscribed, $35.

HEAVY DAMAGES SOUGHT. William R. Walker brought an action against the Southern Pacific Company in the Superior Court yesterday for $25,050 on account of injuries received while acting as a mail clerk on the line, December 19, 1909, when the car in which the plaintiff was working left the track near Benson, Ariz.

INFORMATIONS FILED. In Judge Willis's court yesterday informations were filed against Charles Williams, charged with making an assault with a deadly weapon, and Al F. Hardy, charged with the killing of William Moore, the tamale man on Main street, the night of December 5 last. Both will be arraigned this morning.

GUILTY OF BURGLARY. Albert Walsh pleaded guilty to the charge of burglarizing the residence of M. Tsuruda and he will be sentenced Monday by Judge Willis. Probation has been asked for.

DECREE DENIED. Judge Hervey denied the petition of John Tayian for a divorce from Vartuhy Tayian, on the ground of extreme cruelty. The wife had a cross-complaint, and the court found that neither was entitled to a divorce. There seems to be much sorrow in the Armenian colony on account of the decision.

ICE MAN HURT. The Union Ice Company was made defendant in an action brought in the Superior Court yesterday by J. F. Koch, an employé of the corporation, who alleges in his petition that he was badly injured while engaged in handling cans of frozen ice weighing 300 pounds, and seeks $10,086 damages.

IS COMMITTED. Judge Wilbur and the lunacy commission yesterday committed Miss Hilda Goodman to the hospital at Agnews; Fanny Margolis and Amy A. Herron to Patton.

TREE CASE. Apparently half the population of Whittier heard the bitter contention in Judge Densmore's court, yesterday, of C. W. Harvey against J. S. Crum, to recover the value of a number of orange trees that it was claimed had been appropriated by the defendant. It seems the trees were removed by order of the City Council when the street was opened, and Harvey seeks to make Crum pay for them. A comparatively small amount of money was involved, but everybody was there to hear the testimony.

QUIET-TITLE SUIT FILED. The promised complaint on the part of John H. Temple, eldest son of Mrs. A. M. W. de Temple, against H. A. Unruh, administrator of the estate of Elias J. Baldwin, to quiet title to 510 acres of Rancho Potrero Grand Felipe Lugo, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday. Administrator Unruh, speaking of the promised litigation, yesterday, said that the heirs of "Lucky" Baldwin had nothing to fear from this complaint or any other involving the title to any of the real estate here or elsewhere.

SALE RESTRAINED. Beulah Axtell, through her attorney, secured from Judge Wilbur yesterday an order restraining Zell E. Talbert, administrator of her late husband, Harry Clifton Axtell, from selling the personal property belonging to the estate. It was alleged that through some mistake in the date when the assets were to be offered, the widow had not been properly informed.

SENT TO WHITTIER. Cora McNeil, who pleaded guilty to the charge of burglary in Judge Willis's court, was sent to Whittier during her minority by that court yesterday.

CASE SUBMITTED. Judge James heard the arguments in the suit brought by Mary Louise Carle against her mother and brother for an accounting of her father's estate, yesterday, and the matter was submitted. There is about $13,000 involved in the contention and Mrs. Carle thinks that she has not been given her proper share of her father's property.

FLEES WITH AFFINITY.

Elopers Arrested Here on Request of Mojave Marshal—Deserted Husband Alleges Larceny, Too.

The detectivts cut short an elopement yesterday when they arrested W. A. B. Hanson and Mrs. P. H. Coleman, who deserted her husband in Mojave to flee with her "affinity."

The arrest was made at the request of the Marshal of the desert town, who wired that the couple had stolen some of Coleman's belongings before they started for Los Angeles.

They admitted yesterday that they were elopers, but denied the larceny charge. They will be held until a Mojave officer arrives with warrants.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

ELOQUENCE IS OF NO AVAIL.

GAS AND ELECTRIC OFFICIALS WIN THEIR CASE.

Eight Are Found Not Guilty of the Charge of Having Given Rebates or of Having Raised and Lowered Price of Gas Without Permission of City Council.

W. B. Cline, president of the Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation, and seven other officials and employés of the company, were found not guilty of a charge of having given rebates and raised and lowered the price of gas without the consent of the City Council, yesterday, by Judge Rose.

The greater part of yesterday's session in the case was taken up by argument on the part of Prosecutor Guy Eddie, who waxed eloquent in endeavoring to secure a conviction. The case harks back to the time when there was much competition between the gas companies for subscribers. It was sought to fasten what may have been done by solicitors on the corporation officials.

In replying to the prosecutor, Attorney Jud Rush for the defense used sarcasm which amused his auditors.

"May it please the court," he said, "I will not attempt to recall Mr. Eddy's argument nor to reply to his disquisition on the 'economic requirements' of this city, or the 'political requirements.' I hardly know what that referred to, nor do I understand his desire to make the company comply with the 'economic requirements' of the city or the 'political requirements' of the city. I did not know that the city had any political requirements that the company was bound to comply with.

"But, anyhow, all that discussion about the advisability of regulating corporations, and everything of that sort, I apprehend does not enter into the determination of this case. It sounds very well, and, to tell the court the soleman truth about it, I can close my eyes and almost remember the day when the Populistic microbe was eating at my vitals and imagine myself down in El Monte somewhere making that speech. But that was some time ago."

JUDGE LACKS HUMOR.

CAN'T SEE SIMPLE JOKE.

"Jedge, I tuk dat watch jes' fo' fun," declared Ed Banks, a negro who was tried before Justice Williams yesterday on a charge of having stolen a watch. "I was playin' a trick on de man what owned it."

The black owner declared he believed it was all a joke, "jes' to make muh careful." He said several times he had been warned against leaving his jewelry in his coat when he hung it up. A detective declared that Banks had kept the watch a day before it was found that he had it.

"I fail to see the joke," said the magistrate. "Twenty-five dollars or twenty-five days."

QUICK ACQUITTAL.

TESTIMONY IS WEAK.

Prosecutor Eddie had little luck in his first attempt to branch out in the detection as well as the prosecution of crime. A male and female sleuth, whom he employed, furnished the evidence upon which complaint was filed against C. H. Daly, proprietor of the Los Angeles Wine Company, No. 534 East Fifth street, charging him with having violated the liquor ordinance.

Upon the simple defense that he had never sold the couple any liquor, Daly was acquitted three minutes after his case was submitted to a jury in Justice Frederickson's court yesterday.

Held to Superior Court.

Jealous of Miguel Espinoza, because he had won the love of a Mexican woman from him, Francisco Gonsales cut the successful suitor with a knife Thursday night. Yesterday he was taken before Justice Williams and was held to answer to the Superior Court to a charge of assault to murder. Bail was fixed at $5000.

COYOTE IS "ARRESTED."

Patrolman Captures One in a Chicken Coop—Prisoner Is Very Cross in Confinement.

A coyote was captured by Patrolman R. B. Harris in a chicken coop at Normandie and Adams streets Thursday night. Persons residing in the vicinity heard the chickens squawking and notified the University division that a thief was at work.

Harris was sent out and was surprised to find that his prey was four-footed. He procured a rope and lassoed the animal. It is now being cared for at the University headquarters. The officers do not know what to do with it, as it is so cross that they have to throw food to it and carry water to it when it is asleep.

MINES AND MINING.

COPPER NOW IS CORNERED

Arizona Copper and Shanno Reported Sold.

Cole-Ryan Interests Said t Be Buyers.

This May Mean Closing o Clifton Smelter.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—The people of Clifton have been deeply troubled by a report that the Arizona Copper Company is considering an offer of $25,000,000 for its mining properties and reduction plants in the Clifton-Morenci-Metcalf district.

Whether the offer includes the company's control of the Arizona and New Mexico Railroad is not stated.

The tribulation of the populace proceeds from the rumor that the prospective purchaser is the Cole-Ryan syndicate, and that the change will mean the closing down of the Clifton smelter, and the shipment of the concentrates to Douglas for final reduction.

The fact that the company's smelter has been described as "an animated soap heap" may have a bearing on the proposition.

It is known that the smelter would have been rebuilt long ago by the management at Clifton had it not been blocked by a dividend-seeking directorate in Scotland, where most of the company's stock is owned.

Despite this handicap, and the fact that the company's ore is of the lowest grade worked in Arizona, the management has credit for producing copper as cheaply as at any other camp in the Southwest. The copper production for several years has been in excess of 22,000,000 pounds per annum, and the whole enterprise, including railroads and stores, returns more than a million dollars a year in dividends.

SHANNON SOLD.

BOSTON REPORTS TRANSFER.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

BOSTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Thompson Towle & Company say it is not unlikely that the Shannon Copper Company will be included in the new company being formed to take over the Arizona Copper Company and the Detroit Copper Company, as it will be necessary to include the Shannon in order to control the entire output of the district. While the Shannon Copper interests are perfectly satisfied with their position among copper producers, realize that it is a growing one, the sale probably be effected on a basis of $50,000,000 or $25 per share, including 2,000,000 bonds.

Eight millions for Shannon would represent its capitalization on a basis of 40 cents per pound of copper produced, which would be exceedingly low, and its sale will give the new company absolute control of 70,000,000 pounds, which is the annual copper production from the Clifton-Morenci district.

Arizona Copper Appeals.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—The Arizona Copper Company has appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States against the adverse decision of the Supreme Court of Arizona in the "tailings case," in which the farmers of the Gila Valley secured an injunction against the further disposition of concentrator refuse in any of the Gila's affluents. In the meantime, all the Clifton-Morenci companies will try to satisfactorily impound their tailings.

Customs Smelter.

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—It is announced that a custom smelter will be erected at the Gould mine, eleven miles northwest of this city in the Tucson Mountains. The company that will build the smelter is composed of New York and Boston capitalists and will operate under the name of the Pioneer Smelter Company.

The proposition which the eastern capitalists have agreed to finance is for the erection of a 100-ton custom smelter which will take care of the ore from the Gould mine and from other copper mines in the Pima district.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

RAPID WORK NOW IS BEING DONE.

AMERICAN OIL FIELDS COMPANY IN NORTH MIDWAY.

Organized Less Than Two Weeks Ago, This Big Corporation Already Is Prepared for Drilling—Nine Complete Rigs on the Ground. Standard Company's Big Well.

Prominent oil men yesterday were talking about the fast work being done by the American Oil Fields' Company, the $25,000,000 corporation recently organized by C. A. Canfield and others, on its property in the North Midway district. J. M. Danziger, who is interested in the new company, returned yesterday morning from a two or three days' trip in the Midway field. The new company was organized a week ago last Monday and has begun operations immediately. It has 2000 acres in the Coalinga and North Midway districts.

The company now has nine complete rigs on the ground at North Midway, in section 36, and will begin the work of drilling today. It is the intention to have five strings of tools continuously, and the company expects to finish a well every fifty to sixty days. Considering that the company was organized less than two weeks ago, local oil men are amazed at the fast work that is being done in preparing for developing work.

Mr. Danziger reports that development and production are active all over the Midway district at the present time. The Standard Oil Company's new well on section 36-32-24, Mr. Danziger says, flowed 6000 barrels last Sunday and about 1200 barrels on Monday. This statement will account for the rumors in Los Angeles of the varying capacity of this big well.

is May Mean Closing of Clifton Smelter.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—The wn of Clifton have been deeply ished by a report that the Arizona per Company is considering an of- of $25,000,000 for its mining prop- s and reduction plants in the nson-Morenci-Metcalf district.

Whether the offer includes the com- y's control of the Arizona and w Mexico Railroad is not stated. The tribulation of the populace pro- ds from the rumor that the pros- ive purchaser is the Cole-Ryan dicate, and that the change will an the closing down of the Clifton elter, and the shipment of the con- ntrates to Douglas for final reduc- n.

The fact that the company's smelter s been described as "an animated ng heap" may have a bearing on proposition.

It is known that the smelter would e been rebuilt long ago by the nagement at Clifton had it not n blocked by a dividend-seeking terests in Scotland, where most of company's stock is owned.

Despite this handicap, and the fact at the company's ore is of the est grade worked in Arizona, the nagement has credit for producing per as cheaply as at any other ny in the Southwest. The copper duction for several years has been r a mean of 22,000,000 pounds per an- m, and the whole enterprise, in- ding railroads and stores, returns re than a million dollars a year in ofits.

SHANNON SOLD.

BOSTON REPORTS TRANSFER.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.] BOSTON, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dis- h.] Thompson Towle & Company d it is not unlikely that the Shan- Copper Company will be included the new company being formed to ver the Arizona Copper Com- y and the Detroit Copper Com- y, as it will be necessary to in- e the Shannon in order to con- the entire output of the district. ers in the Shannon Copper interests perfectly satisfied with their posi- among copper producers, realiz- that it is a growing one, the sale probably be effected on a basis $40,000 or $25 per share, including o funds.

What millions for Shannon would esent in capitalization on a ba- of 9 cents per pound of copper ained, which would be exceeding- low, and its sale will give the new mpany absolute control of 70,000,000 unds, which is the annual copper oduction from the Clifton-Morenci district.

Arizona Copper Appeals.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 28.—The Arizona Copper Company has ap- ealed to the Supreme Court of the nited States against the adverse de- sion of the Supreme Court of Ari- ona on the "tailings case," in which e farmers of the Gila Valley secured n injunction against the further dis- osition of concentrator refuse in any f the Gila's affluents. In the mean- me, all the Clifton-Morenci com- anies will try to satisfactorily im- ound their tailings.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

APID WORK NOW R IS BEING DONE.

MERICAN OIL FIELDS COMPANY IN NORTH MIDWAY.

Organized Less Than Two Weeks ago, This Big Corporation Already Has Prepared, for Drilling—Nine Complete Rigs on the Ground. Standard Company's Big Well.

Prominent oil men yesterday were talking about the fast work being done by the American Oil Fields' Company, the $25,000,000 corporation recently organized by C. A. Canfield and others, on its property in the North Midway district. J. M. Dan- forth, who is interested in the new company, returned yesterday morning after two or three days' visit in the Mid- way field. The new company was organized a week ago last Monday and began operations immediately. It has 160 acres in the Coalinga and North Midway districts.

The company now has nine complete rigs on the ground at North Midway, one of which is 32, and will begin the work of drilling today. It is the intention to put down five strings of tools continuously, and the company expects to finish a well every fifty to sixty days. Con- sidering that the company was or- ganized less than two weeks ago, local men are amazed at the fast work that has been done in preparing for develop- ment work.

The manager reports that develop- ment and production are active all over the Midway district at the pres- ent time. The Standard Oil Com- pany's new well on section 30-32-24, the manager says, flowed 4000 barrels last Sunday and about 1500 barrels on Monday. This statement will ac- count for the rumors in Los Angeles of the varying capacity of this big well.

In addition to the nine complete rigs the American Oil Fields' Company has placed on its property, there also is a full complement of camp equip- ment and other accessories for rapid work.

WORK ALMOST COMPLETED.

TRANSPORTATION COMPANY.

W. T. Cushing, general superin- tendent of the Producers' Transporta- tion Company, stated yesterday that the company's pipe lines from Bakers- field, McKittrick and Coalinga to Port Harford are fast nearing comple- tion and will be ready for operation by April 15. The pipe lines are eight inches in size and are 215 miles in length. Work on the storage plants and the pipe line stations also are nearing completion and will be put into commission on the same date.

The Producers' Transportation Com- pany was organized less than a year ago and by April 15 the work will have cost $3,500,000. Back of this big corporation are the Union-Independent companies. At one time the Produc- ers' Company employed 1500 men and 1800 head of stock in its construction work. At this time about one-half that number of men and teams are employed on the job. The machinery for the entire plant now is being in- stalled. Considerable delay was oc- casioned by the non-arrival of the machinery on time. The completion of the pipe lines will enable the com- panies back of the Producers' Com- pany to market their own product and deliver it at Port Harford.

NEW COMPANY FORMED.

WILL OPERATE IN COALINGA.

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 28.—Porter- ville capitalists, headed by A. M. Lumley, former Assemblyman from this district, and a wealthy orange grower; Launce S. White, also a wealthy orange grower, and others have launched a new oil company which is to operate in the Coalinga field. This is not a stock jobbing pro- posal, as all the stock will be owned by local people, and none is to be of- fered for general sale; $1000,000 cash is to be put into the venture. The com- pany has secured a twenty-year lease with option of purchase upon six acres of land in the heart of the Coalinga proven field, the land being but a short distance from the Lucile and the Silver Tip.

Drilling of two wells is to be begun on the property at once, within the terms of the lease, and the company must be producing within the next ten months.

KERN RIVER FIELD.

NEW COMPANY STRIKES OIL.

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—The Kern-4 Oil Company, whose property is situated near the south end of the Kern River oil fields, has just brought in a new oil well at a depth of 1000 feet. This is a new company and it has a large force of men at work drilling new wells and erecting build- ings and derricks. A new boiler house was completed a short time ago. Su- perintendent Fred Morris stated that twelve new wells would be driven during the coming year.

Six new wells are to be driven by the Junction Oil Company as soon as the material can be hauled to the grounds. The Junction Oil Company is very active, and lots of work is being done on this small lease.

The Traders' Oil Company, which recently acquired the property of the Rambler Oil Company at the north end of the Kern River oil fields, has cemented three of its oil wells, and it is understood that all of the wells that this company will sink will be cemented. The cement walls are in- tended to keep the water out of the well.

The regular meeting of the stock- holders of the Columbian Oil Com- pany will be held February 7, when a new president probably will be select- ed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of former President Neek, who died recently. F. B. Stone of San Francisco, vice-president of the com- pany, is acting president until a new head has been selected.

The Associated Oil Company is spending a great deal of money in the Kern River oil fields this year. The 500,000 barrel reservoir which was built just south of the other reservoirs, is about completed. The carpenters and plumbers are putting on the finish- ing touches this week, and in another week or ten days, oil will commence flowing into the big tank. The Associ- ated people are building a new air- compressing plant near Oil Center. The machinery for one of the finest plants in the field has arrived on the ground and will be installed in a few days, as the building is about ready. The compressors will force water from the wells. Boiler station No. 10, be- longing to the Associated, is to be erected just below the Session Oil Company. This station will have four new boilers, and will be in use very soon, as a large force of men is push- ing the work along.

Messrs. Bender and Hudson, both working on the Capital City Oil Com- pany lease, were injured yesterday by a scaffold falling on them. They are men of families and live in Bakers- field.

BRINGS IN A GUSHER.

UNITED OIL COMPANY IN LUCK.

The United Oil Company, which owns and controls 470 acres in the now famous North Midway oil fields, has completed its No. 1 well in section 6. A message received Thursday at the office of the company and yesterday confirmed by C. F. Whittier, its presi- dent and general manager, states that the well is producing in excess of 1500 barrels every twenty-four hours. This well is 250 feet distant from the famous Santa Fé well and indicates to oil men the prolific na- ture of the oil sand in that locality. The United Company has started drilling on its No. 2 well and will spud in on No. 3 the first of the week.

The company was incorporated on November 13, 1909, and is adding to its holdings from time to time. On December 12 last the United Oil Com- pany purchased forty acres of ground in section 24. This ground corners the Pioneer Midway ground, where it brought in a well last week that is now producing 200 barrels of oil a day, and on January 26 the company purchased the west half of the south- east quarter of section 24 a few hun- dred feet from the well brought in on the Amber property a few days ago. It is the intention of the company to start several additional rigs on its properties immediately. One of the officers stated that the company in- tends to drill at least twenty wells this year. The company has entered into a contract with the Standard Oil Company to sell 200,000 barrels of oil at 65 cents per barrel at the well, and connections have been made with the Standard pipe line.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The members of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Seventeenth-street school gave the first of a series of socials on Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs. George L. Berger, president. The host and hostess re- ceived the thanks of the association for their courtesy and hospitality. About seventy-five members (parents and teachers) enjoyed a good pro- gramme of vocal and instrumental se- lections by local talent. Miss Clay- poole, principal of the Seventeenth- street school, gave a brief talk on the work of the association in the past and intimated that certain plans requiring active work in the future were under consideration.

HEALTH MENACE.

UNCLEAN FISH CAUSE DISEASE.

JAPANESE ARE CAUGHT SEINING NEAR SEWER OUTLET.

Twelve Are Arrested as Result of Investigation by Two Officers and Will Be Prosecuted for Violating the Law—Six Arraigned Yesterday. All Are Held in Jail.

Disease, caused from the sale of un- clean fish, attracted the attention of officers to the Japanese fisheries at Playa del Rey, and resulted yesterday in the arrest of twelve Japanese.

The brown men have caused trouble before along this line. All the Japa- nese markets and many others, as well as street peddlers, rely upon these fish- ermen for their supplies. Several days ago Constable Rice was notified that several cases of ptomaine poison and typhoid fever had been caused, apparently from eating of rotten fish.

With Deputy Jack Johnston he made a careful investigation. He went first to the white markets, but could detect nothing to arouse his suspicions. Then he visited the Japanese. Even there he had considerable trouble in getting any clew that might help him solve the problem. The fish were without doubt of fresh catch, and looked like good fish. A few inquiries brought to light the names of some of the supply fishermen.

About that time Rice began to have a few ideas about the location of the fisheries. With Deputy Johnston he went to Playa del Rey, Thursday night. They remained on the beach all night, near the outlet of the Los Angeles sewer. Shortly before day- break the fleet of Japanese fishing smacks came in sight. The fisher- men were seining, and worked their nets in close to the mouth of the sewer, and were reaping a harvest of fish with very little labor.

Rice waited until he had sufficient evidence, and then with Johnston he visited the fishermen, and arrested them. Six were allowed to remain in charge of the boats, the others being brought to Los Angeles.

They were arraigned before Justice Ling yesterday afternoon, and locked up in the County Jail on their failure to procure bail. The others were taken to the jail later in the after- noon. All are charged with violating the laws forbidding fishing within a mile of the mouth of the Los Angeles sewer.

The Japanese, selling for market, do not bother about the sanitary condi- tions under which the fish are caught. Great numbers of fish congregate about the mouth of the sewer to feed upon the slime and filth coming from it. This makes them unfit for food.

The Japanese arraigned yesterday are named S. Mori, J. Hamashita, I. Ikebuchi, O. Kishiyama, T. Nakada and M. Kaniashio.

ATTEMPT AT SUICIDE.

Man Lies With Neck Across Rail, Saved by Switchman—Held on Insanity Charge.

While mentally unbalanced, Jacob Nerva attempted to end his life by placing his neck across a rail in front of an approaching switch engine at Fourth and Alameda streets yesterday.

His purpose would have been accom- plished if a switchman had not seen him in time. The railroad man dragged him from the tracks just before the lo- comotive passed.

As Nerva would not explain his con- duct, he was given into the custody of a patrolman, who took him to the Re- ceiving Hospital. He was charged with being insane.

When the officer searched him, he thought he had struck a United States depository. He pulled out gold, cur- rency and checks from every pocket and found a bundle of money tied to his leg. It totaled $410.

The only statement he would make as to why he wished to die was that he missed his train for Butte, Mont. He did not have a railroad ticket.

When asked for a fuller explanation of his acts, he declared it was useless for him to talk, as it had all been published in the papers.

TOURIST TIPS OFFICER.

Man Wanted on Embezzlement Charge in Canada Is Arrested Here—To Be Taken Back.

Charles Bisco, a fugitive from Naimo City, B. C., was arrested in the Los Angeles-Redondo Railway ticket office yesterday.

A tourist from his home city rec- ognized him and told an officer that he was wanted in the Canadian town.

The Naimo City authorities, in re- sponse to a telegram, have sent a dis- patch stating that he is charged there with having embezzled $200 and that they will send an officer for him.

BLUE AND WHITE.

Annual High School Publication Makes Its Appearance Under Auspices of Winter Class.

"Blue and White," the annual pub- lication of the Los Angeles High School, has appeared under the aus- pices of the winter class, and it is a top-notcher. The editorials and other matter between the covers are char- acterized by a commendable dignity and by less than the usual amount of "kiddishness." The art illustrations are admirably executed, and the ex- ploitation of the automobile as the leading twentieth century invention is cleverly done.

The illuminated cover, bearing the full-length figure of a high school boy, forms a striking and fitting binding, while the illustrations, material and letter-press are all that can be desired.

The following students are identified with the publication: Editor-in-chief, C. F. Crank; assistant, Louise Avery; publishing manager, O. V. Pratt; as- sistant, Arthur Chapman; art editor, Ethel Reynolds; assistant, Marguerite Pendexter. In addition to these, there are fifteen associate editors, represent- ing various dpartments.

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

PICKING ROUTE FOR SALT LAKE.

PIOCHE APPEARS AGAIN TO BE ON SIDETRACK.

General Manager Wells Returns from Meadow Wash and Asserts Final Surveys for New Line Are Now Being Made to Choose New Right of Way from.

Pioche probably will never be on the main line of the Salt Lake road.

General Manager Wells has returned from weeks spent on the washed-out line in Meadow Valley wash. Mr. Wells said last night in regard to the rebuilding of the road: "Nothing defi- nite is known, but we are daily ex- pecting Chief Engineer Tilton and Arthur McGuire in with the reports of the lines they have looked over.

"Tilton and McGuire both are look- ing at right of ways east of the pres- ent line and we have not considered the line through Pioche. There is a branch line there now and that prob- ably is all that will be built.

"Tilton is working west from Lund, which is thirty-five miles west of Milford. His route takes him south through St. George and on to Moapa. He is accompanied by Stradleigh of the Oregon Short Line, who is looking over the ground for the benefit of those interests. Arthur McGuire is also at the head of a party that is working from Acoma to Moapa on the same side of the old line.

"We will probably build the short- est, easiest line in spite of commercial interests, and while there are some old surveys through the Pioche coun- try, we have not looked into them.

"When we hear the final report of the engineers we will be in a position to point out our route. If I gave out any suppositions today as to our ex- act plans there would be a land rush, and if the route was changed for any cause some one would lose some money. That we want to avoid."

EXCURSIONS EAST.

TRIP RATES ARE MADE.

The Santa Fé and the Southern Pa- cific have arranged for the sale of ex- cursion tickets from California points to the East. The dates for these ex- cursions are as follows: May 11, 12, 13, 14, 25, 26 and 27; June 2, 3, 4, 24, 25, 26 and 30; July 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 25, 26 and 27; August 1, 2, 3 and 4; Sep- tember 1, 2, 3, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

The going limit has been increased from ten to fifteen days, and stop- overs will be allowed at points outside of California. The return trip may be made any time within ninety days, with the exception of tickets sold in connection with steamer tickets to Europe, which are good for four months.

The rates quoted are upon a basis of $108.50 round trip to New York, and $72.50 to Chicago.

Advices have also been received that the west-bound colonist rates for the year will be in effect from March 1 to April 15 and from September 15 to October 15. This rate is based upon a schedule of $33 from Chicago and $25 from the Missouri River.

The Southern Pacific also has posted rates for the meeting of the Mystic Shrine at New Orleans, good April 6, 7 and 8, of $47.50. To enable Shriners and their friends to make extended tours throughout the East the South- ern Pacific has added to the New Orleans trip, where a stop-over privi- lege is given, a run to St. Louis for the same price, and a Chicago trip for $72.50 via New Orleans. Other eastern trips are upon the same basis.

The going limit is fifteen days, and if there is a desire to return to Los Angeles by way of Portland, over the Shasta route, only $24.50 will be added to the price of the round-trip ticket taken to eastern points.

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are en- tirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

When Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do as above stated, it is not strange that we have such great faith in it and that we claim it will prevent bald- ness when used in time. It acts sci- entifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, pre- vent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satis- faction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50c and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it only at our stores—The Rexall Stores. The Owl Drug Co., Inc., Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, Cal., and Seattle, Wash.

CONGRESSIONAL POLITICS.

We asked the attention of readers of The Times the other day to what was going on for the most part in the House of Representatives at Washington. It has been for some weeks past and will be during the rest of the term mostly politics. We will have speeches made on the floor of the House to which every ear there will be closed. A good many of them will never be delivered but simply ordered printed. The newspapermen will gather up the pith of them and telegraph them all over the United States, with the intention of influencing votes next November when a new Congress is elected.

It is not often that we have politics done so vigorously and sensibly in the House of Representatives as the achievement of Mr. Boutell of Illinois on Thursday last.

The spectacular Senator Bailey of Texas has been doing his part of the political campaign in the Senate. The Dingley-Payne-Aldrich tariff laws are unacceptable to Mr. Bailey. He is gloomy over conditions in Texas.

Mr. Boutell in the House proceeded on Thursday to answer the Senator by reading extracts from Texas newspapers, all of one tenor, most optimistic as to the future and most enthusiastic as to the present. When the Democratic members of the House of Representatives interrupted the Illinoisan with a cry that prices were too high, Mr. Boutell retorted with the inquiry, "What prices, cotton?" The Illinois statesman then took the new tariff law in one hand and the market reports in the other and showed article after article where a reduction of the tariff was followed by a rise in prices. Listen to the conclusion.

"If a reduction of 75 cents a hundred on lumber puts the price up, I wonder how high it would go if placed on the free list?"

THE TWISTED MOTHER SENSE.

The extraordinary case of Mrs. William W. Wilson, who palmed off four babies upon her husband as her own, is not to be regarded as a crime. As a crime, it would be stale and commonplace. One of the oldest deceptions ever practiced is that of mixing up the parentage of children. The policemen who are forever seeing crimes in everything nearly succeeded in concealing a real drama when they tried to make this woman out a common crook.

The real interest of this case is as a curious study of the abnormal. It is interesting as a case of intense mother instinct gone crooked. The main feature lies, not in the woman's desire to deceive her husband with four babies belonging to some one else, but in her acting out the agonies of a woman in the pains of childbirth.

The nurse and the physician who had the rare opportunity to be spectators at such an exceedingly pitiful and intensely dramatic episode, say that they sat on the bed and laughed. Next after the study of this singular case of twisted mother sense would come the singular case of almost abnormal density of the doctor and the woman nurse who laughed.

PASADENA AND MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

It is possible that the vote in Pasadena on the municipal ownership of the water plants would have been amply favorable if the city's own experiences with municipal operation and her people's observations of political control of public utilities in Los Angeles had been otherwise.

There is no doubt that a large majority of the people of Pasadena would prefer to own their water system and improve it by means of municipal credit. But Pasadena already has a municipal lighting plant whose cost has greatly exceeded promises and expectations and which has been productive of many disappointments. With all the expenditure of public money and credit, small consumers of electricity in Pasadena pay considerably more for their "juice" (some say 40 per cent.,) than the rate charged by private enterprise.

Then the voters in Pasadena saw the political bosses of the new city administration in Los Angeles laying violent and rapacious hands on the waterworks enterprise here, which had long been regarded as sacred from political manipulation, and making a change in the long-continued management, that must be injurious, in the sole interest of Goo-Goo politics without regard to the welfare of the municipal enterprise.

It is not improbable that these considerations defeated the water bonds in Pasadena on Wednesday. In the political juggling of public funds lies the greatest peril of municipal ownership.

POOR AUNT HETTY.

The pathetic has reached its limit. What poet of sympathy will give the world a new epic? Aunt Hetty Green, New York's millionaire old lady who gets more free advertisement than a prima donna and is more in the spotlight than a reform politician, rises to commend the boycott against meat.

Aunt Hetty eats in company with such other plutocrats as ("make their piles" in reportorial duty on Gotham dailies. In this town, made famous by the Knickerbockers of old and kept so by Tammany Hall and certain editors of papers, you get a steak somewhat larger in area than the half-dollar you pay for it.

Mrs. Green is a truthful person. She did not say: "I can't afford to eat meat at your prices." Such an argument would not be convincing. She simply remarked that you "did not get your money's worth." So she switched on to halibut at 15 cents a slice. She saved seven-tenths of her money, and the fish filled as large a portion of "aching void" beneath her belt as the dearer slice of beef.

The poor man who must eat halibut or "Albany beef" because he has not the wherewithal to meet the meat tariff is an object of pity. But he is used to such self-restraint and learns to "grin and bear" whatever buffet hard fate deals him.

Aunt Hetty could eat mocking-birds' tongues and fill herself up to the muzzle on them if she so desired. Like that famous beauty of the Nile, Mrs. Green could melt pearls and mix them in her cocktails if she had a mind to. But she has a mind to use her money more discreetly.

There is the sad feature of all this. She has "body parts and passions" like other mortals, for she never tried to pass herself off as a goddess. Some time in her earlier years of more discretion she may have "eaten to the full" of luscious steak with trimmings. With the longing in her heart and the money in her pocket, to have this miserable business habit stand between her appetite and bliss is a terrible thing. We have the song of Andromache sung by Homer, and the despair of Dido told by Virgil. Goldsmith invites us to mourn for "Madam Blaize." But who shall tell generations yet unborn of the suffering of Mrs. Green, whose soul fain would feed on steak, but whose thorough knowledge of relative values and whose business principle, inflexible as iron, turn her aside to feast with Jonah?

The kind of plays that are written now are of a caliber that they can be reproduced in the same theater in two months as new plays for the reason that the people have forgotten all about them.

Great difficulty is experienced by the man who desires to keep pace with the excitement. Just as soon as he gets real interested in one excitement another rushes along and bumps it off.

The Nicaraguan revolution has ceased to be interesting, like everything else that is too long drawn out.

CLEAN THEM OUT!

CHANCE FOR SMALL CAPITAL.

A little item in the telegraphic news of The Times, January 28, points like a beacon light to riches for men of small capital and much energy. Way up in Central California a few years ago, a man "down on his luck" and "down and out," cast about for an opportunity to retrieve his fallen fortunes. He went into the bee business and in these few years he has accumulated between 3000 and 4000 hives. Last season his crop of honey amounted to 191 tons and there were thirteen tons of beeswax. He sold the honey at from 4 to 5 cents a pound and the wax at 28 cents. This season he expects to harvest 500 tons of honey and thirty tons of beeswax. The honey at 4 cents a pound, or $80 a ton, would bring $40,000, and the beeswax would bring, at 25 cents a pound, $15,000. The total crop from his hives will, therefore, bring him a revenue of $55,000.

Not every person who goes into it can achieve results like these. Charles Edison, about whom this is told, undoubtedly has made a careful study of the business and gives his time and energy to it. We are speaking of and to sensible, energetic men, not to people of no sense and little energy. The great fact is that there are opportunities of many kinds everywhere for the sensible and energetic person to lift himself to affluence, not to speak of the mere making of a livelihood.

THE ODD JURYMAN.

We have no defense to offer in behalf of the meat packers of the United States. They are probably about as grasping in business and as closely associated together for the purpose of getting the last penny of profits as any persons engaged in any industry in the United States. The "big four" and their associates are not in business for their health. Probably a steak might be had cheaper than the average man gets it and still leave a dividend all along the line among the dealers, big and little.

The Federal government has the case vigorously in hand and the Department of Justice is leaving no stone unturned to force fair dealings for all the people from the meat packers. With Asst. Atty.-Gen. Wade Ellis using the lance and Judge Landis presiding, you may be sure there will be no sore spot not discovered.

This said, we must make a single exception. Let no man expect tco startling revelations from this investigation of the beef trust. The packers seem to be fairly confident that there are no prison bars yawning for any of them. The present inquiry, we are informed, is the result of vigorous activity on the part of four jurors who tried the case against the meat packers on a former occasion. There is the illuminating circumstance which warns us and should warn reasonable people everywhere not to expect too much. Suffice it to say, it is a case of the odd juryman. Of course, in this instance there are four jurymen in the business, but the other eight in the previous trial exculpated the packers from any charge of wrongdoing. We are always "leary" of the odd juryman. He is generally a very conceited fellow and not usually a very wise one.

WISDOM AT THE HELM.

The business world is closely watching the process going on at Washington for forming a law to govern the postal savings banks which are to be instituted in the country. The misgiving on the part of bankers and business men is entirely giving way before the safe course taken by the government.

Little by little the provisions of the new banking law are being given to us. The latest feature is an important one.

When these government savings banks were proposed the question arose, What was to be done with the funds deposited in them? Were they to be withdrawn from the places of deposit and gathered in one great pool at Washington? It was evident that the use made of these banks would be very largely in far-away corners of the country, lacking savings institutions. In such sections money is scarce and local enterprises halt for lack of capital.

Every postal-order postoffice in the United States is to be made a depository for these funds to be entrusted to the government. The government is to pay 2 per cent. for them in multiples of a dollar, no deposit to be over $500. The aggregations are to be placed with the nearest local banks under private management on behalf of the government at a rate of 2½ per cent. per annum interest. The one-quarter of a cent is supposed to repay the government for the trouble of keeping the accounts.

Thus the funds will remain where they belong and help the industries of that section. As the banks will get these funds at 2¼ per cent. compared with 3 per cent. and 4 per cent. paid by savings banks to term depositors, the outlook would be for a little cheaper money in local markets.

That outlook is certainly a cheering and comforting one. It is pleasant to contemplate the business wisdom that is guiding affairs in the government at Washington. We have no dreams, theories nor fads, but solid business principles underlying the administration of the government.

Possibly few of us realize how much this confidence in the business sagacity of the Federal authorities has to do with creating the general prosperity that prevails all through the country at this present time. Just as long as the government is conservative and business-like, business will go on apace. Let the government try to play any tricks with business and immediately you will see every "captain of industry" shrink within his shell, pull in his horns and go to sleep.

IN DEFENSE OF WORRY

Nobody Advances Much, It Is Argued, Who Is Tranquil.

[From the Memphis News Scimitar.]

The turtle never worries. He lives, it is said, in some parts of the earth for 1000 years, or very nearly that long, and maybe longer. In fact, nobody cares very much just how long a turtle does live. Living 1000 years may be a good thing for the turtle. His only discovered purpose is to continue to exist. But animals that worry live more in a minute than the turtle does in his 1000 years.

We hear a lot these days about "Don't worry clubs," and it is an extensive fad to hang up "don't worry" mottoes. All rot!

Worry kills, they say. If it does, it is simply because it stimulates the qualities which are life, and in the degree that where is stimulation there is wearing out, which is death. But what man would want to live the life of a turtle?

If there be any, he has nothing in him that anybody can respect; there is nothing in him that he can respect himself. He might tolerate himself. He could tolerate anything. Toleration would be his only virtue. You could spit on him and he would smile back. You could kick him and he would draw more closely within himself and say nothing. All he wants is to be let live.

This turtle on two legs is of no more use than one on four. And his shell of complacency is as hard and shuts him in as closely from the nerve-throbbing world as does the shell of the turtle.

The successful man has to worry, and he does. Worry is one of the best forms of expression of mental activity. It is the reflection of dissatisfaction with one's shortcomings or conditions. It is the first incentive to improvement. It is the first step toward resolve and effort.

Worrying over trifles is foolish. Worrying other people with our worries is pernicious. You can make life miserable for yourself with the one and for everybody who knows you with the other.

But don't be a turtle!

The man who never worries is nothing but an existence, unsatisfactory to himself and disgusting to others. The mother who never worries has had, the chances are, ten or twelve children born to her and has complacently put eight or ten of them away in their little graves. The graves will probably be nicely kept, but the children underground cannot appreciate that.

Don't worry over worry. You need it. A little of it.

AVIATION AFTERMATH.

The aviation meet, which has just closed in Los Angeles, was a record-breaker in other respects besides the marking up of new figures for the performances of flyers. Millions of people who never before had reason to remember that Los Angeles was on the map have had her name stamped indelibly upon their minds, and thousands seeking information as to the scene of these epochal flights, have learned much about her which they did not want to know, but which, having read, they will carry with them for periods varying according to the tenacity of their memories.

This is a sort of prominence which helps any city, great or small. Los Angeles has set a pace which it will be hard to excel; visitors who had been at Rheims for the great meet there, are quoted as saying that the Los Angeles meet was better in every way.—[Baltimore Star.

The aviation contests which closed in Los Angeles on Thursday, January 20, have advanced the cause of aviation in this country immeasurably and have brought directly home to thousands of people in a concrete form the fact that the conquest of the air has been actually accomplished; that the flying machine has become a fixed fact; and that progress in the future in the perfection of the machines and in their means of operation and control has every prospect of being as rapid as the progress which has been seen when the automobile, which, once a toy of the very wealthy, has become a vehicle in universal use.—[Spokesman-Review.

It has been gratifying to read the interesting and unusual accounts of the aerial exhibitions given in Los Angeles, and to notice still further advances in the use of the aeroplane. It was expected that the aviation meet would be a successful one and that it would net substantial profits to its promoters. This it has done. The startling records of Rheims have been surpassed in many instances and equaled in others.—[Memphis Commercial Appeal.

SCIENCE NOTES.

Wireless Electric Lighting.

Nicola Tesla has announced his practical perfection of the "wireless electric light," with which it will be possible to light the entire United States by the current passing into the air and spreading in all directions, producing the effect of a stupendous aurora borealis. He adds that he intends to supply isolated dwellings which cannot be conveniently reached by wires, and which may be 12,000 miles from the central plant, and that his lamps will burn forever, there being nothing in them to burn out. Tesla is an indefatigable experimenter, and much may be looked for in this new wireless direction, but meantime curiosity will have to wait for the announcement of the source of the power that will provide the enormous electric currents that will be required for such a lighting plant.

Flight of Insects Photographed.

Moving pictures of the flight of insects have been made with exposures of 1-42,000 second. No other photographer has made a kinematographic study of the action of weapons and projectiles employing for illumination electric sparks of the duration of one-ten millionth of a second, and containing pictures of four hundred successive stages of the operation of the firing mechanism of an automatic pistol, although the entire operation occupied only about one-tenth of a second.—[New York News.

Pictures by Telephone.

Sesing by telephone appears to be the next novelty. Dr. Ruhner, a German scientist, has already proved the possibility of such action by the aid of a screen of selenium at each end of the line. A young French inventor, M. Georges Rignoux, has been making very successful experiments in the same line. The screen of selenium at one end of the image is projected transmits a current in proportion to the intensity of the light. The inventor believes that the invention may be so perfected that colors may be transmitted as well, and the illusion of a living picture will be enjoyed by telephone users.

Investigating Air Currents.

Dr. Hergesell, who is spending a short time in New York, has been an extensive investigator of the upper temperature of the air, and he announces his intention of exploring the region about the North Pole by means of a dirigible airship. He will have two airships at his disposal that his plans may not be frustrated by accident. Dr. Hergesell aims to secure what other explorers have not cared for or been unable to obtain.

Study of Cancer.

Dr. James Ewing, head pathologist of Cornell Medical College and president of the American Society for Cancer Research, has been conducting experiments upon animals that science may aid in the work of discovering a cure for cancer in human beings. Apparent success has been secured by injecting a dog afflicted with the disease until it is lifeless, then connect its veins with a healthy animal, and fill them with new blood. The animals treated have been watched for a year after the operation, but none showed a recrudescence of the disease. Whether human beings could be cured of cancer by blood transfusion is, of course, a matter of conjecture. This has not been applied to any human being.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Ernestine Schumann-Heink [illegible] heard at a matinée concert in [illegible] Auditorium this afternoon. [illegible] programme is selected from a [illegible] of composers, representing [illegible] the world's music.

Kirk La Shelle company, [illegible] Klaw & Erlanger, is planning [illegible] re-revival of "The Virginian," [illegible] Tock next May, in which the Paramount brothers will be seen in [illegible] leading roles. Dustin, who first [illegible] the light of stardom as the Virginian, will play the leading role. [illegible] sterling and well-known actor, will enact the loyal but misguided [illegible] while Marshal, now appearing [illegible], will continue in the character of the bad man.

[illegible] of the interesting scenes in [illegible] and the Boys" is that in which [illegible] roulette wheel is brought into a [illegible] entertainment as a diversion. [illegible] was asked recently if he indulged in the game off-stage. "I bet," he replied, with emphasis. "Well, I know so little about it that [illegible] had to explain the whole thing [illegible] at rehearsals."

"Well, do you play bridge?"

"I don't play that, either," was the comedian's rejoinder, "but I have some woman friend who plays [illegible] or rather used to play it, and [illegible] me a funny story about it. [illegible] a sad tale.

[illegible] to her marriage she had been in a small town where bridge was played occasionally as a mild indulgence with tea and cookies to follow. After her marriage she went to New York, and was of course initiated in her husband's set. Among her new acquaintances was a lady whom she had met only once, who one day invited her to come to luncheon. The luncheon was followed by bridge. The affair was delightful, until, on the point of leaving, the hostess said in the sweetest tone:

"I'm so glad you enjoyed the afternoon, dear—and don't forget, you owe me $5."

"For what?" gasped my young friend.

"Why, that was your loss at bridge," replied the other, blandly.

The young woman went home and angrily told her husband of her experience. Without a word he drew a check and handed it to her.

"There, dear," she said between sobs, "my loss was only $75 and this check is for $80."

"Yes, I know," replied her husband, "but send Mrs. Blank a note, and tell her the extra $5 is to pay for your lesson."

DEAL CONCLUDED.

ORPHEUM NOW WITH MOROSCO.

NOT PURCHASES HALF-INTEREST IN MAJESTIC.

[illegible] of House to Continue Under Oliver Morosco's [illegible] — Big Vaudeville [illegible] Has Remarkable Local [illegible]

The Orpheum Theater and Realty [illegible] now has an active interest [illegible] half of the city's first-class [illegible] houses.

[illegible] a deal was concluded between Oliver Morosco, lessee, and M. [illegible] Jr., Martin Beck and Clarence Drown, for a half-interest in the [illegible] of Hamburger's Majestic Theater, built by the Hamburger company last year for Mr. Morosco. The [illegible] is not given, but it was not a small figure. The lease has nine years [illegible] to run.

The new management will be known as the Majestic Theater and Realty company, and it is significant that Mr. Morosco is left in entire charge of the institution, the conduct of which will be [illegible] as before. The Majestic is one of the handsomest theaters in the city, and has been a second syndicate house, being devoted mainly since Mr. Morosco's occupancy to the booking of John Cort's circuit.

Whatever the Orpheum purposes may have been, it is plain that Mr. Morris is now practically checkmated as far as existing theaters in the city are concerned. Though Fred Hartman has the Grand Opera-house, it is not in his power to subsidize it for vaudeville. The Orpheum [illegible] yields that authority there. The Orpheum is about to be built, preliminary work having already started. It is safe to say that the corporation will leave its present quarters [illegible] some proviso concerning their disposal. It is said that the site of the present Orpheum, in fact, may be devoted to an office building.

HOW TO GET A FARM.

[illegible] of Local Land Office Prepare [illegible] ment on the Yuma Opening, March First.

[illegible] of the numerous inquiries [illegible] at the local Land Office in regard to settlement on the Yuma government lands, Registrar Buren and Receiver Robinson prepared a statement yesterday, in which they set forth what procedure the land applicant must follow.

There are 173 farms of approximately 40 acres each which are to be open to entry at 9 o'clock March 1 at the Los Angeles office. Residence must be established within six months from date of entry and maintained for three years to the exclusion of a residence elsewhere. A payment of $300 for each forty-acre piece, in addition to the homestead fees and commissions, must accompany each application. Each December the homesteader must pay the government $300 until the sum equivalent to $45 an acre shall have been paid the government.

Applicants must qualify themselves for entry by examining the land they desire to enter. They must be of age, either born or naturalized or have declared their intention to become naturalized.

Entries will be allowed in the order in which they are received. There will be no drawing or lottery connected with this opening of land, and the first applicant in line on the date of the opening will have the first choice. Plats of the land are now on file in the local office.

Orpheum Theater and Realty pany now has an active interest early half of the city's first-class atres.
Yesterday a deal was concluded beween Oliver Morosco, lessee, and M.
Superfeld, Jr., Martin Beck and Clarce Drew, for a half-interest in the se of Hamburger's Majestic The-, built by the Hamburger com-ny last year for Mr. Morosco. The m is not given, but it was not a ll figure. The lease has nine years run of life.
The new management will be known the Majestic Theater and Realty mpany, and it is significant that Mr. rosco is left in entire charge of the ouse, the conduct of which will main as before. The Majestic is one of the handsomest theaters in the untry, and has been a second syndi-te house, being devoted mainly since Morosco's occupancy to the bookgs of John Cort's circuit.
Whatever the Orpheum purposes
ay have been, it is plain that Wilmers is now practically check-ated so far as existing theaters in s city are concerned. Though Fer-

RECTOR FROM CHINA COMING.

Son of Former Southern California Bishop.

Great Activity in Work of the Bible School.

Baptist Laymen Entertain Col. Haskell.

Los Angeles is to be favored by a visit from Rev. John W. Nichols, son of the bishop of California, Right Rev. William Ford Nichols, who, prior to the formation of the diocese of Los Angeles and the election of Bishop Johnson, also had charge of Southern California. Rev. Mr. Nichols has been a missionary in China for seven years, and for the past few years in charge of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Shanghai.

The purpose of his visit to Los Angeles and Southern California is to present to the members of the Episcopal churches and their friends his plans for the creation of a divinity school at Shanghai, for which he desires to secure $20,000. Bishop Graves of China is so convinced of the need that Mr. Nichols has been delegated to raise the money prior to his return to China at the end of this year. He will make a tour of the country in execution of his trust, and the following local itinerary has been arranged:

He will make his first appearance in this city tomorrow morning, when he will address the Sunday-school in St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral at 9:30 a.m. At 11 o'clock a.m. he will be heard in St. Athanasius Church; 3 p.m., Trinity Mission; 7:30 p.m., All Saints' Church, Pasadena.

Tuesday, February 1, St. Paul's, Pomona, 3 p.m.; at 8 p.m. a banquet will be tendered Mr. Nichols by the Men's Club at the Pomona Tavern.

Wednesday, 2:30 p.m., All Saints,' Riverside; 7:30 p.m., St. John's, San Bernardino.

Thursday, 2:30 p.m., address to Woman's Auxiliary, St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral; 7:30 p.m., St. Luke's, Long Beach.

Friday, 4 p.m., St. Augustine's, Santa Monica; 7:45 p.m., Trinity Mission, Alhambra.

Sunday, February 6, 11 a.m., St. Paul's, San Diego; 7:30 p.m., St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral, Los Angeles.

Monday, 12 m., address Clericus at luncheon.

BIBLE INSTITUTE.

GREAT GOSPEL ACTIVITY.

The annual meeting of the Bible Institute was held yesterday, and was attended by about twenty-five of the officers and workers connected with the institution. Among those present were Lyman Stewart, president; Mrs. A. J. Wells, president of the Women's Auxiliary; E. A. K. Hackett, Rev. A. B. Prichard, Rev. T. C. Horton, Rev. R. A. Hadden, Rev. J. R. Pratt, Rev. Leon Tucker, all of whom are officially connected with the institute, and most of the others present were Bible women, visitors of the sick, evangelists, workers in the oil field and in the shops.

Reports were first heard from the evangelists, Rev. J. R. Pratt, who is holding a series of meetings at Fullerton; Rev. R. A. Hadden, who is at Anaheim; Rev. and Mrs. Thompson, at Willowbrook. They all reported great results, and Bible women will at once go to these places and start Bible classes, for the further education and instruction of those who have manifested an interest in their spiritual welfare.

Rev. T. C. Horton reported that 125 young men, members of his Fishermen's Club, attend the meeting each Monday night. Mrs. Horton's class of girls meets on Tuesday night, and now has an enrollment of over 250, with an average weekly attendance of 120.

Miss Rice, one of the visitors among the sick, related touching incidents of her work, and pleaded for a hospital for girls and women, where they may be treated at little cost. She said the condition of many seemed hopeless, because they are unable to pay hospital fees and their surroundings are often so unsuitable that recovery is impossible.

Four of the Bible women related experiences in "sowing the seed" in the byways. They visit women in various neighborhoods and establish Bible classes in residences opened to them. The eight women who follow this work held eighty-seven classes during the month of December.

Reports from Tom Hannay, who is known as "The Sky Pilot" along the aqueduct, indicate that he is having a marked influence over the habits and conduct of the laborers. As an evidence that his work is thought to be worth while, he was able to raise $500 at Mojave, for the erection of a little chapel, and the lumber to build it has been shipped from this city. He has held all his meetings in the open air.

The reports from all departments show wonderful activity, and the far-reaching character of the work, meetings and Bible classes being held not only in the city but in many of the outlying towns. It is entirely interdenominational, the teaching being confined strictly to the simple gospel, and meetings are held in churches of all denominations. The work has spread so rapidly that the quarters of the institution, at Third and Main streets, are fast becoming inadequate, and there is talk of seeking a new location with more room.

BAPTIST LAYMEN'S BANQUET.

COL. HASKELL HONOR GUEST.

One of the most notable meetings among the Baptists of Los Angeles in many days was the one held last night in the banquet-room of the Hotel Hollenbeck, when representative laymen of the various Baptist churches enjoyed a banquet in honor of Col. E. H. Haskell of Boston, the national president of the American Baptist Home Mission Society. F. S. Yager, president of the Baptist Monday Club, under whose auspices the gathering was held, occupied the chair. After alluding to the progress in missionary sentiment in the present movement to modify the existing Chinese exclusion laws, he introduced the toastmaster of the evening, D. R. Edwards, about to leave on a trip to the Orient, to inspect for himself the condition of affairs in the eastern hemisphere.

Col. Haskell is a typical instance of the successful business man of large enterprises, who believes that business men should place their acumen at the disposal of great institutions that are existing for the uplift of humanity. He says he is looking constantly for investments that pay, and his investments in missionary enterprises, at home and abroad, pay the largest dividends of any it has been his fortune to make.

He was a member of a Baptist commission that visited China and Japan a few years ago to report to the denomination at home the exact condition of affairs, and the needs on the mission fields. Col. Haskell had every advantage, through contact with high officials and missionary statesmen, to gain accurate impressions. He found, particularly in China, a very cordial feeling entertained toward the United States. America, he says, is not regarded as being in the Orient for what she can extract from it, but for what she can impart in disinterested helpfulness.

He said the gods are being thrown out of many of the temples that they may be converted into schoolhouses, and the coming of delegations of students to gain education in the United States is producing a good impression.

Col. Haskell declared missions to be a man's business, worthy of his thought and interest. He believes that the missionary societies are well within propriety in calling for a doubling of subscriptions for all the great cause, and said he hoped Los Angeles laymen would awake to the possibilities of the coming Laymen's Missionary Convention.

NEW HEBREW MISSION.

ESTABLISHED BY MARK LEV.

Mark Lev, a converted Jew, who has been delivering Bible lectures in this city for some weeks past, has opened a mission, and intends to make his permanent home in Los Angeles. He has named it Immanuel Mission, located at No. 921 West Eighth street, where he maintains a free reading-room, open to all Jews, from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m., each day, except Sunday. He holds evangelistic meetings at 2 and 4:30 p.m., on Sunday. In his mission paper, which he is about to publish, he will say:

"Reformed Judaism' is a misnomer. Any attempt at a reformation of Judaism, by means of modern innovations and ape imitations, will result only in a deformation. It is a mistaken notion that the reformed synagogue is a stepping-stone to Christianity; we have more hope for the orthodox Jews, who are holding on technically to the inspired Word of God, and are looking for the coming of a personal redeemer."

MEETINGS AT Y.M.C.A.

DIRECTORS GOING ROUND.

A farewell reception will be tendered D. K. Edwards and W. S. Bartlett at the Y.M.C.A., on Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Both are directors of the association, and will leave next week for a trip around the world. Members of the board of directors will make short addresses, and a quartette composed of the wives of association secretaries, will sing.

E. A. K. Hackett will lead a personal workers' conference at 2:55. At 3:20 the men's meeting will be addressed by M. A. Clelae, and there will be music by A. L. Miller, harpist, and by a quartette composed of Mrs. D. E. Luther, Mrs. E. H. Emett, Mrs. O. T. Johnson and Mrs. C. F. Quillian.

There will also be a meeting for the younger men in Triangle Hall, and for boys in the boys' parlor.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

CONVERT'S ANNIVERSARY.

C. Lyle Harris, now pastor of the Congregational Church at Barstow, will celebrate his second spiritual birthday, at the City Rescue Mission, No. 606 East Fifth strete, on Tuesday evening. Mr. Harris is an unusually bright young man, the son of a minister of the gospel, but, who, after having gone far astray from the teachings of his father, is himself "making good" as a preacher.

Rev. A. W. Rider will occupy the pulpit of Temple Baptist Church, in the Auditorium, on Sunday morning, and in the evening B. F. Pearson, O. D. Conrey and Giles Kellogg will present the cause of the Union Rescue Missions. Rev. J. W. Brougher, who has been elected pastor, will preach his first sermon on Sunday, February 6.

Mrs. Kate W. Barrett, president of the National Florence Crittenton Mission, will address a mass meeting in the First Methodist Church, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

William Murphy will speak in Volunteer's Hall on Sunday evening, and Mrs. Wayland Trask will sing.

"Sights and Scenes in Egypt," will be the subject of a stereopticon lecture by Rev. A. C. Smither, in the First Christian Church, on Sunday night. His morning topic will be: "Our Elims."

Rev. Joseph H. Smith of Meridian, Miss., will assist Rev. V. H. Brink in a series of revival meetings, to begin in the Huntington Park Methodist Church tomorrow.

Mrs. Van Meter of Highland Park, will speak of "The Mountain Whites" at the vesper service of the Young Women's Christian Association at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

CAN'T TALK ON POLITICS.

English Army Officer and His Wife Reach Los Angeles on Tour of This Country.

Maj. William Fellowes Collins of the "Scots Greys" and Lady Evelyn Collins registered yesterday morning at the Alexandria from London. He was attired in the gray tweed, commonly affected by English tourists, and wore a monocle when he first stepped into the lobby. His hat was an Alpine beaver and his shirt, with soft collar and cuffs, was very negligee and quite the thing for driving, for the major and Lady Evelyn are very fond of driving.

Maj. Collins said that his real address is with his regiment, and that their home is Knaresborough House, Knaresborough, York, Yorkshire, Eng.

Like most English tourists, the major was a reticent talker. Patient questioning elicited the fact that he had served in the South African campaign from 1899 to 1900 and had received his promotion to major during that time.

He showed particular pride in the announcement that his wife, Lady Evelyn, is a sister of the Duke of Roxburghe, "who married Miss May Goelet, daughter of Ogden Goelet, in 1903, don't you know."

When questioned regarding politics in England he said: "The situation is very complicated, a situation that I cannot discuss, since I am not in Parliament, but in the army."

YOUNG WOMEN ENTERTAIN.

Fine Musical Programme and Amusing Debate on Question of Airship Traffic in City.

The Young Women's Orchestra, which has been trained under William H. Mead, gave a delightful recital last night, to an audience that filled the auditorium of the Young Women's Christian Association. Between the two parts of the musical programme, the class in parliamentary drill gave a demonstration of what it has learned during the past four months under the direction of Mrs. J. A. Osgood. The demonstration was exploited in the discussion of the following question: "Resolved, that the city of Los Angeles furnish airships for the transportation of passengers."

Large crowds visited the exhibits in the arts and crafts, sewing, millinery, cooking, gymnasium and commercial branches. The new term will open February 1, and registration should be attended to at once.

Campbell Morgan's Lesson Helps.

BRIEF, PRACTICAL AND VALUABLE COMMENTS ON THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSONS.

By G. Campbell Morgan, D.D.

SOME LAWS OF THE KINGDOM.

Golden Text: Matthew v, 48.

"Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your Heavenly Father is perfect."

The Lesson:

Matthew v, 17-26, 38-48.

(17) Think not that I come to destroy the law or the prophets: I came not to destroy but to fulfill. (18) for verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass away, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass away from the law, till all things be accomplished. (19) Whosoever, therefore, shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, shall be called least in the kingdom of heaven. (20) For I say unto you, that except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and Pharisees, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven.

(21) Ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: (22) but I say unto you, that every one who is angry with his brother shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council; and whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of the hell of fire. (23) If, therefore, thou art offering thy gift at the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath aught against thee, (24) leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way, first be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift. (25) Agree with thine adversary quickly, while thou art with him in the way; lest haply the adversary deliver thee to the judge, and the judge deliver thee to the officer, and thou be cast into prison. (26) Verily I say unto thee, Thou shalt by no means come out thence, till thou have paid the last farthing.

(38) Ye have heard that it was said, An eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth; (39) but I say unto you, Resist not him that is evil: but whosoever smiteth thee on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. (40) and if any man would go to law with thee, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloak also. (41) And whosoever shall compel thee to go one mile, go with him twain. (42) Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away.

(43) Ye have heard that it was said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy; (44) but I say unto you, Love your enemies, and pray for them that persecute you; (45) that ye may be sons of your Father which is in heaven; for he maketh his sun to rise on the evil and the good, and sendeth rain on the just and the unjust. (46) For if ye love them that love you, what reward have ye? Do not even the publicans the same? (47) And if ye salute your brethren only, what do ye more than others? Do not even the Gentiles the same? (48) Ye therefore shall be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect.

Perhaps no recorded words of Jesus have filled the heart of man with fear and wonder in the way in which these have. All kinds of attempts have been made to escape from them. These have resulted in some cases from a misunderstanding of the text, due to the mistake of removing it from its context. In other cases they have been due to unwillingness to yield complete obedience to the demands of Christ. No change whatever in value is created by the change in translation in the revised version. Whether the words as they fell from the lips of Jesus were in the imperative or indicative mood matters nothing. If He said, "Be ye therefore perfect," it is for us to remember that His commands are always equivalent to promises inasmuch as He never bids us to do anything without providing power, by availing ourselves of which we are able to obey. If He said, "Ye shall therefore be perfect," we must remember that all His promises are commands, inasmuch as their realization depends upon our fulfilment of conditions.

These words end a section in which Christ has been dealing with that Mosaic law in which the men who listened to Him had been brought up. I cannot refrain from saying that I consider it is a great pity that in the international lesson the passage is mutilated by omission, and I should strongly advise every teacher at least to have the whole movement in mind when dealing with this final word of Jesus.

Let it be recognized, first of all, then, that in Christ's reference to the law of Moses, there is not a trace of abrogation, but rather that of fulfilment of intention. In this case there is a most significant and important alteration in the revision. The text of the authorized in each case reads, "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time," "to them" being the marginal reading of the authorized. The difference is important because in the one case the method of statement would give color to the idea that He looked upon the Mosaic economy as originating with them of old time, whereas as a matter of fact He looked upon them as being merely the instruments through which the divine law was given to men. All this becomes the more patent in view of these closing words, in which He recognized that the ancient law was the law of a Father. Its deeper meanings which Christ unveiled were but the profounder revelations of the Father. In His law God reveals Himself. Therefore, as your Father is perfect, ye shall be perfect. The kingdom is of the King. The King is the Father. In proportion therefore as men obey His law they are like Him. That was the Mosaic idea. Christ begins from the other center, and by bringing men into relationship with God as Father, His declaration is that in proportion as men are like the Father, they will obey His law.

The whole section therefore dealing with the law as given to them of old time, and now interpreted by Jesus, constitutes a revelation of God. This is the key to an understanding of the entire paragraph. It opens with the declaration on the part of Christ that He has not come to abrogate the law. There is to be no setting aside thereof. God is a God of law, and insists upon government in the interests of His children. The law, revealing the Father is a law characterized by a sense of the value of life, and makes provision for its guarding. There is to be no destruction of life, neither must there be any injury to character by slander. This God of law and of regard for life demands purity in the sacred and fundamental family relationship, thereby safeguarding the material basis of life. God is a God of essential truth, and His law demands such simplicity of truth as makes oaths unnecessary. He is, moreover, one Himself, devoting all His resources to the interests even of those who have sinned against Him, and His law demands a service which submerges compulsion, and captures the oppressor. Finally, He is a God of love, and His law demands such overwhelming mastery of love as is expressed in love, not merely toward kindred and friends, but toward enemies.

In the light of such revelation of the Father, we now interpret the meaning of the word of the text. "Ye shall therefore be perfect, as your heavenly Father is perfect." That perfection consists first in the ordered life which abides under government. Restlessness under control is contrary to the nature and will of God, and is therefore a disturbing and destructive element in the universe, preventing the establishment of the kingdom of God.

That perfection consequently expresses itself in jealous guardianship of the interests of others. It makes the taking of life impossible, and equally prevents unjust judgments and bitter speech.

That perfection is expressed in absolute chastity, so rigorously observed that personal mutilation is to be preferred to relative incontinence. That perfection is therefore revealed in methods of simple speech, resulting from truth in the inward part in matters of thought and purpose. It is a purification of sacrificial service which has no desire to avenge personal wrongs, but is prepared to overwhelm unjust demands by abounding response. And, finally, it manifests itself in a love even for those who are enemies, and who persecute; which love is the direct outcome of the relationship of sons to the Father.

The deepest thought therefore in this injunction is enshrined in the great word "Father." All the laws of life given by Moses, and more perfectly interpreted by Christ, are the laws of God, and give expression to the truth concerning His own nature. The perfection which is insisted upon is that of the realization of our kinship to God, and of a conduct which results from our abandonment thereto.

It is of the utmost importance that we recognize at once that if Jesus has done no more than utter this great ideal, He has left man in a more hopeless condition that Moses did. The centuries proved man's inability to obey the law of Moses, and when that law is made even severer by profounder interpretation, the difficulty becomes greater. The thought therefore of the Fatherhood of God involved in the teaching of Jesus is not that merely of the kinship which man has with Him by first creation, but of the relation which he may bear to Him when, the work of Jesus being accomplished, man is made, in a newer and fuller sense, "partaker of the divine nature."

Christian Endeavor.

THE ROMANCE OF MISSIONS.

Terse Comments Upon the Christian Endeavor Topic for January 30: "The Most Stirring Events of Foreign Missionary History."—Acts xiv, 8-20.

By William T. Ellis.

A young American man stood in his home in a Chinese city. He had refused to leave the little company of his imperiled yellow friends. Now a mob of natives, yelling, gesticulating, frenzied, blood-thirsty, has surrounded the house. They cry for his life. They bring brands and ammunition. Roars of execration set fire to the building. The man is a good shot, and he has a rifle. He raises it, takes aim, then shakes his head and puts it down. He cannot kill those for whom he had come to give his life. If they want his life they can have it. He throws down the rifle, and waits with folded arms. Thus a chariot of fire bore to a martyr's crown one of the recent missionaries in China.

A great deal of foolishness is talked about the danger and heroism of missionary life. It is assumed that every missionary is in deadly peril, and ever undergoing deprivations. This conception does not square with the facts. Most missionaries are safe and comfortable. Yet when this has been said it must be admitted that many live constantly as near neighbors to danger. When I was setting out a few years ago, on a somewhat risky trip up into the interior of China, my missionary hosts making the parting inquiries concerning bedding, fuel, cooking utensils, etc., added, quite as a matter of fact, and in the same tone of voice: "Now, remember, that the Chinese cannot swim; and that if you can thrash, or make ridiculous, the leader of a mob, you will have staved off the immediate danger." It would require a book to narrate the matter-of-fact stories of narrow escapes and stirring escapades through which missionaries I have met on their fields have passed through. In some countries there is still the spice of possible trouble to flavor all mission work.

Stirring events are not always the ones that make the most stir. The quiet humdrum constructive service counts for most in missions, as in everything else.

The quiet, matter-of-fact and conventional manner in which the young newspaper man, Henry M. Stanley, stepped up to a lonely old man in the heart of Africa and said, raising his cap, "Dr. Livingstone, I believe?" is a supremely dramatic episode in the annals of missions. Stanley's feat in penetrating into the Dark Continent is now history; and Livingstone's body now reposes in Westminster Abbey. Missionary and scientific zeal and heroism on the part of Livingstone were matched by journalistic enterprise and daring and resourcefulness on the part of Stanley. That experience made Stanley a firm believer in missions, and caused him to carry to civilization the plea for missionaries to Uganda which quickly opened that land to the gospel.

Amos R. Wells has grouped several well-known incidents from missionary biography as follows:

"It was a stirring event in India when, on July 2, 1878, after careful examination, 2222 Telugu believers were baptized in a single day. And this was in a mission that had been so discouraging—the "Lone Star" mission—that the church at home had often been on the point of abandoning it.

"A terrible event in Burman missions was the imprisonment of Judson during a war between England and Burma. He spent seventeen months in horrible confinement, his heroic wife ministering to him.

"The most stirring event in Chinese missions was the Boxer massacres of 1899 and 1900, in which 188 Protestant missionaries and their children were slain, and about fifty Catholic missionaries, with 5000 native Protestants and about 20,000 native Catholics. The stanchness of Chinese Christianity was proved beyond all possibility of future doubt.

"The Armenian massacres furnish the most striking scenes in the missionary history of Turkey. Beginning in August, 1894, they raged for two years. More than 40,000 Armenian Christians were killed in the most cruel manner.

"John G. Paton's life on the Island of Tanna in the New Hebrides was a succession of thrilling scenes, culminating in his miraculous escape to the Island of Aniwa. On Aniwa perhaps the most exciting scene was the sinking of the well and the coming up of water from below, which seemed a miracle to the natives, and won him great power over them.

"The killing of Bishop Hannington by the natives of Uganda is one of the most terrible scenes in the missionary history of Africa. This was in 1885, just as the bishop was approaching his field of work; and since then that region has become one of the strongest Christian centers in all Africa."

A tremendous truth about the missionary enterprise is its extemporaneousness. Its glorious past is being eclipsed by a more glorious present. There are movements in mission lands today as stirring as any recorded since Pentecost. The effort of Korean Christians to place a portion of the New Testament in every home in the empire is big—dramatically big and moving. The revivals in Manchuria and China and India read like fiction. The transformation of Uganda, with the present generation, goes back to the first century for a parallel. The Laymen's Movement in the homeland has in it the stir of conquest. The great conference this spring in Edinburgh will be an unrivaled marshaling of Christendom's forces. The Christian who does not read the Christian news of the day is almost as badly off as the one who does not read his Bible.

...ry Suggestion.

...first built your own bungalow ...built-in book shelves, then skip this—it is not meant for you, but it applies to the 40 or 70 per cent., more or less, of the population of Los Angeles who are not living in homes where the built-in library shelves forever solve the problem of storing books.

Of all the bookcases I have ever seen, none appeal so strongly to me as the sectional style, correctly called the "elastic" bookcases—because you can multiply them indefinitely by simply adding section after section as your library grows. They can be obtained in a dozen different finishes of quartered oak or mahogany to match the interior finish of your library and in lengths to fit almost any space. Best of all, they are inexpensive.

For the boy or girl who is collecting a library of his or her favorite books—and I know of no better habit to cultivate than this—these sectional cases are just the thing. As the library grows, a birthday, Christmas or other anniversary gift of a new section to house the constantly increasing volumes is hailed with delight. The glass drop-doors are dust-proof, and that is an important item in this country, where dust is the bane of the housewife's existence.

The open shelves mean constant care in dusting, and curtains are an inadequate protection; but these sectional cases eliminate the dust question, and, if one prefers to have open cases during his library working hours, it is a simple matter to raise the glass doors and shove them back out of sight, leaving all the books exposed.

Another important thing is that the cases can be built to fit any space—one section can run under the window seat, two more can be placed in the hall under the stairway, and all the odd nooks and corners in the house utilized by these handy units.

California Real Estate.

While we are speaking of California dust, did you know that it has been utilized and commercialized? I don't mean in the ordinary real-estate fashion of building lots. Not at all; but a certain firm has discovered that a certain sort of California dust can be made into a most wonderful nail polish. This nail shine, I understand, has received recognition by some of the largest European manufacturers of toilet preparations, and it is handled by leading local concerns here. It comes in the form of little oblong paper pads which have been treated to this powder, and you apply it simply by rubbing the paper across the palm of your hand and then polishing your nails—no buffer required. I have tried it and I must say the result is rather wonderful. Your nails shine with a beautiful luster which is not affected by washing the hands.

Colors and Combinations.

Zebelines are still immensely popular.

It is the style to look snug and warm.

Gaudy stockings are being flaunted again.

Skirts are to be a bit wider about the feet.

Blouse effects in bodices are with us again.

Lilies of the valley are used on blue and pink stockings.

Nothing is more in the style than the untrimmed fur turban.

Everything tends to show that this is to be a big silk year.

High shoes of suede, with patent-leather vamps, are very smart.

The coat of the coming season is very likely to be shorter.

Newest costumes from Paris are generally very severe in design.

Latest hatpins for the fur turbans have immense crystal heads.

The graceful Gainsborough is still the leader among evening hats.

The shawl is now one of the most important articles of dress in Paris.

Velvet, both black and colored, holds sway as the material of the season.

Military effects in buttons and braids trim a good many suits in novel ways.

Diagonal silks are in great demand, as well as black taffetas and in soft textures.

Long, tight, severely plain sleeves are rapidly giving way to the elaborate models.

Fine frills of hemstitched lawn brighten up a woolen or dark silk waist wonderfully.

Street Car Crowding.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Noting your editorial in today's issue regarding the overcrowding of street cars during "rush hours," I am forced to comment and make a suggestion, which, I believe, would in a measure partly overcome this congestion.

For example, take the Angeleno Heights and Temple cars, which would more than likely come under your observation. Why could not every third car on the Temple and Angeleno lines, after 4 o'clock p.m., turn back at the Broadway switch just in front of your office, thereby saving such a long delay going through First street to the San Pedro turning point? It appears to me this would relieve matters quite a little and could be applied to other lines equally congested. Often, it takes fully twenty to thirty minutes for cars to go from Los Angeles street to Broadway and, of course, while these cars are delayed, the people are piling on, consequently the following cars will not be nearly so crowded.

I note, within the last six months, the registers on the Temple cars being "fixed" so as to hide the number of passengers shown as on the car. At this time, "rush hours," I have counted as many as 120 passengers to the trip, as registered, by the time the car reached Fremont avenue. Some little comment being made regarding this overloading, the register dial was painted out. Of course, there was no motive in this? I am a "hanger-on" every night and ofttimes in the morning. Have gotten used to it.

Should be some way to overcome this trouble without discommoding the railway company to any great extent. Comes the worst, could adopt the latest eastern wrinkle, "No seat, no pay." A HANGER.

VICTIM FOUND ON LAWN.

Police, Aroused by Alarm, Rush to the Scene of Supposed Crime—Find Dead Dog.

When a clerk answered the telephone in the detective bureau shortly after noon yesterday he knew that some foul crime was to be reported from the ominous ring of the bell.

"There's been a murder committed by Japs," came in an excited voice from the other end. "The victim now lies on a lawn at No. 1213 Westlake avenue."

Officers were hustled into the patrol wagon for a quick run; the University district was notified to send officers in the automobile patrol to the scene and various private watchmen in the vicinity of the scene of the alleged crime were called.

A cordon of sleuths, alert for the escaping murderers, closed in with breathless haste. The circle drew closer until only the lawn was surrounded.

The victim was found. His head was beaten in, his back was broken and his feet were turned up toward the noonday sun. But the existence which had been cut short was that of a dog.

Disgusted sleuths turned wearily back toward their respective stations. They said nothing, but quietly resolved that they would make an effort to find the perpetrator of the "joke." It was probably well for him that he was not present when the mystery was unraveled.

HE'S WISE.

CANADIAN IS HOME BOOSTER.

BUT THIS CLIMATE APPEALS IN THE WINTER TIME.

Gives Yankee Farmers Credit for Developing Wheat Regions of King Edward's Domain—Tells of Great Grain Movements—Many of His Countrymen Are Here.

D. McKellar, Fort Williams, Ontario, Can. This name and location announce the presence of one of the leading iron-mine owners of the great Northwest at the Lankershim, according to Benton Bond, the chief clerk, for many years a Canadian hotel manager.

Mr. McKellar is a Scotchman who settled many years ago on the north shore of Lake Superior, and with the development of the country became an important factor. Wearing a beard, cut half Van Dyke, Mr. McKellar might readily be mistaken for his millionaire countryman, Andrew Carnegie, if he were viewed only while sitting. As soon as he arises his height at once takes him out of the Carnegie class.

His fortune—and it is reputed to be of ample proportions—has been made in iron mines in Ontario and in real estate around Fort Williams and Port Arthur. Boosting these places, particularly the former, is his hobby.

"Fort Williams is one of the best cities in Canada," said Mr. McKellar. "It is the terminus of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern railroads. The Canadian Pacific Railroad runs through and terminates just five miles farther along, at Port Arthur. It won't be long before these two places are consolidated, making one of the greatest cities of Canada.

"At present Fort Williams is one of the largest wheat-shipping points in America, ranking next to Duluth, Minn. The three railroads bring millions of bushels of grain from the interior country for shipment by steamer via the Great Lakes. The amount increases each year, with the increase of population in the Canadian wheat districts.

"Why, in Fort Williams alone last year seven new grain elevators of modern type were erected. Each of these holds from 100,000 to 1,500,000 bushels of grain. There are seven other elevators in the city, and the next year will see more built, showing with what rapid strides Fort Williams is moving to the front."

Mr. McKellar paid a tribute to the Yankee farmer when he said: "The American farmer, with his modern methods, his energy and pluck, is fast transforming our prairie lands to wheat lands. He has, more than any other factor, been the cause of the development of our country."

Mr. McKellar seemed anxious to talk about California and particularly Los Angeles. He said:

"Probably you don't know it, but Los Angeles is the most-talked-of city in Canada. Why, every one who travels visits Los Angeles, and there are colonies of Canadian people who are spending the winter in this vicinity. With my family, I am going to Ocean Park for two months. There are nearly a dozen families from Fort Williams down there, and there are others here in the city. I have a telegram from home which incidentally mentions that it is 12 deg. below zero there. We can hardly realize it is winter here."

There are six persons in Mr. McKellar's party, all of whom will remain until the middle of April.

EXHIBIT DRAWS CROWDS.

Architects Will Give a Banquet Tomorrow Night as Fitting End to a Successful Display.

About 2400 persons visited the architectural exhibition on the fourth floor of the Hamburger building yesterday. The exhibition will be continued today and until 9 o'clock tomorrow night.

The exhibition has proven one of the most successful ever held in any city of the country, which fact is due in a large measure to the efforts and resourcefulness of the manager, M. A. Vinson. It was through his knowledge of conditions and influence that many of the collections and other exhibits were secured.

The members of the Los Angeles Architectural Club will have a banquet tomorrow evening, beginning at 6:30 o'clock, in the exhibition hall. Manufacturers and dealers and other patrons of the exhibition will be their guests. A. F. Rosenheim will act as toastmaster, and a number of speeches will be made.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

PASADENA.

TWO TONS OF AUTO ON HER.

Girl Crushed Beneath Rich Man's Touring Car.

Same Machine Knocks Down Her Companion.

Man Electrocuted in Sight of His Wife.

Office of The Times, No 26 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Jan. 28.—Miss Katherine Egan and Miss Leddy were knocked down by an automobile driven by a rich tourist named C. H. Howard, yesterday afternoon. The latter escaped injury, but both wheels of the big Packard touring car passed over Miss Egan. For a time it was thought her life had been crushed out. Examination proved that she sustained one broken rib and a badly-bruised breast and back.

Miss Egan is employed as a stenographer for the Allen-Pye Company, real estate dealers, on South Raymond avenue. She started home from work, accompanied by Miss Leddy, at whose home she lives. As the girls were crossing Colorado street, just west of Raymond avenue, they were run down by C. H. Howard, a wealthy retired paper manufacturer of Neenah, Wis., who, with his family, is spending the winter at Hotel Maryland. The girls were crossing the street diagonally and the automobile came up behind them running at the rate of two miles per hour, according to the statement of Howard. They stepped immediately in front of the car and before the machine could be stopped both were knocked down and two wheels passed over Miss Egan. With the assistance of bystanders, Howard assisted in carrying the girls to Vincent's drug store.

Dr. S. J. Mattison, who was an eye-witness, called the ambulance and took both young ladies to the Pasadena Hospital. Later, Miss Leddy was driven to her home, No. 725 North Raymond avenue, by Howard, in his machine. Dr. Mattison states that, unless complications set in, Miss Egan will recover. She came to Pasadena a year ago from Philadelphia.

"It was a wonder Miss Egan was not instantly killed," said Howard last night. "I saw the young ladies and turned the machine slightly away from them, thinking they had stopped to let me pass. The first thing I knew they were down to the ground and the front wheel passed over one of them. I have done everything I can to help out since the sad accident. I am very glad it was no worse than it is, and hope she will recover in a short time. I don't understand how my heavy machine could pass over her and not simply crush her into the ground. It weighs 3200 pounds alone and there were four of us in the automobile, which would make a total weight of nearly 4000 pounds. I have been driving machines for twelve years and never had an accident before."

SEES HUSBAND ELECTROCUTED.

Peter E. Olsen, a lineman for the Edison company, was electrocuted yesterday while working at the top of a telephone pole. He was sitting on a cross arm and fell across one of the Edison power wires. As he tumbled he screamed and attracted the attention of other linemen. A rope was quickly thrown around him and he was lowered part way to the ground. Suddenly the rope slipped and Olsen fell fifteen feet, striking a pile of rocks. Every effort was made to bring back life, but without avail. There were few marks on his body and only a small burn on one hand. Olsen's wife was standing nearby when he fell across the live wire and also heard his scream for help.

ENTERTAINED ROOSEVELT.

William Northrup McMillan, who entertained Ex-President Roosevelt at his magnificent "Ju Ja Ranch" in East Africa, last spring, while he was hunting big game, arrived at the Hotel Maryland yesterday morning, registering from London. He was accompanied by Maj. C. H. Ringer of London and Mr. and Mrs. William C. Stribbling and Miss Thornburg of St. Louis.

Mr. McMillan will spend the winter in Pasadena, visiting with his mother, Mrs. William McMillan of St. Louis, who arrived at the Raymond a few days ago, accompanied by a party of friends. He is a son of the late William McMillan, president of the St. Louis Car and Foundry Company.

In addition to his great ranch in East Africa, Mr. McMillan owns a fine home in St. Louis, a house in London, and a country home in Essex, Eng. Several years ago he went to East Africa with a party of friends on a hunting expedition, and took a fancy to his ranch, which consists of 20,000 acres, with over 500 servants, and bought it. He has made extensive improvements, and has one of the finest estates in East Africa.

"Ex-President Roosevelt was my guest for six weeks last spring," said Mr. McMillan yesterday. "He is a charming man and during his stay with me we had some great sport. We were out on several shooting trips and succeeded in bagging some big game. Ten days of the time he was my guest we spent out on the ranch, and the balance of the time we spent at my house in Nairobe.

"During Mr. Roosevelt's trip there has been much said in the papers regarding the dangers of hunting in Africa, but those are not so bad as pictured. Of course the sport is different from anything in this country, but when one understands it there is not much danger. His trip has started an army of hunters from all parts of the world into Africa.

"We have a great many visitors at our estates in East Africa, and it is our custom to keep open house for all. There are a large number of Americans in that country all the time, as well as sportsmen from England and other countries."

LARGE RECEPTION.

Mrs. George Mason Barber of Oakland avenue, assisted by her sister-in-law, Miss Fannie Barber, entertained 400 women friends yesterday afternoon at a reception given in honor of Mrs. Romeyn M. Paine, formerly of Chicago, who has recently come here to reside and will build a home at Oak Knoll.

Golden acacia and daffodils brightened the dining-room, where refreshments were served. Music was furnished by an orchestra. The unbonneted women assisting were: Mmes. Charles W. Gates, Frederick L. Brown, Ira Colby Goodridge, William Douglas Turner, William D. Murphy, William Merwin, A. Moss Merwin, Henry H. Klamroth, L. S. Roberts, Arturo Bandini; Misses Marlow, Abbott, Roberts, Crawford, Morrison and Louise Barber.

Miss Edith Edminson of South Marengo avenue was the hostess yesterday at a débutante luncheon. The table was decorated with jonquils, candles shaded with yellow flower shades, and the color scheme was carried out with yellow tulle and accessories. Covers were laid for Misses Margaret Sherk, Florence Thomson, Louise Hawkins, Margaret Percy, Marguerite Torrey, Gladys Waterman, Bessie Mattison, Gladys Percy, Elizabeth McMeechen and Hugiene Sawyer.

The engagement of Miss Kate Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith of Columbia street, and Anson Lisk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Lisk of South Euclid avenue, was formally announced at a luncheon given yesterday by Mrs. Edward L. Doheny, Chester Place, Los Angeles. The date of the marriage has been set for March 26 and the wedding will be at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. C. M. Tulloch entertained a few friends yesterday with a bridge luncheon at her home, "Hill Farm," San Rafael Heights.

GO SLOW.

ORANGES MOVE SO LANGUIDLY.

GROWERS WAIT TO FIND WHAT WAS FROST'S DAMAGE.

Duarte-Monrovia Exchange Ships Only Upon Orders, While he Independent Houses Are Closed Till Monday—Truants Go Far on Crazy Kind of Bicycle.

MONROVIA, Jan. 27.—Harvesting of the orange crop is progressing slowly. The exchange is shipping only on orders at the rate of fifteen cars per week. Duarte and Monrovia Exchange houses are open, but the working force, including picking crews, is less than seventy-five. The independent houses are closed, but will reopen Monday, forwarding one car per day. These shipments will also be on orders.

Usually at this time, marketing of the crop is under full headway and packing-houses are working to capacity.

Delay in marketing is caused by the desire to ascertain the extent of injury by frost. The majority of growers have had years of experience and learned that inferior fruit is always a gamble, with odds in favor of a freight debit. Sufficient time has elapsed to judge the harm done with some degree of accuracy. The extreme low temperature of December 18, and January 4, affected the entire district, but caused comparatively slight loss. Succeeding frosts affected only the lower orchards lying beyond the heat radiation from the mountains.

Sixty miles on an old twenty-two-inch bicycle were covered yesterday by two San Bernardino lads. They left their home about 10 a.m. and tired, hungry and dirty, were taken in custody by Constable Thomas of this city about 6 o'clock in the evening. They gave their names as Raymond Adams and Tollie Loper, 10 and 11 years of age, respectively. They admitted being hungry and penniless, but were inclined to enter a demurrer to the charge of truancy. One said they were en route to visit a brother in Los Angeles, but naively added, "our folks didn't know we were a comin'." After being fed, they were placed in charge of the Sheriff's office for return to their parents.

SOUTH PASADENA.

SOUTH PASADENA, Jan. 28.—The footbridge connecting Garvanza with South Pasadena, washed away during the recent flood in the arroyo, has been rebuilt.

The home of L. Miller, No. 901 Monterey road, was entered day before yesterday, while the family was away. Forty dollars in currency was taken, some old coins, and jewelry.

The Epworth League of the Methodist Church held a "home talent" entertainment this evening, assisted by Rev. Charles H. Scott of the Lincoln Avenue Church, Pasadena, as reader.

The new storm drain is under construction. A start has been made on Mission street for the cement dyke to carry the waters out of the residential section.

At the meeting of the Women's Improvement Association, day before yesterday, Mrs. Arturo Bandini of Pasadena spoke on "Indians." Mrs. L. O. Wilcoxon exhibited Indian curios. Miss Laura Hoffman sang, and Mrs. George Glover rendered piano solos. Afternoon tea was served.

SAN DIMAS.

SAN DIMAS, Jan. 28.—Raymond Thomas, aged 16 years, son of C. W. Thomas, died today. The boy while pole vaulting at the High School a few days ago, fell and had his arm broken, the bone penetrating the flesh. Medical attendance was quickly at hand, and he seemed to progress favorably toward recovery. Yesterday he went out driving and was in good spirits. Last night, while walking across the bedroom floor he fell dead.

The funeral will be at 2:30 Sunday afternoon, and interment in the Evergreen Cemetery, Lordsburg.

OUTFITTED.

TAKES TO HEELS WELL HEELED.

NERVY BURGLAR IS MINUS ONLY A DRESS COAT.

He Gets the Rest of the Suit from Long Beach House, Together With Other Articles of Clothing, a Box of Cigars, Ten Dollars and a Rifle. Pier Estimates.

LONG BEACH, Jan. 28.—The timely arrival of a visitor at the home of Dr. A. B. Austin, regimental quartermaster of the Seventh Regiment, saved the loss of the family silverware, which a burglar had packed in a box ready to cart away. The ringing of the door bell frightened the burglar, and he decamped through the back door, dropping in his flight the doctor's dress coat. He took the balance of the suit, a box of cigars, $10, a fine rifle and several articles of clothing.

ESTIMATES TOO HIGH.

The Council decided this morning that the engineer's estimates on permanent improvement of the pier were too high. He is to prepare figures for two rows of concrete piling along the outside of the wharf, with rock inside as a backbone, protected by a rock T on the south end of the wharf to break the force of the waves. The center portion is to be supported by short piles set on the backbone.

TO TURN WATERS.

To protect the interests of citizens in the territory recently annexed, which is in the storm water district recently overflowed, the Council this morning appointed a committee to confer with the Supervisors. A scheme to dredge the San Gabriel as far north as the Pacific Electric trestle south of Domingues, turning the water either into the Wilmington or Long Beach channel, is proposed.

MUCH ADO ABOUT HOUSE.

About a year ago R. E. Sherwood was stricken with an infectious disease at a local hotel and, to protect the guests, was hurried to a vacant house on Lime avenue, entrance being forcible. The next morning some one rented the house from the owner, L. E. Hall, and soon after a quarantine was established. Since then the house has been avoided by tenants, and neighbors have threatened trouble if it is not removed. The city disclaims any responsibility, although it offered Hall $250 for the building. The latter this morning presented a demand for $500, threatening to sue for more if not paid. The Council refused to consider the claim. It has never been discovered who broke into the house and placed Sherwood there.

The Board of Education yesterday appointed Misses Edith Jones and Agnes Young teachers at the Carroll Park school, to fill vacancies.

The fall term of school ended today. Seventy-three grammar school graduates will enter the freshmen class at the High School Monday.

Five hundred are expected at the Kansas picnic here tomorrow. Dinner at the sun parlor will be followed by speeches and music.

J. R. Ranouse was taken to the Police Station last night for safe keeping, having become violently insane, and threatened violence to his family. He was committed to the County Hospital today to await a hearing before the Lunacy Commission.

Santa Barbara won the interscholastic debate with Long Beach High School tonight by 192 to 178. Sherrell of the visiting team carried off the honors.

Chief of Police Williams arrived tonight from Omaha with Harry Shield, who is accused of wife desertion.

JUDGE SLEEPS ON IT.

Alhambra Court Takes Time to Consider Application for Bail for the Stones.

ALHAMBRA, Jan. 28.—Immediately after the opening of court this morning Le Compte Davis, counsel for George Stone and his wife, Clara, charged with the murder of Morgan Shively, applied for the release of his clients on bail.

Joseph Ford, Deputy District Attorney, in opposing, quoted numerous authorities in support of his contention that sufficient evidence of malice had been presented to hold the accused without bail. Justice Northrup said he would take the question under advisement until 4 p.m. Monday.

BRIDGE CONFERENCE.

The extensive improvements contemplated by the Southern Pacific Railroad in double tracking their main line east of Los Angeles, will necessitate overhead crossings in many places in this city. Several cement bridges will also be required. A conference of the City Trustees and the engineers of the railroad was held here this morning. After jointly visiting the places which are to be affected by the changes proposed, it was decided by the railroad representatives to submit detailed plans to the Trustees Tuesday evening.

FAINTS IN BURNING HOUSE.

Compton Woman Swoons When Residence Catches Fire and Is Dragged Out With Difficulty.

COMPTON, Jan. 28.—The handsome cottage owned and occupied by J. Duranium was burned to the ground last evening. Nothing was saved. Only Mrs. Duranium and her sister from Los Angeles, who was spending the day with her, were in the house. They were about to start for the city. One pulled down the hanging lamp to extinguish it, the ceiling hook came out and the lamp fell to the floor. Mrs. Duranium promptly fainted, and it was with difficulty that her sister got her from the burning building.

CLAREMONT.

Ferguson, Frank Wheeler, Rev. C. Seccombe of Santa Ana, R. I. Wilcox of Pasadena and Rev. G. Irving. It was also voted to organize a Brotherhood of the Claremont Church, and Dr. J. A. Lyman was elected president.

MUCH BOOZE IS TO BE SPILLED.

SOON GUTTERS WILL RECEIVE UNNATURAL BURDEN.

By Order of the Court Beer and Spirits Seized in Pomona Raids Will Gurgle Down to the Outfall Sewer. Footpad Silently Steals Away from Park.

POMONA, Jan. No disposition has been made of the hundreds of dollars worth of "booze" secured in the raids on three blind pigs on Christmas eve. The liquor is being held in storage. Most of the cases which were the outcome of the raid have been disposed of in the Recorder's Court, but the "wet goods" are being held until all the cases have been heard, so there can be no legal quibbling. At the proper time the whole assortment of bottles will be smashed and the bungs of all kegs and barrels will be blown out. Then, by order of the court, the rivulets of booze will find their ways to the nearest outfall sewer.

STILL AT LARGE.

The footpad who attempted to hold up Misses Osborne, Monroe and Wharton in the Southern Pacific Park early last evening is still at large. It is thought he may be a hobo who was waiting for a freight train. As soon as the young women screamed and ran, the fellow made good his escape.

ALL RIGHT TO AID SUICIDE.

Lawyers of Wardlaw Sisters Argue It Is no Crime to Abet Self-destruction.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Claiming that aiding and abetting a suicide is not a crime in the State of New Jersey, counsel for the three Wardlaw sisters now in jail awaiting trial for causing the death of Ocey W. M. Snead, the East Orange bath-tub victim, are taking steps to free the elderly prisoners.

Today the New Jersey prosecuting authorities found on file a demurrer to the indictment against the women, and prepared to combat when it is moved, as anticipated, for early argument before the Supreme Court.

Attorneys for Mrs. Caroline B. Martin, mother of the victim, and Mrs. Mary Snead and Miss Virginia Wardlaw, the dead girl's aunts, the three heirs under indictment, declare the recent finding by a chemist that the dead woman's body contained morphine disproves the theory that she was murdered by drowning in a bath-tub, and brings the suicide accusation to the front. Precedents are cited in the demurrer for the claim that there is no crime in suicide or in aiding in a suicide under the New Jersey laws.

The attorneys declare that if former decisions are upheld, the prosecutor will either have to bring a direct charge of murder, or free the three women who have now been held for several weeks without bail.

FAVORS CITY OWNERSHIP.

DENVER, Jan. 28.—Municipal ownership of the water system of Denver is favored by Mayor Speer in his annual budget submitted to the City Council tonight. The Important Problem confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

HORRIBLE FATE.

WOMAN AND BABE DASH TO DEATH

PLUNGE HUNDRED FEET INTO CANYON'S DEPTH.

Frightened Horses Drag Mover's Wagon Over Precipice and Fire in Debris Burns Bodies to Crisp. Rancher Sees Accident from Afar, But Cannot Reach Victims.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

DALHART (Tex.) Jan. 28.—Plunging 100 feet to the bottom of Blanco Cañon, to be burned to a crisp amid the debris of a wagon, was the fate of Mrs. S. R. Break, a widow, and her one-year-old child yesterday, near the little town of Floydada.

Mrs. Break was moving across the country in a wagon loaded with her household goods, and not being an expert driver, she let the team get too close to the brink of the cañon. At this moment her dog ran yelping down the road and frightened the horses. In reining them too quickly the woman caused them to rear and back the heavy wagon over the precipice.

The wagon with its helpless passengers plunged backward over the abyss, the stove was overturned and before the struggling human beings and horses could extricate themselves from the wreckage the whole mass was in flames at the bottom of the cañon. To add to the horror, a large can of gasoline in the wagon exploded and hastened the destruction by the flames.

The tragedy was witnessed by a ranchman who was on the other side of the cañon, and although he hurried to the scene it was hours before he could reach the victims, as he had to go miles to find a trail leading into the cañon. He found the charred remains of the mother and child, the latter clasped in the mother's breast. The woman's arms had been broken in several places.

"BACK TO THE SOIL."

James J. Hill Offers This Advice as Only Solution of High Living Cost Problems.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—"Back to the soil."

This is the solution of the problem of higher cost of living, according to James J. Hill, philosopher and master railroad builder.

"The problem is not local, it is international," said Mr. Hill, who was back in New York today after his visit to Washington and the White House early this week. "Obviously the world has reached an economic crisis. We are not producing foodstuffs enough. We must enlarge the farming area of the earth; we must apply scientific principles; we must adapt ourselves to conditions.

"Agriculturally speaking, the world is not overpopulated. The problem is to relieve the congestion in the cities and scatter the unproductive population to the farms. Then when we get them there we must teach them new methods of farming. Our present methods are so loose and slipshod that we don't get half the good out of our tillable land.

"There is no quick relief to the present crisis. The necessaries of life will not be cheapened to the consumer until we add a million or so persons to our agricultural population. Until the movement from the city back to the country starts, President Taft and Congress can do little toward lowering the cost of living."

DIDN'T LIKE PROGRAMME.

Oxnard Jitter Actually Objects to Be Tarred, Feathered, Railed.

OXNARD, Jan. 27.—A party of fifteen young men last night threatened to tar and feather and then ride on a rail a young man named Turbett. Some weeks ago Turbett eloped with another man's wife, who left a small baby at home. After tiring of the woman he returned here, leaving the woman to look out for herself. His former associates got a bucket of hot tar, a sack of feathers and a rail and cornered him. He went into hysterics and begged in a piteous manner to have the tar and feathers left out of the programme. This was done on condition he leave the district.

PRESIDENT OF SANTA FE CALLS ASSISTANTS SOUTH.

Sends Out the Fiery Cross, But "Attaches no Significance to the Meeting"—Tinsmith Goes Aloft on Cast Iron Top of Tank When Gasoline Explodes.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] President Ripley of the Santa Fé, who is stopping at Hotel del Coronado, has called several assistants here for a conference tomorrow and Sunday. They are General Manager Wells, Assistant Freight Traffic Manager Bissel and Assistant Passenger Traffic Manager Byrne. Ripley attaches no significance to the conference. It is his custom when stopping in Southern California to call on those at the head of the road's affairs on the Coast to frequently consult with him regarding general conditions of the system. It is probable that they will spend Saturday looking over improvements at Del Mar.

GASOLINE EXPLODES.

Ben Schultz, a young man employed in a tinshop, this morning undertook to solder a gasoline tank. The minute he put fire to the leak he found himself in a heap in one corner of the building with a badly mangled hand. The place was on fire, too. As soon as he could he grabbed an extinguisher and put out the flames. He next sought a doctor. The tank contained a cast iron top. Schultz was astraddle it when it exploded. The tank was blown to pieces. The force of the explosion knocked off the hat of a man across the street, while windows and a portion of the wall of the tinshop were wrecked. Schultz says he tried all the stopcocks in the tank and as no gasoline came out he supposed it was empty.

DEFENSE SPRINGS SURPRISE.

The defense in the Marshall Smith bribery case, on trial in the Superior Court, sprung a surprise this morning when counsel challenged the entire venire of talesmen summoned as jurors, on the ground that Sheriff Jennings had expressed an opinion as to the guilt of the accused. When placed on the stand the Sheriff admitted the fact. The court then dismissed all the jurymen and disqualified the Sheriff or his deputies from empaneling a second venire. He delegated this authority to Coroner Morgan. Smith's defense is to be carried out on the same lines as that of Aeb Ruef in San Francisco. His attorney gives notice that he will attack the right of the Coroner to summon a venire. He will expect the court to appoint an elisor.

ARE "DEVIL BROTHERS."

J. H. Hearst appeared in Police Court this morning and begged Judge Puterbaugh to allow him to serve a jail sentence for his friend, Sam Foote, who had been sentenced for intoxication. "We both belong to the Devil Gang, Your Honor, and I cannot stand to see him go to jail. He is my devil brother and I want to go to jail for him." Judge Puterbaugh told the individual that whatever he was he stood a good chance of going to jail also if he did not leave the courtroom. He left.

MONKEY WINS.

Declaring that a monkey has the same right to pass his hat and collect contributions as has the leader of the Salvation Army or the usher in a fashionable church, Justice Thorp of Township Court yesterday dismissed the charges of begging preferred against an Italian organ-grinder. The court drew two parallels. He said the evidence shows that the monkey served as agent for his master, who provided entertainment for the crowd. Parallel to this he said the Salvation Army parades and furnishes music for the crowd, afterward passing the tambourine. "And, I might go further," said the court. "In a fashionable church the usher goes around and accepts contributions from the congregation. All these have the same purposes and in my opinion it would be bad precedent to fine this Italian organ-grinder in the face of what the others are allowed to do." The organ-grinder and his monkey are again reaping a harvest of nickels and pennies.

Anaheim High School Team Wins Debate Favoring the Division of the State.

ANAHEIM, Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The High School had its second debate of the season here tonight in its auditorim. Its opponent was the Polytechnic High School of Los Angeles and the subject was: "Resolved, that California should be divided into two States." Loveland Lewis and Cyril Tipton of Anaheim took the affirmative side of the question and Carl Shafer and Ralph Blakesley of the Los Angeles Polytechnic the negative.

Anaheim won, receiving 200 2-3 points and Los Angeles a close second with 180 1-3 points. The attendance was 300.

PUTS AN END TO LITIGATION.

STIPULATION IS FILED IN THE APPELLATE COURT.

Ranchers Who Fought the Validity of the Formation of the Newbert Protection District Cease Their Stubborn Fight and Bonds Will Now Be Issued.

SANTA ANA, Jan. 28.—With the filing of a stipulation in the Appellate Court in Los Angeles yesterday came an end of one of the most determined fights ever made in the courts of this county, and with it all doubt as to the validity of the formation of the Newbert Protection District and its authorized bond issue of $185,000. The judgment of the Superior Court of this county, upholding the district and its bonds, was affirmed.

The district was formed two years ago for the purpose of establishing a channel for the Santa Ana River and building a harness to keep it there. A minority of the ranchers fought every step of the way. After the district was formed and the bonds voted, three suits were brought in the Superior Court, each one calling in question the constitutionality of the district. E. E. Keech and J. A. Timmons in separate suits sought to mandamus the County Treasurer to honor the warrants. W. D. Lamb and other ranchers sued the supervisors to test the bonds. The Supreme Court recently decided with the district in the Keech case, and sent the other cases to the Appellate Court for hearing. Evidently believing that the Appellate Court would follow the ruling of the Supreme Court, and knowing delay would accomplish nothing, the stipulation was accepted by the opponents. The board of directors of the district may now offer its bonds for sale. It is probable that only a portion will be sold at present to cover the cost of a right of way.

WILL SELL.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Pacific Coast Soda Company held yesterday the company decided to dispose of its property at Aliso and at Soda Lake. Document, Yellow With Age, Signed by a President of the Forties, Owned by Corona Man Who, Unhappily, Doesn't Possess the Land, Now Rich, It Conveyed.

CORONA, Jan. 28.—A sheepskin deed issued from the Land Office at Washington, bearing date of November 10, 1840, and having the signature of President Martin Van Buren, is a document highly prized by the owner, John Oswalt, of this place. The sheepskin, which is yellow with age, bears the government seal of paper pasted onto the document. It is the deed for 250 acres in Grant county, Ind., to Michael Oswalt, Jr., an uncle of the local man. The property, no longer held by the Oswalt family, is now very valuable, being covered with natural gas wells.

The Corona Club has elected these directors for the ensuing year: C. D. McNeil, George Brown, W. L. Brown, E. B. Collier, George Mabey, W. A. Hively and Albert Le Gaye.

WOULDN'T MARCH TO GEORGIA.

Because her husband was unwilling to leave Riverside and go back to Atlanta, Ga., to live, domestic differences arose in the home of George Sneed, colored, which led to the divorce court yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Bessie Sneed, the wife, took her two little girls and went to Los Angeles in a fit of anger, when she found it was useless to try to persuade her husband to live elsewhere than in Riverside. Judge Hutton, presiding for Judge Desmore, granted the husband an interlocutory decree of divorce.

PENNED UP IN MUSIC.

Ventura Man Gets Stuck in Pipe Organ, Friends Forget Him and Lock Up Church.

VENTURA, Jan. 28.—Leroy Beckley, Coroner of this county, was lost to the world the other day for several hours in a peculiar way. He got stuck in the pipe organ in the Lincoln Avenue church in Pasadena. While in the big musical machine he was forgotten by his friends and was locked in the church so long that he missed his dinner and his friends instituted a search for him. The Coroner is organist at the Methodist Church in this city. The other day he visited the pastor of the Pasadena church, an old friend, and was taken to see the organ. He started an investigation and got inside the instrument from the back. The minister went about some duty and left the Coroner to follow his own bent. The clergyman was called outside. The man with the keys overlooked the guest. When the Coroner got out of the organ he was amazed to find the doors locked. The windows were too high to be reached. He amused himself as best he could until the church was again opened in the evening for services. He was tired and hungry, but he found out all about one pipe organ in Pasadena.

The jury in the case of The People vs. R. A. Fremlin today brought in a verdict of not guilty. Fremlin is foreman of a packing-house at Fillmore and was charged with selling beer to a man named Pearl Sherman on the night of December 2. The case attracted considerable attention because of the standing of the defendant in the Fillmore section.

The Ojai Orange Association forwarded three carloads of navel oranges to the eastern markets the past week. The fruit is of good size and flavor.

COURT DISBARS PATRICK.

Convicted Murderer Had Used Profession to Fight Case for Years. Saved His Neck.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Albert T. Patrick, who has been a prisoner for nearly ten years and who is now serving a life sentence for the murder of William Marsh Rice, was formally disbarred as a practicing lawyer today by the Appellate division of the Supreme Court.

Taking advantage of his position of the bar, Patrick has been able to fight his case for years, thwarting the death sentence, which was the result of his trial for the murder. Later the government commuted the sentence to life imprisonment.

URGE LOWLINE RIGHT OF WAY.

Phoenix Business Men Side With Railway.

Gila Canyon Not Good Site for Irrigation Dam.

Money for Parker Pumping Plant Forthcoming.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 27.—This morning the board of directors of the Phoenix Board of Trade definitely decided to recommend to the Interior Department the granting of the low-line right of way for the Southern Pacific through the Gila Cañon. This follows similar and even more emphatic action to the same effect by the Globe Chamber of Commerce. The chief reason given is that the San Carlos dam site, which has been sought to be made an obstacle, has been condemned by the Reclamation Service, which locally is considered the highest authority known on such matters. The arguments against the site have been summed up most briefly by Supervising Engineer L. C. Hill, who has written: That the depth to bedrock is too great; that a bad geologic fault occurs at the dam site; that the dip of the rock strata is in the wrong direction; that the amount of silt carried by the Gila River is so great that the reservoir, built to a feasible height, would be filled up within a comparatively short time; that the cost per acre for a project based upon this reservoir would be too great to make the project feasible. It has been shown, also, that other and better dam sites exist farther up the Gila, where water could be stored for the benefit of all lands along the river, while there is a probability that about 50,000 acres of the rich land around Florence can be irrigated by means of proper head and canal works in the development of the present irrigation system. The Salt River Valley is keenly interested in the extension of the Southern Pacific up the Gila, as it will mean the establishment of through line railroad service here, both from the southeast and from Denver, on the way to the Pacific Coast. The proposed road is being fought by Tucson, which fears to lose a part of her railroad supremacy, and by Florence, which hopes for added development through water storage.

EXTENDING STREET RAILWAY.

Work has been started on a long-projected extension of the Phoenix street railway system to the Santa Fé and Southern Pacific depots. It is being built down First avenue, instead of First street, as proposed, the avenue business men coming forward with a substantial subsidy.

There is indignation in the local Board of Supervisors over the action of a so-called charitable organization in Los Angeles, which last week sent to Phoenix E. Griffey, a man in the last stages of consumption, who became a county charge as soon as he came. He arrived with just a dollar in his pocket, and had to be removed forthwith to the County Hospital, where he died last night. Today he was buried in the indigent cemetery. If Griffey had had enough strength for the journey he would have been returned forthwith to Los Angeles.

Gov. Sloan has started from Washington on his return to Arizona. He was called East to attend the National Conservation Congress.

Announcement has been made by the Interior Department that funds are to be furnished the Reclamation Service for the establishment of a pumping plant near Parker, to raise water from the Colorado River for the irrigation of 20,000 acres of land on the Arizona side.

GETS BIG APPROPRIATIONS.

In the House Indian Appropriation Bill, reported a few days ago, the Phoenix Indian School gets an appropriation of $129,000, one of the largest appropriations made in the Indian Bureau, and for construction of an irrigation system for the Pima Indians near Sacaton $75,000 is appropriated. This sum is being expended in connection with the work of the Reclamation Service, which has been busy for nearly a year in sinking wells on the reservation and in extending the electric power system from Roosevelt. This is designed to develop water from wells for the irrigation of about 10,000 acres. The Pima Indians have always been agricultural in tendency, but have been deprived of their irrigation water supply by the building of ditches by white settlers at Florence and in the upper Gila Valley near Safford. In the same appropriation has been carried an item of $50,000 for construction of a bridge across the Little Colorado River, especially for the benefit of the Navajo Indians, though of much assistance to general travel into Northern Arizona through Flagstaff.

FARM TELEPHONES MERGED.

The Overland Telephone Company, which has absorbed the Home Telephone Company of Phoenix, has gathered in the farm telephone lines in this valley, and the telephone exchanges at Williams and Flagstaff. The latest field invaded is the new copper district around Ray, where the Ray Chamber of Commerce has accepted a proposition for the building of an overland line into their section. The company is building from Phoenix to Wickenburg and Parker, and on the other side to Kelvin, Ray and Winkleman.

The Bankers' Fire Insurance Company has just started business in Arizona. It is a local concern, though with heavy stockholders in Los Angeles. A. G. Hulett is president, John Hilgen, secretary; George H. Lutgerding, vice-president and treasurer, and J. E. Youtz, general manager.

The First Regiment of Infantry, National Guard of Arizona, is now filled up to its full strength of twelve companies, new organizations having been mustered in last week at Florence and Yuma. The latter place now has two companies.

The Arizona Democrat of Phoenix is now published by a local organization of Democratic leaders, who have installed as editor John O. Dunbar, a pioneer newspaper man of the Territory.

This afternoon was held the formal dedication of the new building of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The structure is of mission design and architecturally very attractive. It embraces a large assembly-room, reading and restrooms, and lodgings to be occupied by young women, for whom a matron has been provided. Mrs. C. L. Braxton is president of the union, and Mrs. LaChance, vice-president.

Scottsdale will dedicate a new $5000 schoolhouse early in February.

J. W. Dorris, a local grocer and capitalist, has just purchased for $165,000 the concrete Noble block, the largest building in the Territory. The sale was made by the Securities Trust Company of Prescott, which had foreclosed a mortgage on the structure when it was still incomplete.

Hamilton Has Signed Contract for Exhibition—Colonizer Charged With Felony Embezzlement—Case of Suicide—Horse Stealers Convicted in Short Order.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—The contract has been signed and all arrangements are under way for an aviation exhibition next Sunday by Charles K. Hamilton with the Curtiss biplane. The event is promoted by R. E. White, a local engineer, who is working on a flying machine along lines of his own invention, and W. G. Lutz, one of the directors of the Agricultural Fair Association. The exhibition will be given at Hudnut Driving Park, and Hamilton is under contract to go through all the usual maneuvers, including an attempt for the height record.

The exceptionally quiet atmosphere that usually prevails here, it is believed, will enable the aviator to give an exhibition above the average in interest. An excursion will be run from the west side oil fields, and an extra automobile service will be provided between Bakersfield and the Kern River field.

Hamilton is due to arrive here Saturday morning, in time to superintend any necessary preparation of the ground. The biplane probably will start on the race track in front of the grand stand, where Barney Oldfield recently lowered the world's automobile record for a mile on a half-mile track.

So far, Bakersfield is the only city of its size that has competed its arrangements for an aviation exhibition, and Bakersfield boosters are jubilantly calling attention to the fact.

COLONIZER IN TROUBLE.

Justice Black, on complaint of E. C. Kliewer, today issued a warrant for the arrest of Henry J. Martens, a Mennonite colonizer and owner of two newspapers in Kansas, on a felony charge of embezzlement. Kliewer alleges that Martens took $4000 from Kliewer's father-in-law to buy an orange orchard and failed to deliver the orchard or return the money.

Other civil suits are pending against Martens. Martens has brought several hundred Mennonite colonists to Kern county from Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado. He has disappeared from Bakersfield, and it is said will endeavor to bring more Mennonites to a county in Northern California.

KILLS HIMSELF.

M. J. McGrath, for eighteen years a train dispatcher for the Southern Pacific in East Bakersfield, committed suicide last evening by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. Ill-health is supposed to have been the cause. McGrath has a brother residing in Dayton, O.

John and Henry Payne were today found guilty of horse stealing by a jury in the Superior Court, after ten minutes' deliberation. The case has attracted wide attention owing to the prominence of the defendants' family, they being pioneers of the Tehachepi Valley.

AN EARTHQUAKE.

A slight earthquake was felt at about noon today. The shock was very slight, but seemed to be traveling from east to west.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Gasoline Stove Explodes and Row of Business Buildings at Lindsay Are Damaged.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LINDSAY, Jan. 28.—Fire, which started in the Orange restaurant here early this morning from the explosion of a gasoline stove, destroyed a row of wooden buildings on Honolulu street, causing a loss of $9000, partly covered by insurance.

Among the losers are the Crystal Theater, $2000; Ward's restaurant, $2500; Orange restaurant, $2000; Wells-Fargo Express Company, loss estimated at $2000; Cadwallader's realty office, $500. HUMAN SCIENCE.

Prevention of Typhoid.

Dr. M. J. Rosenau of the department of preventive medicine and hygiene, Harvard Medical College, says there is more typhoid in this country than in any other civilized land. The annual total is 35,000 deaths, and 350,000 cases, all of which he considers due to lack of education on the subject. If the public were taught to fear typhoid as it does a case of cholera, there would soon be an end of it. "When the people understand that typhoid fever is as preventable as are railroad accidents, we shall have a casus belli, and the courage needed for a victorious campaign," he says. "The government now protects us from cholera, leprosy, yellow fever and other exotic plagues; why should it not also guard us against the dangers that are present as well as those that are but remotely imminent? Present dangers, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, typhoid fever and infantile diarrhoea, are infections which reap the highest toll of death among us, and are foes worthy of our best efforts. When this matter is better understood, the State will be required to protect its citizens against such preventable diseases and the officials appointed to safeguard us will be held responsible, just as the law now holds employers liable for preventable accidents."

A Psychological Chart.

A new line of investigation has been started at the Lying-in Hospital, New York, by Dr. Frederick Peterson. A special nurse is to be employed to keep a psychological chart under something like thirty headings, recording daily observations of infants for the first fourteen days of their life, thereafter weekly observations for the third and fourth weeks, and further observations for the second and third months. Here are some of the phenomena to be observed day by day and recorded: The action of the eyes as to light, whether the baby evinces pleasure or discomfort in light, its notice of colors, notice of persons or things, its fear or pleasure in things seen, its notice of sounds, whether it be quieted or waked or startled by sounds, its fear or pleasure in sounds heard, its notice of touch and the fear or pleasure or discomfort it manifests in touch, whether it be startled or waked by touch, and when or whether it notices heat or cold. Then, too, the baby's pleasure or discomfort in the bath is to be noted, and when or whether it appears to taste or to discriminate between salt, sweet, bitter and sour, and the effects of taste; its pleasure or discomfort in taste or in smell, its notice of cold or heat, hunger or thirst or tight clothing; its cry of discomfort in pain, its signs of fatigue, its first smile and its first laugh, the average time of sleep, its instructive, impulsive or reflex movements; its expressed or voluntary movements, the first vowel or consonant sound uttered, and the first combination of articulate sounds, its first grasping of anything, its show of astonishment or curiosity, its thumb sucking, and, lastly, baby emotions in general.

Fresh Air and Health.

Do not be a draught crank, says a writer in Denver's Municipal Facts. Fresh air is not injurious, and those who partake freely of what nature has provided for them are less likely to suffer with what are called impure air diseases, as pneumonia and bronchitis. To sit in a crowded, ill-ventilated, foul-smelling smoking car simply because it is warmer is not conducive to health. To expose one's self after an over-indulgence in alcoholic drinks is only inviting pneumonia. The mortality statistics of the impure air diseases show a greater percentage of males than females, and this may be accounted for the reason that the average man not only has a tendency to coddle himself, especially in personal comforts, but he assumes greater risks from exposures than women. Many men work in ill-ventilated offices all day, and when they go home at night they want their house and their sleeping rooms warm and comfortable, even at the expense of proper ventilation and pure air, and an open window in their sleeping room is looked upon as a menace to health and comfort on account of the injurious night air. Fresh and pure air are nature's greatest remedies; it does not produce insomnia, headaches and that tired feeling which are experienced after sleeping or working in a hot, stuffy room. Partake of it freely; it is a better tonic than money can buy at a drug store.

The Dangers of Overwork.

Overwork lowers the general vitality and renders its subjects peculiarly susceptible to general diseases and to infection, says The Survey for January. It produces anemia, which is not only a serious disease in itself, but also a favoring condition for many other diseases. It results in serious injury to the eyes and to any organ on which the work may happen to make special demands. But the most serious danger is its tendency to exhaust the central nervous system, which controls all the vital functions. Whether the poisonous waste products of fatigue are the result of muscular or of mental effort, they have a paralyzing action upon the nerve cells, and through them may produce disorders of the heart, the circulation, the special senses, the digestive apparatus, and, in fact, any function or organ of the body. To keep health and vigor at par, the periods of rest should bear such a relation to the periods of work that the fatigue of each day is completely repaired before the work of the next day begins. The ideal for the weekend rest is that it should be an opportunity for increasing strength, so that each working week would begin at a higher level, and not, as it now is for the most part, merely for making up an accumulated deficit.

In order to arouse a wider sentiment for making New York a city beautiful, the American Institute of Architects has offered two medals, which are to be awarded to the owners of the two most beautiful tenements erected in New York during the next year.

Appeals to Zion City Followers to Pay Funeral Expenses of Their Late "Prophet."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ZION CITY (Ill.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Jane Dowie, of White Lake, Mich., widow of the man who built Zion City, has started a campaign among his former followers here by which she hopes to realize enough money to pay the funeral expenses of her late husband, John Alexander Dowie, claiming that she has assumed the obligation of the funeral expenses, which her son guaranteed after the funeral, and which the receivers and others refused to pay.

She has now written many letters to residents of Zion City, asking them to give her something to pay these expenses, claiming she has been robbed of even her bed and that she has no money with which to meet the bills.

URGE LOWLINE RIGHT OF WAY.

Phoenix Business Men Side With Railway.

Gila Canyon Not Good Site for Irrigation Dam.

Money for Parker Pumping Plant Forthcoming.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Jan. 27.—This morning the board of directors of the Phoenix Board of Trade definitely decided to recommend to the Interior Department the granting of the lowline right of way for the Southern Pacific through the Gila Cañon. This follows similar and even more emphatic action to the same effect by the Globe Chamber of Commerce. The chief reason given is that the San Carlos dam site, which has been sought to be made an obstacle, has been condemned by the Reclamation Service, which locally is considered the highest authority known on such matters. The arguments against the site have been summed up most briefly by Supervising Engineer L. C. Hill, who has written: That the depth to bedrock is too great; that a bad geologic fault occurs at the dam site; that the dip of the rock strata is in the wrong direction; that the amount of silt carried by the Gila River is so great that the reservoir, built to a feasible height, would be filled up within a comparatively short time; that the cost per acre for a project based upon this reservoir would be too great to make the project feasible. It has been shown, also, that other and better dam sites exist farther up the Gila, where water could be stored for the benefit of all lands along the river, while there is a probability that about 50,000 acres of the rich land around Florence can be irrigated by means of proper head and canal works in the development of the present irrigation system. The Salt River Valley is keenly interested in the extension of the Southern Pacific up the Gila, as it will mean the establishment of through line railroad service here, both from the southeast and from Denver, on the way to the Pacific Coast. The proposed road is being fought by Tucson, which fears to lose a part of her railroad supremacy, and by Florence, which hopes for added development through water storage.

EXTENDING STREET RAILWAY.

Work has been started on a long-projected extension of the Phoenix street railway system to the Santa Fé and Southern Pacific depots. It is being built down First avenue, instead of First street, as proposed, the avenue business men coming forward with a substantial subsidy.

There is indignation in the local Board of Supervisors over the action of a so-called charitable organization in Los Angeles, which last week sent to Phoenix E. Griffey, a man in the last stages of consumption, who became a county charge as soon as he came. He arrived with just a dollar in his pocket, and had to be removed forthwith to the County Hospital, where he died last night. Today he was buried in the Indigent cemetery. If Griffey had had enough strength for the journey he would have been returned forthwith to Los Angeles.

Gov. Sloan has started from Washington on his return to Arizona. He was called East to attend the National Conservation Congress.

Announcement has been made by the Interior Department that funds are to be furnished the Reclamation Service for the establishment of a pumping plant near Parker, to raise water from the Colorado River for the irrigation of 20,000 acres of land on the Arizona side.

GETS BIG APPROPRIATIONS.

In the House Indian Appropriation Bill, reported a few days ago, the Phoenix Indian School gets an appropriation of $129,000, one of the largest appropriations made in the Indian Bureau, and for construction of an irrigation system for the Pima Indians near Sacaton $75,000 is appropriated. This sum is being expended in connection with the work of the Reclamation Service, which has been busy for nearly a year in sinking wells on the reservation and in extending the electric power system from Roosevelt. This is designed to develop water from wells for the irrigation of about 10,000 acres. The Pima Indians have always been agricultural in tendency, but have been deprived of their irrigation water supply by the building of ditches by white settlers at Florence and in the upper Gila Valley near Safford. In the same appropriation has been carried an item of $50,000 for construction of a bridge across the Little Colorado River, especially for the benefit of the Navajo Indians, though of much assistance to general travel into Northern Arizona through Flagstaff.

FARM TELEPHONES MERGED.

The Overland Telephone Company, which has absorbed the Rums Telephone Company of Phoenix, has gathered in the farm telephone lines in this valley, and the telephone exchanges at Williams and Flagstaff. The latest field invaded is the new copper district around Ray, where the Ray Chamber of Commerce has accepted a proposition for the building of an overland line into their section. The company is building from Phoenix to Wickenburg and Parker, and on the other side to Kelvin, Ray and Winkleman.

The Bankers' Fire Insurance Company has just started business in Arizona. It is a local concern, though with heavy stockholders in Los Angeles. A. G. Hulett is president, John Hilgen, secretary; George H. Lutgerding, vice-president and treasurer, and J. E. Youtz, general manager.

The First Regiment of Infantry, National Guard of Arizona, is now filled up to its full strength of twelve companies, new organizations having been mustered in last week at Florence and Yuma. The latter place now has two companies.

The Arizona Democrat of Phoenix is now published by a local organization of Democratic leaders, who have installed as editor John O. Dunbar, a pioneer newspaper man of the Territory.

This afternoon was held the formal dedication of the new building of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The structure is of mission design and architecturally very attractive. It embraces a large assembly-room, reading and restrooms, and lodgings to be occupied by young women, for whom a matron has been provided. Mrs. C. L. Braxton is president of the union, and Mrs. LaChance, vice-president.

Scottsdale will dedicate a new $5000 schoolhouse early in February.

J. W. Dorris, a local grocer and capitalist, has just purchased for $165,000 the concrete Noble block, the largest building in the Territory. The sale was made by the Securities Trust Company of Prescott, which had foreclosed a mortgage on the structure when it was still incomplete.

AVIATION DAY IS SCHEDULED.

FLIGHTS TO BE MADE IN THE AIR AT BAKERSFIELD.

Hamilton Has Signed Contract for Exhibition—Colonizer Charged With Felony Embezzlement—Case of Suicide—Horse Stealers Convicted in Short Order.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 28.—The contract has been signed and all arrangements are under way for an aviation exhibition next Sunday by Charles K. Hamilton with the Curtiss biplane. The event is promoted by R. E. White, a local engineer, who is working on a flying machine along lines of his own invention, and W. G. Lutz, one of the directors of the Agricultural Fair Association. The exhibition will be given at Hudnut Driving Park, and Hamilton is under contract to go through all the usual maneuvers, including an attempt for the height record.

The exceptionally quiet atmosphere that usually prevails here, it is believed, will enable the aviator to give an exhibition above the average in interest. An excursion will be run from the west side oil fields, and an extra automobile service will be provided between Bakersfield and the Kern River field.

Hamilton is due to arrive here Saturday morning, in time to superintend any necessary preparation of the ground. The biplane probably will start on the race track in front of the grand stand, where Barney Oldfield recently lowered the world's automobile record for a mile on a half-mile track.

So far, Bakersfield is the only city of its size that has contracted its arrangements for an aviation exhibition, and Bakersfield boosters are jubilantly calling attention to the fact.

COLONIZER IN TROUBLE.

Justice Black, on complaint of E. C. Kliewer, today issued a warrant for the arrest of Henry J. Martens, a Mennonite colonizer and owner of two newspapers in Kansas, on a felony charge of embezzlement. Kliewer alleges that Martens took $4000 from Kliewer's father-in-law to buy an orange orchard and failed to deliver the orchard or return the money.

Other civil suits are pending against Martens. Martens has brought several hundred Mennonite colonists to Kern county from Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado. He has disappeared from Bakersfield, and it is said will endeavor to bring more Mennonites to a county in Northern California.

KILLS HIMSELF.

M. J. McGrath, for eighteen years a train dispatcher for the Southern Pacific in East Bakersfield, committed suicide last evening by shooting himself through the head with a revolver. Ill-health is supposed to have been the cause. McGrath has a brother residing in Dayton, O.

John and Henry Payne were today found guilty of horse stealing by a jury in the Superior Court, after ten minutes' deliberation. The case has attracted wide attention owing to the prominence of the defendants' family, they being pioneers of the Tehachepi Valley.

AN EARTHQUAKE.

A slight earthquake was felt at about noon today. The shock was very slight, but seemed to be traveling from east to west.

HUMAN SCIENCE.

Prevention of Typhoid.

Dr. M. J. Rosenau of the department of preventive medicine and hygiene, Harvard Medical College, says there is more typhoid in this country than in any other civilized land. The annual total is 35,000 deaths, and 350,000 cases, all of which he considers due to lack of education on the subject. If the public were taught to fear typhoid as it does a case of cholera, there would soon be an end of it. "When the people understand that typhoid fever is as preventable as are railroad accidents, we shall have a casus belli, and the courage needed for a victorious campaign," he says. "The government now protects us from cholera, leprosy, yellow fever and other exotic plagues; why should it not also guard us against the dangers that are present as well as those that are but remotely imminent? Present dangers, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, typhoid fever and infantile diarrhoea, are infections which reap the highest toll of death among us, and are foes worthy of our best efforts. When this matter is better understood, the State will be required to protect its citizens against such preventable diseases and the officials appointed to safeguard us will be held responsible, just as the law now holds employers liable for preventable accidents."

A Psychological Chart.

A new line of investigation has been started at the Lying-in Hospital, New York, by Dr. Frederick Peterson. A special nurse is to be employed to keep a psychological chart under something like thirty headings, recording daily observations of infants for the first fourteen days of their life, thereafter weekly observations for the third and fourth weeks, and further observations for the second and third months. Here are some of the phenomena to be observed day by day and recorded: The action of the eyes as to light, whether the baby evinces pleasure or discomfort in light, its notice of colors, notice of persons or things, its fear or pleasure in things seen, its notice of sounds, whether it be quieted or waked or startled by sounds, its fear or pleasure in sounds heard, its notice of touch and the fear or pleasure or discomfort it manifests in touch, whether it be startled or waked by touch, and when or whether it notices heat or cold. Then, too, the baby's pleasure or discomfort in the bath is to be noted, and when or whether it appears to taste or to discriminate between salt, sweet, bitter and sour, and the effects of taste; its pleasure or discomfort in taste or in smell, its notice of cold or heat, hunger or thirst or tight clothing; its cry of discomfort in pain, its signs of fatigue, its first smile and its first laugh, the average time of sleep, its instructive, impulsive or reflex movements; its expressed or voluntary movements, the first vowel or consonant sound uttered, and the first combination of articulate sounds, its first grasping of anything, its show of astonishment or curiosity, its thumb sucking, and, lastly, baby emotions in general.

Fresh Air and Health.

Do not be a draught crank, says a writer in Denver's Municipal Facts. Fresh air is not injurious, and those who partake freely of what nature has provided for them are less likely to suffer with what are called impure air diseases, as pneumonia and bronchitis. To sit in a crowded, ill-ventilated, foul-smelling smoking car simply because it is warmer is not conducive to health. To expose one's self after an over-indulgence in alcoholic drinks is only inviting pneumonia. The mortality statistics of the impure air diseases show a greater percentage of males than females, and this may be accounted for the reason that the average man not only has a tendency to coddle himself, especially in personal comforts, but he assumes greater risks from exposures than women. Many men work in illy-ventilated offices all day, and when they go home at night they want their house and their sleeping rooms warm and comfortable, even at the expense of proper ventilation and pure air, and an open window in their sleeping room is looked upon as a menace to health and comfort on account of the injurious night air. Fresh and pure air are nature's greatest remedies; it does not produce insomnia, headaches and that tired feeling which are experienced after sleeping or working in a hot, stuffy room. Partake of it freely; it is a better tonic than money can buy at a drug store.

The Dangers of Overwork.

Overwork lowers the general vitality and renders its subjects peculiarly susceptible to general diseases and to infection, says The Survey for January. It produces anemia, which is not only a serious disease in itself, but also a favoring condition for many other diseases. It results in serious injury to the eyes and to any organ on which the work may happen to make special demands. But the most serious danger is its tendency to exhaust the central nervous system, which controls all the vital functions. Whether the poisonous waste products of fatigue are the result of muscular or of mental effort, they have a paralyzing action upon the nerve cells, and through them may produce disorders of the heart, the circulation, the special senses, the digestive apparatus, and, in fact, any function or organ of the body. To keep health and vigor at par, the periods of rest should bear such a relation to the periods of work that the fatigue of each day is completely repaired before the work of the next day begins. The ideal for the weekend rest is that it should be an opportunity for increasing strength, so that each working week would begin at a higher level, and not, as it now is for the most part, merely for making up an accumulated deficit.

In order to arouse a wider sentiment for making New York a city beautiful, the American Institute of Architects has offered two medals, which are to be awarded to the owners of the two most beautiful tenements erected in New York during the next year.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ZION CITY (Ill.) Jan. 28.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Jane Dowie, of White Lake, Mich., widow of the man who built Zion City, has started a campaign among his former followers here by which she hopes to realize enough money to pay the funeral expenses of her late husband, John Alexander Dowie, claiming that she has assumed the obligation of the funeral expenses, which her son guaranteed after the funeral, and which the receivers and others refused to pay.

She has now written many letters to residents of Zion City, asking them to give her something to pay these expenses, claiming she has been robbed of even her bed and that she has no money with which to meet the bills.
